Making Home In Havana:

Making Home in Havana Cecelia Elisabeth Burke Lawless, 2002 Havana is a city that rarely fails to captivate But much of the unique beauty and culture of this historic city is rapidly disappearing As Cuban society finds itself at a crossroads Havana is more than ever a city on the edge for although frozen in time as a consequence of Fidel Castro's revolution it has certainly not been well preserved Time climate and neglect have eroded a rare architectural legacy making the need to document this heritage even more pressing than ever before Making Home in Havana is an elegant book of photographs and testimonies recording questioning and evoking the meaning of place in particular the meaning of home The combination of fine photography and the words of residents of former palaces humble apartments and other dwellings offer us an irresistible portrait of Havana that might otherwise be lost forever Vincenzo Pietropaolo and Cecelia Lawless have made numerous visits to Havana in order to fully understand and convey the essence of what home means to the inhabitants of the dwellings of the El Vedado and Centro Habana neighborhoods Together they and we explore how a building becomes a home through its human history as well as its architectural features With some renovation already underway in colonial Havana they concentrate on largely unexplored and unrecognized sections that continue to fall into ruin The intimacy of their connection with the buildings and people offers us a rare combination of documentary realism and high art Buildings and people speak their histories to us in classic humanistic style Residents of Havana tell their stories of lifelong efforts to turn decay into beauty while the photographer's evocative pictures enable us to feel exactly what they are talking about a creation of time and space called home Cuban Studies 34 Lisandro Perez, Uva De Aragon, 2004-02-01 Cuban Studies has been published annually by the University of Pittsburgh Press since 1985 Founded in 1970 it is the preeminent journal for scholarly work on Cuba Each volume includes articles in both English and Spanish a large book review section and an exhaustive compilation of recent works in the field Making the World Safe for Tourism Patricia Goldstone, 2001-01-01 A study of the social and political impacts of tourism It explores how and why tourism aligned itself with political power how it became embedded within non tourist institutions like the World Bank and how since World War II it has become an instrument of international development policy A Lot Like Home Kathryn Cantrell, 2018-05-21 Her plans to save her small town didn't include a pig playing cupid or falling for the enemy Superstition Springs native Havana Nixon is convinced letting a big developer into their tiny Texas oasis is the only way to save the town and she's not about to let a newcomer no matter how gorgeous derail her plans Ex Navy SEAL Caleb Hardy is determined to atone for past mistakes by helping the old woman whose letters got him through his last deployment When he and his band of brothers drop into her quirky dying Texas town only one thing stands in the way of his redemption Havana When Havana's aunt tosses out one of her famous love predictions matching Havana with Caleb the town is set for the showdown of the century Havana and Caleb can't even compromise let alone admit they're falling for each other will this be the one love prediction that fails to come true A Lot Like Home is a small town
