Making Faces Playing God Identity And The Art Of Transformational Makeup

Stella Marie Gaynor

Making Faces Playing God Identity And The Art Of Transformational Makeup:

Making Faces, Playing God Thomas Morawetz, 2013-04-01 Wearing a mask putting on another face embodies a fundamental human fantasy of inhabiting other bodies and experiencing other lives In this extensively illustrated book Thomas Morawetz explores how the creation of transformational makeup for theatre movies and television fulfills this fantasy of self transformation and satisfies the human desire to become the other Morawetz begins by discussing the cultural role of fantasies of transformation and what these fantasies reveal about questions of personal identity He next turns to professional makeup artists and describes their background training careers and especially the techniques they use to create their art Then with numerous before during and after photos of transformational makeups from popular and little known shows and movies ads and artist s demos and portfolios he reveals the art and imagination that go into six kinds of mask making representing demons depicting aliens inventing disguises transforming actors into different older heavier disfigured versions of themselves and creating historical or mythological characters

Appreciation Post Tara Ward, 2024-04-30 What does an art history of Instagram look like Appreciation Post reveals how Instagram shifts long established ways of interacting with images Tara Ward argues Instagram is a structure of the visual which includes not just the process of looking but what can be seen and by whom She examines features of Instagram use including the effect of scrolling through images on a phone the skill involved in taking an Instagram worthy picture and the desires created by following influencers to explain how the constraints imposed by Instagram limit the selves that can be displayed on it The proliferation of technical knowledge especially among younger women revitalizes on Instagram the myth of the masculine genius and a corresponding reinvigoration of a masculine audience for art Ward prompts scholars of art history gender studies and media studies to attend to Instagram as a site of visual expression and social consequence Through its insightful comparative analysis and acute close reading Appreciation Post argues for art history s value in understanding the contemporary world and the visual nature of identity today
