Constructing Russian Culture in the Age of Revolution, 1881-1940 Catriona Kelly, David G. Shepherd, 1998 Constructing Russian Culture offers a pioneering new account of the relationship between literature and other cultural forms in Late Imperial Russia and Revolutionary Russia The general consensus in Western study of Russia and the Soviet Union has been that understanding of historical background is essential to the study of literature But this consensus has so far failed to produce sophisticated overviews of the culture as a whole literary histories seldom venture outside a rigid canon of authors and literary groupings and the account of historical background sometimes amount to little more than a listing of certain predictable political and social factors that can be perceived to have influenced or impeded literary developments This book is an ambitious attempt to recontextualize Russian literature and rethink the relations between literature and other cultural forms The book examines a number of in Bourdieu s term cultural fields in late Imperial Russia science and objectivity national and personal identity consumerism and commercial culture There is also a keywords introduction explaining the evolution of concepts of the self the nation and literariness in Russian culture and an Epilogue outlining the further history of the central themes after 1917 Contributors include leading specialists in Russian literature cultural history and cultural theory from Britain the USA and Russia Intended as a companion to Russian Cultural Studies An Introduction also OUP this stimulating original and controversial book will be a vital resource for all those interested in Russian culture during the age of Revolution
