Sabbahy, 2019-04-24 Written by specialists in the field of Egyptology this book is a readable introduction to ancient Egypt covering all anticipated subjects and stressing the monuments and material culture of this remarkable ancient civilization The rich natural resources of ancient Egypt provided a wealth of raw material for its structures sculptures and art while its geographic isolation helped to ensure the survival of its rich culture for centuries While other references focus on the people and battles central to Egyptian history this reference explores the material culture and social institutions of ancient Egypt The book focuses on pharaonic Egypt covering the period from roughly 5000 BCE to the beginning of the Greco Roman Period in 320 BCE At the front of the work a timeline provides a quick look at the major events in Egyptian history and an introduction surveys ancient Egypt's physical geography and history Alphabetically arranged reference entries written by expert contributors then provide fundamental information about the buildings jewelry social practices and other topics related to the material culture and institutions that made up the Egyptian world Excerpts from primary source historical documents provide evidence for what we know about ancient Egyptian culture and suggestions for further reading direct users to additional sources of information Desert road archaeology in ancient Egypt and beyond Heiko Riemer, 2013-01-01 The Oxford Handbook of Maritime Archaeology Alexis Catsambis, Ben Ford, Donny L. Hamilton, 2014-02 This title is a comprehensive survey of maritime archaeology as seen through the eyes of nearly fifty scholars at a time when maritime archaeology has established itself as a mature branch of archaeology An Introduction to the Archaeology of Ancient Egypt Kathryn A. Bard, 2015-01-07 This student friendly introduction to the archaeology of ancient Egypt guides readers from the Paleolithic to the Greco Roman periods and has now been updated to include recent discoveries and new illustrations Superbly illustrated with photographs maps and site plans with additional illustrations in this new edition Organized into 11 chapters covering the history of Egyptology and Egyptian archaeology prehistoric and pharaonic chronology and the ancient Egyptian language geography resources and environment and seven chapters organized chronologically and devoted to specific archaeological sites and evidence Includes sections on salient topics such as the constructing the Great Pyramid at Giza and the process of mummification Boats, Ships and Shipyards Carlo Beltrame, 2016-10-03 From sewn planked boats in Early Dynastic Egypt to Late Roman wrecks in Italy and the design of

Venetian Merchant Galleys this huge volume gathers together fifty three papers presenting new research on the archaeology and history of ancient ships and shipbuilding traditions The papers have been grouped into several thematic sections including ships of the Mediterranean the reconstruction of ancient ships from life size reconstructions to computer models the study of shipyards shipsheds and slipways of the Mediterranean and Europe Venetian Galleys of the 15th and 16th centuries and North European medieval and post medieval ships These papers which were presented at the Ninth International Symposium on Boat and Ship Archaeology ISBSA held in Venice 2000 Carlo Beltrame is a freelance archaeologist and contract professor of Maritime archaeology at Universit Ca Foscari of Venice and of Naval archaeology at Universita della Tuscia of Viterbo He specializes in the archaeology of ship construction from antiquity until the Renaissance period and methodology in maritime archaeology

A Maritime Archaeology of Ships J. R. Adams, 2013-12-11 In the last fifty years the investigation of maritime archaeological sites in the sea in the coastal zone and in their interconnecting locales has emerged as one of archaeology s most dynamic and fast developing fields No longer a niche interest maritime archaeology is recognised as having central relevance in the integrated study of the human past Within maritime archaeology the study of watercraft has been understandably prominent and yet their potential is far from exhausted In this book Jon Adams evaluates key episodes of technical change in the ways that ships were conceived designed built used and disposed of As technological puzzles they have long confounded explanation but when viewed in the context of the societies in which they were created mysteries begin to dissolve Shipbuilding is social practice and as one of the most complex artefacts made changes in their technology provide a lens through which to view the ideologies strategies and agency of social change Adams argues that the harnessing of shipbuilding was one of the ways in which medieval society became modern and while the primary case studies are historical he also demonstrates that the relationships between ships and society have key implications for our understanding of prehistory in which seafaring and communication had similarly profound effects on the tide of human affairs

Ships, Saints and Sealore Dionisius A. Agius, Timmy Gambin, Athena Trakadas, 2014-07-28 A selection of conference papers and other contributions see the coming together of scholars and researchers from backgrounds as diverse as archaeology history ethnography maritime and heritage studies to offer an engaging and insightful study of the Mediterranean and the Red Sea and its influences on various factors of life past and present

The Oxford Handbook of Egyptology Ian Shaw, Elizabeth Bloxam, 2020 The Oxford Handbook of Egyptology offers a comprehensive survey of the entire study of ancient Egypt from prehistory through to the end of the Roman period Transcending conventional boundaries between archaeological and ancient textual analysis and bringing together 63 chapters that range widely across the various archaeological philological and cultural sub disciplines authored by recognized experts in their respective fields it highlights the extent to which the discipline has diversified and stresses the need for it to seek multidisciplinary methods and broader collaborations if it is to remain contemporary and relevant Authoritative yet accessible it is an invaluable resource for scholars students and general readers alike The Oxford Handbook of Engineering and Technology in the Classical World John Peter Oleson, 2008 Nearly every aspect of daily life in the Mediterranean world and Europe during the florescence of the Greek and Roman cultures is relevant to engineering and technology This text highlights the accomplishments of the ancient societies the research problems and stimulates further progress in the history of ancient technology

A History of Ancient Egypt John Romer, 2025-10-16 The ancient world comes to life in the first volume in a two book series on the history of Egypt spanning the first farmers to the construction of the pyramids Famed archaeologist John Romer draws on a lifetime of research to tell one history's greatest stories how over more than a thousand years a society of farmers created a rich vivid world where one of the most astounding of all human made landmarks the Great Pyramid was built Immersing the reader in the Egypt of the past Romer examines and challenges the long held theories about what archaeological finds mean and what stories they tell about how the Egyptians lived More than just an account of one of the most fascinating periods of history this engrossing book asks readers to take a step back and question what they've learned about Egypt in the past Fans of Stacy Schiff's Cleopatra and history buffs will be captivated by this re telling of Egyptian history written by one of the top Egyptologists in the world

Wonderful Things: A History of Egyptology, Volume 3 Jason Thompson, 2018-10-16 The discovery of ancient Egypt and the development of Egyptology are momentous events in intellectual and cultural history The history of Egyptology is the story of the people famous and obscure who constructed the picture of ancient Egypt that we have today recovered the Egyptian past while inventing it anew and made a lost civilization comprehensible to generations of enchanted readers and viewers thousands of years later This the third of a three volume history of Egyptology follows the progress of the discipline from the trauma of the First World War through the vicissitudes of the twentieth century and into Egyptology's new horizons at the beginning of the twenty first century Wonderful Things affirms that the history of ancient Egypt has proved continually fascinating but it also demonstrates that the history of Egyptology is no less so Only by understanding how Egyptology has developed can we truly understand the Egyptian past

Roman Warships Michael Pitassi, 2011 An examination of Roman naval development drawing upon archaeological evidence documentary accounts and visual representation

Creating Shapes in Civil and Naval Architecture Horst Nowacki, Wolfgang Lefèvre, 2009 The design construction and verification of complex two and three dimensional shapes in architecture and ship geometry have always been a particularly demanding part of the art of engineering Before science based structural design and analysis were applied in the construction industries i.e before 1800 the task of conceiving documenting and fabricating such shapes constituted the most significant interface between practitioner's knowledge and learned knowledge above all in geometry The history of shape development in these two disciplines therefore promises especially valuable insights into the knowledge history of shape creation This volume is a collection of contributions by outstanding scholars in their fields of study archaeology history of architecture and ship design in classic antiquity the Middle Ages and the early modern period The volume presents a comparative knowledge history in these two distinct branches of construction engineering

Back to the Garden James H. S. McGregor, 2015-02-10 The garden was the cultural foundation of the early Mediterranean peoples they acknowledged their reliance on and kinship to the land and they understood nature through the lens of their diversely cultivated landscape Their image of the garden underwrote the biblical book of Genesis and the region's three major religions In this important melding of cultural and ecological histories James H S McGregor suggests that the environmental crisis the world faces today is a result of Western society's abandonment of the First Nature principle of the harmonious interrelationship of human communities and the natural world The author demonstrates how this relationship which persisted for millennia effectively came to an end in the late eighteenth century when nature came to be equated with untamed landscape devoid of human intervention McGregor's essential work offers a new understanding of environmental accountability while proposing that recovering the original vision of ourselves not as antagonists of nature but as cultivators of a biological world to which we innately belong is possible through proven techniques of the past

Early Ships and Seafaring: Water Transport Beyond Europe Seán McGrail, 2015-06-30 In this volume Professor Sen McGrail introduces the reader to a relatively new branch of Archaeology the study of water transport how early rafts boats and ships were built and used Concepts such as boatbuilding traditions ship stability and navigation without instruments are first described Archaeological research is then discussed including sea levels in earlier times how to distinguish the vestigial remains of a cargo vessel from those of a fighting craft and the difference between a boat and a ship Chapters 2 and 3 the heart of the text deal with the early water transport of the Mediterranean and Atlantic Europe from the Stone Age to Medieval times Each chapter includes a description of the region's maritime geography and an exposition of its boat building traditions The third element is a discussion of the propulsion the steering and the navigation of these early vessels The sparse often jumbled remains of excavated vessels have to be interpreted a process that is assisted by consideration of early descriptions and illustrations Studies of the way traditional builders of wooden boats ply their trade today are also a great help Experimental boat archaeology is still at an early stage but when undertaken rigorously it can reveal aspects of the vessel's capabilities Such information is used in this volume to further our understanding of data from boat and ship excavations and to present as coherent comprehensive and accurate a picture as is now possible of early European boatbuilding and use

The Gordion Wooden Objects, Volume 1 The Furniture from Tumulus MM (2-vol. set) Elizabeth Simpson, 2010-12-15 The Furniture from Tumulus MM The Gordion Wooden Objects volume 1 is a study of the furniture from the largest tomb at Gordion Turkey excavated in 1957 by the University of Pennsylvania Museum The tomb dates to the eighth century BC and is thought to be the burial of the great Phrygian king Midas or his father The objects initially misunderstood are now identified as nine tables two serving stands two stools a chair and an open log coffin Three pieces are ornately carved and inlaid with religious symbols and complex geometric motifs The wooden objects from Gordion are now recognized as the most important collection of well preserved wooden artifacts excavated from the Near East Included in this volume are new photographs reconstruction drawings and eight scientific technical appendices Contributors include Harry Alden Burhan Aytu Mary W Ballard Robert A Blanchette Roland Cunningham Laure Dussubieux Patrick E McGovern Benjamin Held Walter Hopwood Joseph Koles Lynn E Roller Krysia Spirydowicz this work goes well beyond a typical site specific object catalogue and makes important contributions to a wide range of scholarly fields both technical and conceptual from textile and wood analysis to anthropological and religious studies Elizabeth P Baughan University of Richmond The book succeeds in its main aims of making available every scrap of information about the finds and it illuminates form techniques and function in a most convincing and stimulating manner Catherine M Draycott Courtauld Institute of Art

Seafaring Expeditions to Punt in the Middle Kingdom Kathryn A. Bard, Rodolfo Fattovich†, 2018-08-13 In the 12th Dynasty ca 1985 1773 BC the Egyptian state sent a number of seafaring expeditions to the land of Punt located somewhere in the southern Red Sea region in order to bypass control of the upper Nile by the Kerma kingdom Excavations at Mersa Wadi Gawasis on the Red Sea coast of Egypt from 2001 to 2011 have uncovered evidence of the ancient harbor Saww used for these expeditions including parts of ancient ships expedition equipment and food all transported ca 150 km across the desert from Qift in Upper Egypt to the harbor This book summarizes the results of these excavations for the organization of these logistically complex expeditions and evidence at the harbor for the location of Punt There is no shortage of analysis relating to the Punt expeditions much of which is likely to become the new standard account of these voyages and of the huge logistical and ideological undertaking they represented The volume will therefore be of immense value to scholars and students of ancient Egypt and of ancient seafaring more generally Julian Whitewright University of Southampton in The International Journal of Nautical Archaeology 48 2 2019
