Shopping for God James B. Twitchell, 2007-09-18 Not so long ago religion was a personal matter that was seldom discussed in public No longer Today religion is everywhere from books to movies to television to the internet to say nothing about politics Now religion is marketed and advertised like any other product or service How did this happen And what does it mean for religion and for our culture Just as we shop for goods and services we shop for church A couple of generations ago Americans remained in the faith they were born into Today many Americans change their denomination or religion sometimes several times Churches that know how to appeal to those shopping for God are thriving Think megachurches Churches that don't know how to do this or don't bother are fading away Think mainline Protestant churches Religion is now celebrated and shown off like a fashion accessory We can wear our religious affiliation like a designer logo But says James Twitchell this isn't because Americans are undergoing another Great Awakening rather it's a sign that religion providers that is churches have learned how to market themselves There is more competition among churches than ever in our history Filling the pew is an exercise in salesmanship and as with any marketing campaign it requires establishing a brand identity Successful pastors pastorpreneurs Twitchell calls them know how to speak the language of Madison Avenue as well as the language of the Bible In this witty engaging book Twitchell describes his own experiences trying out different churches to discover who knows how to do church well He takes readers into the land of karaoke Christianity where old style contemplative sedate religion has been transformed into a public interactive event with giant screen televisions generic iconography when there is any at all and ample parking Rarely has America's religious culture been examined so perceptively and so entertainingly Shopping for God does for religion what Fast Food Nation has done for food The Divine

Supermarket Malise Ruthven, 1989 British journalist Malise Ruthven set out on a pilgrimage across America to visit places of religious significance He wanted to see how what and why Americans worship He reveals the religious soul of America in a perceptive witty and sometimes frightening study Shopping for Time (Redesign) Carolyn Mahaney, Nicole Mahaney Whitacre, Kristin Chesemore, Janelle Bradshaw, 2021-05-05 Finding Joy and Fulfillment in All God Has Called You To Do Overwhelmed Miserable Exhausted These are the words that women often use to describe their busy lifestyles How can you keep up with all the demands of work family and ministry Carolyn Mahaney and her three daughters offer biblical hope to women who truly desire to glorify God with their time These authors present five key practices to help you see that you really can do all that God has called you to do finding joy peace and rest in the One who has designed every season of your life

Shopping Malls and Other Sacred Spaces Jon Pahl, 2008-12-29 Christian historian Sidney Mead has observed In America space has played the part that time has played in older cultures of the world In Shopping Malls and Other Sacred Spaces Jon Pahl examines this provocative statement in conversation with what he calls the spatial character of American theology He argues that places are always imaginatively constructed by the human beings who inhabit them Sometimes this spatial theology works to our benefit other times it poses spiritual risks What happens when our banal clothing of the sacred violates our genuine need for comfort and intimacy Or when we remember that the fleeting pleasures of a shopping trip or a Disneyland escape are designed to fill someone else's pocket rather than the spiritual emptiness in our own hearts Pahl develops several ways to clothe the divine from within the Christian tradition He introduces a theology of place that reveals aspects of God's character through biblical metaphors drawn from physical spaces such as the true vine the rock and the living water Accessible and thought provoking this enlightening book provides a better grasp of our particularly American way of lending religious significance to spaces of all kinds Shopping with God's
