Mac-Carthy Pedro Calderón de la Barca,1870 Narrating Experiences of Alzheimer's Through the Arts Ana Paula Barbosa-Fohrmann,2023-05-09 While

Alzheimer's might be associated with a difficulty to express oneself Ana Paula Barbosa Fohrmann addresses this topic by examining experiences with Alzheimer's based on narratives In this original contribution she studies the nexus of life stories subjectivity fragmentation and fiction The philosophical basis of this research is phenomenology from the end of the 19th century to the middle of the 20th century specifically that of Husserl and above all that of Merleau Ponty This work also draws on Proust's and Camus literature as well as Beckett's dramaturgy

Love Simon May, 2019-03-28 What is love's real intent Why can love be so ruthlessly selective How is it related to sex beauty and goodness And is the child now the supreme object of love In addressing these questions Simon May develops a radically new understanding of love as the emotion we feel towards whomever or whatever we experience as grounding our life as offering us a possibility of home in a world that we supremely value He sees love as motivated by a promise of ontological rootedness rather than as two thousand years of tradition variously asserts by beauty or goodness by a search for wholeness by virtue by sexual or reproductive desire by compassion or altruism or empathy or in one of today's dominant views by no qualities at all of the loved one After arguing that such founding Western myths as the Odyssey and Abraham's call by God to Canaan in the Bible powerfully exemplify his new conception of love May goes on to re examine the relation of love to beauty sex and goodness in the light of this conception offering among other things a novel theory of beauty and suggesting against Plato that we can love others for their ugliness while also seeing them as beautiful Finally he proposes that in the Western world romantic love is gradually giving way to parental love as the most valued form of love namely the love without which one's life is not deemed complete or truly flourishing May explains why childhood has become sacred and excellence in parenting a paramount ideal as well as a litmus test of society's moral health In doing so he argues that the child is the first genuinely modern supreme object of love the first to fully reflect what Nietzsche called the death of God Readers will find Love Excitingly new yet immediately recognizable that's the paradox at the very heart of love and it is what Simon May has achieved Los Angeles Review of Books

Faith, Hope, and Love in the Kingdom of God Robert Hernan Cubillos,2017-04-27 We live in a world full of challenges The three graces can almost be seen as motors for Christian life in today's world but the words faith hope and love have so many everyday uses that their technical theological meanings are for many difficult to appreciate Modern life also leaves many yearning for authenticity and meaning Many religions have answered that need by calling to mind the image of a path Always profound progressions religious paths tend to be motivated either by practices the act of walking the path or focal points Christianity has a focal point an object and it sees the three graces as distinctively content filled The heart of this book is about helping people find the Christian path and their intellectual emotional and spiritual balance an equilibrium that is sustained by a strong personal faith an enduring hope for the future and genuine love that will withstand the worst of times It contributes to the category of Christian literature that provides a pattern for Christian living without surrendering the intellect to the more popular side of this genre
