Examining a single broad tribal identity al Azd from the immediate pre Islamic period into the early Abbasid era this book notes the ways it was continually refashioned over that time It explores the ways in which the rise of the early Islamic empire influenced the peoples of the Arabian Peninsula who became a core part of it and examines the connections between the kinship societies and the developing state of the early caliphate This helps us to understand how what are often called tribal forms of social organisation identity conditioned its growth and helped shape what became its common elite culture Studying the relationship between tribe and state during the first two centuries of the caliphate author Brian Ulrich s focus is on understanding the survival and transformation of tribal identity until it became part of the literate high culture of the Abbasid caliphate and a component of a larger Arab ethnic identity He argues that from pre Islamic Arabia to the caliphate greater continuity existed between tribal identity and social practice than is generally portrayed Humanism, Culture, and Language in the Near East Georg Krotkoff,1997-01-01 Essays by 33 colleagues friends and students of the Johns Hopkins University Arabist and linguist Topics include 1 humanism culture and literature 2 Arabic 3 Aramaic and 4 Afroasiatic

Analyzes the meaning of Hebrew terms used in the Old Testament considering their occurrences in ancient Near Eastern texts The Places Where Men Pray Together Paul Wheatley,2001 What makes a city an economic political and cultural center In The Places Where Men Pray Together Paul Wheatley draws on two decades of astonishingly wide ranging research to demonstrate that Islamic cities are defined by function rather than form by what they do rather than what they are Focusing on the roles of cities during the first four centuries of Islamic expansion Wheatley explores interconnected cultural historical economic political and religious factors to provide the clearest and most extensively documented portrait of early Islamic urban centers available to date Building on the tenth century geographer al Maqdisi s writings on urban centers of the Islamic world buttressed by extensive comparative material from roadbooks topographies histories adab literatures and gazetteers of the time Wheatley identifies the main functions of different Islamic urban centers Chapters on each of the thirteen centers that al Maqdisi identified ranging from the Atlantic to the Indus and from the Caspian to the Sudan form the heart of this book In each case Wheatley shows how specific agglomeration and accessibility factors combined to make every city functionally distinct as a creator of effective space He also demonstrates that far from revolutionizing every aspect of life in these cities the adoption of Islam often affected the development of these cities less than previously existing local traditions The Places Where Men Pray Together is a monumental work that will speak to scholars and readers across a broad variety of disciplines from historians anthropologists and sociologists to religious historians archaeologists and geographers
