FNP Led Mobile Health Services for the Homeless Population Tenzin D. Lama, 2015 A small percentage of the U S population uses the greatest portion of the healthcare services Homeless people are often such a group of super utilizers of the healthcare system Due to multiple medical and psychosocial conditions people experiencing homelessness face numerous barriers to accessing healthcare thus leading increased utilization of hospitals and emergency departments EDs services Many of these events are preventable through improved primary care interventions The literature on Respite Recuperative Care Transitional Care and Mobile Health interventions have shown effectiveness in providing safe and quality care to homeless individuals during the critical transitional period post hospital discharge while also reducing the readmission rates to hospitals and EDs The goal of this DNP project was to establish a Mobile Health Services program and function as a part of a larger Recuperative Care pilot program for Marin County s homeless population The partnership between the University of San Francisco School of Nursing and Health Professions USF SONHP and local organizations in Marin endeavored to improve the quality of care for the homeless population and reduce rehospitalizations and ED visits This goal was accomplished through the successful implementation of the pilot project Outcome evaluation demonstrated that the project team was able to prevent rehospitalization in all eight patients that enrolled in the program These results also showed a potential for a significant positive financial impact on the overall healthcare system by reducing utilization rates of EDs and hospitals and costs associated with it Community Health Nursing Karen Saucier Lundy, Sharyn Janes, 2009 Historically community health nursing has responded to the changing health care needs of the community and continues to meet those needs in a variety of diverse roles and settings Community Health Nursing Caring for the Public's Health Second Edition reflects this response and is representative of what communities signify in the United States a unified society made up of many different populations and unique health perspectives This text provides an emphasis on population based nursing directed toward health promotion and primary prevention in the community It is both community based and community focused reflecting the current dynamics of the health care system The Second Edition contains new chapters on disaster nursing and community collaborations during emergencies The chapters covering Family health ethics mental health and pediatric nursing have all been significantly revised and updated Nursing & Health Care, 1991 Encyclopedia of Homelessness David Levinson, 2004-06-21 Click Additional Materials for downloadable samples This valuable reference provides an excellent overview of a serious world wide problem As such it is an essential purchase for all libraries LIBRARY JOURNAL star review Levinson's remarkable work deserves an award for tackling this complex social problem in such a very thorough and well organized way Highly Recommended CHOICE At any given moment about 3 million American women men and children are homeless And another 5 million Americans spend over 50% of their incomes on housing meaning that one missed paycheck one health crisis or one unpaid utility bill can push them out the door into homelessness Homelessness is one of the major social problems and personal and family tragedies of the contemporary world No community city or nation is immune and the lack of affordable housing and a decline in secure well paying jobs means that the problem will only get worse The Encyclopedia of Homelessness is the first systematic effort to organize and summarize what we know about this complex topic that impacts not only the homeless but all of society The Encyclopedia focuses on the current situation in the United States with a comparative sampling of homelessness around the world Key Themes Causes Lifestyle Issues Health Issues and Services History Legal Issues and Advocacy Government Policies and Programs Organizations Research Approaches Service Systems and Settings Size and Characteristics of the Homeless Population Public Perceptions of Homelessness World Issues and Perspectives Quick and Easy Regional Comparisons Additional descriptive articles cover homelessness today in a sample of American cities and a sample of cities and nations of the world allowing for quick and easy comparisons The Encyclopedia contains entries on Australia Brazil Canada Cuba France Guatemala Japan Nigeria Russia Sweden the United Kingdom Zimbabwe Tokyo Calcutta London and others around the world The Encyclopedia of
