An investigation into early modern gardens gender and writing this study considers not only published literary representations of gardens but also actual garden landscapes and unpublished evidence of everyday gardening practice Jennifer Munroe here analyzes how writers appropriated the developing gendered tension in gardening that stemmed from a shift from the garden as a means of feeding a family to the garden as an aesthetic object imbued with status      The Floral World and Garden Guide Shirley Hibberd, 1861      One Writer's Garden Susan Haltom, Jane Roy Brown, 2011-09-08

By the time she reached her late twenties Eudora Welty 1909 2001 was launching a distinguished literary career She was also becoming a capable gardener under the tutelage of her mother Chestina Welty who designed their modest garden in Jackson Mississippi From the beginning Eudora wove images of southern flora and gardens into her writing yet few outside her personal circle knew that the images were drawn directly from her passionate connection to and abiding knowledge of her own garden Near the end of her life Welty still resided in her parents house but the garden and the friends who remembered it had all but vanished When a local garden designer offered to help bring it back Welty began remembering the flowers that had grown in what she called my mother's garden By the time Welty died that gardener Susan Haltom was leading a historic restoration When Welty's private papers were released several years after her death they confirmed that the writer had sought both inspiration and a creative outlet there This book contains many previously unpublished writings including literary passages and excerpts from Welty's private correspondence about the garden The authors of One Writer's Garden also draw connections between Welty's gardening and her writing They show how the garden echoed the prevailing style of Welty's mother's generation which in turn mirrored wider trends in American life Progressive era optimism a rising middle class prosperity new technology women's clubs garden clubs streetcar suburbs civic beautification conservation plant introductions and garden writing The authors illustrate this garden's history and the broader story of how American gardens evolved in the early twentieth century with images from contemporary garden literature seed catalogs and advertisements as well as unique historic photographs Noted landscape photographer Langdon Clay captures the restored garden through the seasons      The manual of horticulture Kelway and Son, 1903      The Magazine of Horticulture, Botany, and All Useful Discoveries and Improvements in Rural Affairs, 1839      The Gardeners' Chronicle and Agricultural Gazette for 1858 Anonymous, 2023-04-21
