The Rhymes of Ruth Rayne Helen E. Morton,2015-06-14 Excerpt from The Rhymes of Ruth Rayne Flowers In The Night Not alone were the shadows of evening around me For with them a darker invisible came A shadow of loneliness happily broken By some one approaching and calling my name Begging pardon lest giving untimely intrusion The bearer in courtesy paused but to say That the gift had been left by the hands of the giver And gave to my keeping a dainty bouquet How I joyed to receive them the delicate blossoms All fragrant and wet with the summer nights showers But where the hearts shadow No trace of it lingered Dispelled by the light of the beautiful flowers I ve heard of a gift so priceless and precious To darkness long reigning imparting a light That darkness the cloud of despair and of sorrow That gift the sweet singing of songs in the night About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
