Norman K. Denzin,2017-09-04 To what extent have Hollywood feature films shaped the meanings that Americans attach to alcoholics their families and the alcoholic condition To what extent has the mass culture of the movie industry itself been conceptually shaped by a broad external societal discourse Norman Denzin brings to his life long study of alcoholism a searching interest in how cultural texts signify and lend themselves to interpretation within a social nexus Both historical and diachronic in his approach Denzin identifies five periods in the alcoholism films made between 1932 and the end of the 1980s and offers a detailed critical reading of thirty seven films produced during these six decades The Last Days of John

Tino Balio in his book The American Film Industry said that the Production Code meant that American films could not deal with political or social issues in an honest and truthful fashion This incisive essay tests out the legitimacy of Balio s claims using The Lost Weekend directed by Billy Wilder 1945 as an example of the Hollywood problem film Rather than treating the film as being an entity with a single unchanging meaning it is put into its historical and social context in particular the commercial context within which the studios were working The commercial imperatives hardly sat well with the reality of a social problem such as alcoholism and this essay reminds us that the prime aim of the industry was to entertain many of these problem films therefore were as honest and truthful within these confines as it was possible to be Upstairs at the Strand Jessica Strand,Andrea Aguilar,2016-03-17 Revelatory conversations between renowned writers at New York City s legendary bookstore For nearly ninety years the Strand Book Store has been a New York institution a legendary mecca for readers throughout the five boroughs across the
