Pribumi Indonesians The Chinese Minority And China:

Pribumi Indonesians, the Chinese Minority, and China Leo Suryadinata, 2005 This study analyzes pribumi indigenous Indonesian perception of the Chinese minority and asks how these perceptions modified by economic and political constraints manifest themselves in government policies towards this trading minority and towards China It covers the period from 1949 when Indonesia became a sovereign state to 1975 when the New Order Government abolished Special National Schools for the Chinese This new edition has been updated by the addition of a new postscript by the author Pribumi Indonesians, the Chinese Minority, and China Leo Suryadinata, 1992 Indonesia's Chinese Minority Lili Ming, 2000

Ethnic Chinese in Contemporary Indonesia Leo Suryadinata, 2008 The Chinese in Indonesia have played an important role in Indonesian society before and after the fall of Soeharto This book provides comprehensive and up to date information by examining them in detail during that era with special reference to the post Soeharto period The contributors to this volume consist of both older and younger generation scholars writing on Indonesian Chinese They offer new information and fresh perspectives on the issues of government policies legal position ethnic politics race relations religion education and prospects of the Chinese Indonesians Old Stereotypes, New Convictions Johanes Herlijanto, 2017 Despite improvements in the position of ethnic Chinese in the reformasi era critical and negative perceptions of them persist among prominent pribumi personalities particularly in recent years These include leaders of several Islamic organizations nationalists who harbour suspicions about foreign powers and some who were in mid career and or were well placed in the last years of the Suharto era This latter group consists of retired senior military officers senior scholars as well as current and former senior government officials The ethnic Chinese are often portrayed as outsiders who are already dominant economically and who are trying to be politically dominant as well Furthermore it is often claimed that ethnic Chinese tend to be loyal towards China At the same time there are others including politicians affiliated with pro government political parties high ranking officials leaders of NGOs sympathetic to President Jokowi as well as advocates of multiculturalism many of whom are scholars and Muslim leaders who believe that Chinese Indonesians are first and foremost Indonesians The evidence they cite to support this belief varies from past heroic actions by ethnic Chinese to the identity constructs of Chinese Indonesians which is usually based on Indonesia or some Indonesian region Chinese Indonesians and Regime Change Marleen Dieleman, Juliette Koning, Peter Post, 2010-11-12 By taking regime change as its main theme this book offers a new perspective on the multiple roles that Chinese Indonesians played in terms of shaping moderating and stimulating social change in Indonesia Indonesia and China Rizal Sukma, 2003-09-02 Indonesia broke off relations with China in 1967 and resumed them only in 1990 Rizal Sukma asks why His answers shed light on Indonesia's foreign policy the nature of the New Order's domestic politics the mixed functions of diplomatic ties the legitimacy of the new regime and the role of President Suharto Rizal Sukma argues that the matter of Indonesia restoring diplomatic ties with China is best understood in terms of the efforts made by the military based New Order government to sustain its political legitimacy The analysis in this book proves that an absence as well as a presence of diplomatic relations may advance not only the external but the domestic interests of an incumbent government This is the first major study on Indonesia and China's diplomatic relations under the New Order government It will be illuminating for research students and lecturers in international politics international relations policy making and diplomacy

Chinese Indonesians in Post-Suharto Indonesia Wu-Ling Chong, 2018-10-02

Selfish obscenely rich insular and opportunistic these remain how Chinese minorities in Indonesia are perceived by the indigenous population However far from being passive victims of discrimination and marginalisation Chong presents a forceful case in which Chinese Indonesians possess the agency to shape their future in the country particularly in the changing political business and socio cultural environment after the fall of Suharto While a lack of good governance that promotes the rule of law and accountability allows or even encourages some Chinese to maintain the status quo by perpetuating corrupt business practices inherited from Suharto's New Order regime there are other Chinese Indonesians who make full use of the democratic space opened up under the new administrations acting as agents of reform by participating in electoral politics and establishing inter ethnic socio cultural organisations Building on Anthony Giddens's structure agency theory and Pierre Bourdieu's notions of habitus and field Chong shows that the Chinese minorities have played an active role in the democratic process even though they continue to occupy an ambivalent position in Indonesia The Chinese Indonesians diverse strategies to safeguard their personal interests and cultural identities make a stimulating case study of what an ethnic minority could do to make a difference Backed by formidable research Chong has produced an intriguing and original view of the political social and economic activity of the still precariously placed Chinese minority in Indonesia Donald L Horowitz Duke University author of Constitutional Change and Democracy in Indonesia In this illuminating study Chong traces the political economy of Indonesia's ethnic Chinese minority as they navigate the country's post 1998 politics which is more free but still lacks strong rule of law Focusing especially on Medan and Surabaya she analyses how some have strongly supported reforms while many continue old practices of surviving and profiting by participating in massive corruption and extortion Jeffrey A Winters Northwestern University author of Oligarchy

State, Society, and Minorities in South and Southeast Asia Sunil Kukreja, 2015-05-27

South and Southeast Asia continue to be extremely critical regions deeply intertwined and bound in many ways by centuries of intersecting histories As the recent experiences of rapid and transformative political and economic changes in several countries in these two regions illustrate these changes have significant bearing on and are simultaneously affected by the legacy and continued dynamic of dominant minority group relations To be sure while the dynamics of dominant minority relations in each country are distinct and often mitigated by distinct historical conditions the phenomenon of these dominant minority relations especially along ethnic and religious fault lines are deeply consequential to many of the nations in these regions This book featuring eight case studies provides a multidisciplinary and multi layered assessment of the salience of the ethnic and religious realities in shaping various South and Southeast Asian nations Featuring chapters on Afghanistan Bangladesh India Sri Lanka Cambodia Thailand Malaysia and Indonesia this volume provides a deep appreciation of the challenges that these societies confront in integrating and or responding to specific ethnic and or religious based conflicts and tensions

Overseas Chinese in Southeast Asia and China's Foreign Policy Leo Suryadinata, With the recent Sino Vietnamese conflict over the Overseas Chinese the problem of ethnic Chinese in Southeast Asia once again attracted the attention of the world Questions are raised as to whether or not Peking has introduced a new policy to act as the protector of the interests of the Overseas Chinese This examines the position of the Overseas Chinese in the People republic of China s foreign policy from 1949 to the present time and conventional notion of the linkages between China and the Overseas Chinese Moreover it discusses the ethnic Chinese scene in Southeast Asia and ASEAN countries reactions to China s recent foreign relations

The Chinese of South-East Asia Ramses Amer,SUE RABBITT ROFF,MARY SOMERS HEIDHUES,MARTIN SMITH,JOHN TAYLOR,1992-11-23 COEXISTENCE OR CONTROL Many Chinese have worked and lived in the countries of South East Asia for generations and are part of the much larger diaspora of ethnic Chinese worldwide They make their livings generally from business farming fishing while a few enjoy high profile wealth the vast majority do not THE CHINESE OF SOUTH EAST ASIA shows just how varied are the experiences of the ethnic Chinese in the ten states of the region Some coexist reasonably well with the majority population in their country elsewhere ethnic tensions have brought outbreaks of violence and discrimination against them Some communities have limits placed on their access to Chinese language education others have not Some governments have encouraged ethnic Chinese participation in the economic arena while others have controlled or restricted their business activities This report illustrates how much the future of South East Asia s ethnic Chinese is bound together politically economically and culturally with the majority population and other minority ethnic groups within each country Written by four experts on the region this is an essential survey of the history and present circumstances of the ethnic Chinese as they strive to foster and enjoy stability trust and growth Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues

China Threat: Perceptions Myths Herbert Yee,Ian Storey,2013-04-03 Since the end of the Cold War one of the most significant debates in international relations has been the question of whether the rise of China as a major economic political and military power will be a force for stability or instability in the international system and the East Asian region Forceful arguments have been put forward on both sides This book examines perceptions of the China Threat and governments policies in response to the perceived threat in a wide range of countries including the United States Russia Europe Japan South Asia South East Asia and the Middle East as well as the perceptions of the Chinese themselves For each country current security concerns and policies especially the policy of engagement are examined in detail and future prospects for relations with China are assessed As the Bush administration in Washington increasingly focuses on China as a strategic competitor and Sino US relations becomes increasingly tense the China Threat issue has come to dominate the security agenda in the Asia Pacific region and now poses the biggest foreign policy challenge of the 21st century

Indonesia's Foreign Policy under Suharto Leo Suryadinata, 2022-01-24 The book which was first published in 1996 examines Indonesia's foreign policy under Suharto It not only details Indonesia's foreign policy behaviour vis vis Indonesia's neighbours and major powers but also places it in the context of foreign policy analysis Today the book remains as the only full length study on Indonesia's foreign policy under Suharto It is now reprinted with a new postscript which discusses the post Suharto era from B J Habibie to Joko Widodo Indonesia under Suharto had attempted to become a regional power to lead Southeast Asian states and beyond As the largest country and also the richest in terms of natural resources Suharto's Indonesia was held in deference by the ASEAN states However due to its limited capabilities its lack of military strength advanced technology and economic strength the political influence of Jakarta was in fact quite limited During the economic crisis Suharto was forced to step down He was succeeded by B J Habibie who was largely preoccupied with domestic issues who in turn was followed by weak presidencies such as Abdurrahman Wahid Gus Dur and Megawati Only after the ex general Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono assumed presidency did he manage to stabilize the situation and attained economic growth He even became known as the Foreign Policy President Nevertheless he was constrained by the harsh Indonesian reality limited resources a weak military and absence of political influence His successor Joko Widodo has been more concerned with economic matters and domestic politics Indonesian regional leadership declines further

Southeast Asian Personalities of Chinese Descent Leo Suryadinata, 2012 This is a bold project recording the lives of a particular group of Southeast Asians Most of the people whose biographies are included here have settled down in the ten countries that constitute the region Each of them has either self identified as Chinese or is comfortable to be known as someone of Chinese ancestry There are also those who were born in China or elsewhere who came here to work and do business including seeking help from others who have ethnic Chinese connections With the political and economic conditions of the region in a great state of flux for the past two centuries it is impossible to find consistency in the naming process Confucius had stressed that correct names make for the best relationships In this case Professor Leo Suryadinata has been pursuing for decades the elusive goal of finding the right name to give to the large numbers of people who have in one way or another made their homes in or made some difference to Southeast Asia I believe that when he and his colleagues selected the biographies to be included here they have taken a big step towards the rectification of identities for many leading personalities In so doing he has done us all a great service Professor Wang Gungwu National University of Singapore
