BOOK JACKET      Remaking the Chinese City Joseph W. Esherick, 2001-10-31 In China today skyscrapers tower over ancient temples freeways deliver lines of cars and tour buses to imperial palaces cinema houses compete with old theaters featuring Peking Opera The disparity evidenced in the contemporary Chinese cityscape can be traced to the early decades of the twentieth century when government elites sought to transform cities into a new world that would be at once modern and distinctly Chinese Remaking the Chinese City aims to capture the full diversity of recent Chinese urbanism by examining the modernist transformations of China's cities in the first half of the twentieth century Collecting in one place some of the most interesting and exciting new work on Chinese urban history this volume presents thirteen essays discussing ten Chinese cities the commercial and industrial center of Shanghai the old capital Beijing the southern coastal city of Canton the interior's Chengdu the tourist city of Hangzhou the utopian New Capital built in Manchuria during the Japanese occupation the treaty port of Tianjin the Nationalists capital in Nanjing and temporary wartime capitals of Wuhan and

Thornbury, 2017-10-17 Tokyo Memory Imagination and the City is a collection of eight essays that explore Tokyo urban space from the perspective of memory in works of the imagination novels short stories poetry essays and films Written by scholars of Japanese studies based in England Germany Japan and the United States the book focuses on texts produced in Japan since the 1980s The closing years of the Showa period 1926-1989 were a watershed decade of spatial transformation in Tokyo It was also a time in Japan as elsewhere when conversations about the nature of memory historical cultural collective and individual intensified The contributors to the volume share the view that works of the imagination are constitutive elements of how cities are experienced and perceived Each of the essays responds to the growing interest in studies on Tokyo with a literary cultural orientation Reflections in a Glass Door Marvin Marcus, 2009-07-15 Much has been written about Natsume Soseki 1867-1916 one of Japan's most celebrated writers. Known primarily for his novels, he also published a large and diverse body of short personal writings, shohin, that have long lived in the shadow of his fictional works. The essays, which appeared in the Asahi Shinbun between 1907 and 1915, comprise a fascinating autobiographical mosaic while capturing the spirit of the Meiji era and the birth of modern Japan. In Reflections in a Glass Door, Marvin Marcus introduces readers to a rich sampling of Soseki's shohin. The writer revisits his Tokyo childhood, recalling family friends and colleagues and musing wistfully on the transformation of his city and its old neighborhoods. He painfully recounts his two years in London where he immersed himself in literary research even as he struggled with severe depression. A chronic stomach ailment causes Soseki to reflect on his own mortality and what he saw as the spiritual afflictions of modern Japanese: rampant egocentrism and materialism. Throughout, he adopts a number of narrative voices and poses the peevish husband, the harried novelist, the convalescent, the seeker of wisdom. Marcus identifies memory and melancholy as key themes in Soseki's personal writings and highlights their relevance in his fiction. He balances Soseki's account of his Tokyo household with that of his wife, Natsume Kyoko, who left a straightforward record of life with her celebrated husband. Soseki crafted a moving and convincing voice in his shohin, which can now be pondered and enjoyed for their penetrating observation and honesty as well as the fresh perspective they offer on one of Japan's literary giants.

Cities of Power Gøran Therborn, 2021-10-12 Why are cities centers of power? A sociological analysis of urban politics. In this brilliant, very original survey of the politics and meanings of urban landscapes, leading sociologist Gøran Therborn offers a tour of the world's major capital cities, showing how they have been shaped by national, popular, and global forces. Their stories begin with the emergence of various kinds of nation-state, each with its own special capital-city problematic. In turn, radical shifts of power have impacted on these cities' development: in popular urban reforms or movements of protest and resistance; in the rise and fall of fascism and military dictatorships; and the coming and going of Communism. Therborn also analyzes global moments of urban formation: of historical globalized nationalism as well as the cities of current global image, capitalism, and their variations of skyscraping, gating, and displays of novelty. Through a global historical lens and with a thematic range extending from the mutations of modernist architecture to the contemporary return of urban revolutions, Therborn questions received assumptions about the source, manifestations, and reach of urban power, combining perspectives on politics, sociology, urban planning, architecture, and urban iconography. He argues that at a time when they seem to be moving apart, there is a strong link between the city and the nation-state and that the current globalization of cities is largely driven by the global aspirations of politicians as well as those of national and local capital. With its unique systematic overview from Washington, D.C. and revolutionary Paris to the flamboyant twenty-first-century capital Astana in Kazakhstan, its wealth of urban observations from all the populated continents, and its sharp and multi-faceted analyses, Cities of Power
