Park Chung Hee and Modern Korea Carter J. Eckert, 2016-11-07 This first volume in a two part study examines the origins of South Korean authoritarianism as personified by the militant political leader For South Koreans the twenty years from the early 1960s to late 1970s were the best and worst of times a period of unprecedented economic growth and of political oppression that deepened as prosperity spread In this masterly account Carter J Eckert finds the roots of South Korea's dramatic socioeconomic transformation in the country's long history of militarization a history personified in South Korea's paramount leader Park Chung Hee In Park Chung Hee and Modern Korea Eckert reveals how the foundations of Park's leadership were established during the period of Japanese occupation As a cadet in the Manchurian Military Academy Park and his fellow officers absorbed the Imperial Japanese Army's ethos of victory at all costs and absolute obedience to authority When Park seized power in 1961 he applied this ethos to the project of Korean modernization Korean society under Park exuded a distinctively martial character Eckert shows Its hallmarks included the belief that the army should intervene in politics in times of crisis that a central authority should manage the country's economic system and that the state should maintain a strong disciplinary presence in society reserving the right to use violence to maintain order A milestone in the literature of modern East Asia Bruce Cumings author of Korea's Place in the Sun

Fedorenko, 2022-07-31 An ethnography of advertising in postmillennial South Korea Flower of Capitalism South Korean Advertising at a Crossroads details contests over advertising freedoms and obligations among divergent vested interests while posing far reaching questions about the social contract that governs advertising in late capitalist societies The term flower of capitalism is a clichéd metaphor for advertising in South Korea bringing resolutely positive connotations which downplay the commercial purposes of advertising and give prominence to its potential for public service Historically South Korean advertising was tasked to promote virtue with its messages while allocation of advertising expenditures among the mass media was monitored and regulated to curb advertisers influence in the name of public interest Though this ideal was often sacrificed to situational considerations South Korean advertising had been remarkably accountable to public scrutiny and popular demands This beneficent role of advertising however came under attack as a neoliberal hegemony consolidated in South Korea in the twenty first century Flower of Capitalism examines the clash of advertising's old obligations and new freedoms as it was navigated by advertising practitioners censors audiences and activists It weaves together a rich multi-sited ethnography at an advertising agency and at an advertising censorship board with an in depth exploration of advertising related controversies from provocative advertising campaigns to advertising boycotts Advertising emerges as a contested social institution whose connections to business mass media and government are continuously tested and revised Olga Fedorenko challenges the mainstream notions of advertising which universalize the ways it developed in Transatlantic countries and offers a glimpse of what advertising could look like if its public effects were taken as seriously as its marketing goals A critical and innovative intervention into the studies of advertising Flower of Capitalism breaks new ground in current debates on the intersection of media culture and politics
