

Why Join a Support Group?

1

You'll meet people who share your concerns.

Most support groups focus on a specific topic. You'll meet others who are facing the same issue you are, such as living with cancer, overcoming substance abuse, or caring for a loved one with dementia.

2

You'll share resources and information.

You share what you want to share—or simply listen. You'll learn from people's experiences. You'll find answers to questions.

3

Groups meet in person and also virtually.

To find a group, search online, or contact your local hospital, house of worship, or ask your health care provider for a referral. Your work-life program or EAP can also help you find one.

4

You'll feel less alone.

A support group is a place to find friendship, understanding, and a sympathetic ear. Others can't solve your problems, but they can help carry a bit of the load.

Prostate Cancer and the Man You Love Anne Katz,2015-03-04 Prostate cancer is the most commonly diagnosed cancer in men after skin cancer However this cancer is highly curable and most men live for many years after treatment only eleven percent of cancer deaths are due to prostate cancer It is well known that the side effects of the treatment cause more suffering than the disease itself Side effects of surgery include incontinence and erectile difficulties radiation therapy leads to urinary and bowel problems and androgen deprivation hormone therapy leads to a broad range of long term side effects affecting physical and emotional functioning

But it is not only the man who suffers through treatment and its side effects. The partners and spouses of prostate cancer survivors are known to experience distress as the man they love moves through the various stages of diagnosis, treatment, and survival. While prostate cancer is a couple's disease, there is much attention paid to the man with cancer and very little to the person and his partner or spouse who is his prime supporter and who often struggles to make sense of what has happened and why and how best to support and take care of him. Prostate Cancer and the Man You Love speaks to the loving partners, spouses of men with prostate cancer, whether soon after diagnosis or later when the man gets on with the rest of his life. Katz includes both the medical information necessary to understanding the disease and firsthand accounts from cancer patients and survivors and their partners. Tips for communication and problem solving with both partners and health care teams are offered throughout. Anyone dealing with prostate cancer will find in these pages comfort and insight as well as specific advice for coping, healing, and moving forward in the spirit of healing and love.

Grief, Loss, and Treatment for Death Row

Families Sandra Joy, 2013-12-05 The families of death row inmates are rarely considered in public discourse regarding the death penalty. They have largely been forgotten, and their pain has not been acknowledged by the rest of society. These families experience a unique grief process as they are confronted with the loss of their loved one to death row and brace themselves for the possibility of an execution. Death row families are disenfranchised from their grief by the surrounding community, and their mental health needs exacerbated as they struggle in isolation with the ambiguous loss that comes with the fear that the state will kill their loved one. Grief, Loss, and Treatment for Death Row Families describes the grief that families experience from the time of their loved one's arrest through his or her execution. In each chapter, Sandra Joy guides the reader through the grief process experienced by the families, offering clinical interventions that can be used by mental health professionals who are given the opportunity to work with these families at various stages of their grief. The author conducted over seventy qualitative interviews with family members from Delaware who either currently have a loved one on death row or have survived the execution of their loved one. Delaware was chosen because, though it has a relatively small death row, it is ranked third in the nation with its rate of per capita executions. This book provides an in-depth awareness of the grieving process of death row families as well as ways that professionals can intervene to assist them in healing. With increased awareness and effective clinical treatment, we can ensure that the families of death row inmates are forgotten no more.
