Work, Class, and Power in the Borderlands of the Early American Pacific Evan Lampe,2013-12-12 This book traces the history of working people who helped established the foundation of the American empire in the Pacific from its origins after the American Revolution to its coming of age in the 1840s and 1850s Beginning with the expeditions of the Columbia and the Lady Washington Lampe argues that the early American Pacific can best be considered through the interaction of four major locations connected through the networks of trade the merchant ship the Northwest Coast Honolulu and Canton Guangzhou In each of these locations the labors of a diverse population of working people was harnessed in the critical labors of empire building including the transportation of goods The central question that the consideration of working people in the Pacific economy during this period is Lampe argues the role of power applied on these laborers by an international capitalist class emerging alongside the Pacific commercial empires Lampe also finds that this power was not uncontested and emerged in response to the activities of labor Working people on the ship and in the port cities found ways to secure their piece of the profitable trade often through illicit means

Secret Sharers: Melville, Conrad and Narratives of the Real Paweł Jędrzejko,Milton M. Reigelman,Zuzanna Szatanik,2011-01-01 The present book explores a variety of fundamental questions that all of us secretly share Its twenty one chapters written by some of the world s leading Melville and Conrad scholars indicate possible directions of comparativist insight into the continuity and transformations of western existentialist thought between the 19th and 20th centuries The existential philosophy of participation so mistrustful of analytical categories is epitomized by the lives and oeuvres of Melville and Conrad Born in the immediacy of experience this philosophy finds its expression in uncertain tropes and faith based actions rather than muffle the horror vacui with words it plunges head first into liminality where logos dissolves into a positive nothing Unlike analytical philosophers both Melville and Conrad refrain from talking about reality they expose those who would listen to a first hand experience of participation in an interpretive act Employing literary tropes to denude the essence of the human condition they allow their readers to transgress the limitations of language Mistrustful of language they accept the necessity of discourse which to make sense must be actively reshaped endlessly questioned and constantly revised And if uncertainty is the only certainty available to us our lowly human condition also necessitates compassion an existential cure against the liquid capricious reality we are afforded
