

Making Teacher Explanation Stick

The Strategies – Support Working Memory

- We are able to remember more about something we already know a little about
 - Build on prior knowledge
 - include retrieval practice throughout a lesson
- We can take in information on both auditory and visual channels (dual coding)
 - Support what you say with diagrams
 - Don't have them read along with what is being read out loud (overwhelms one channel)
 - Only use relevant images that aid explanation
- There is a limit to how much information we can hold in our heads
 - Outsource working memory by leaving notes and key words on the board
 - Avoid distractions – including long tangents
 - Think about how much information you need to give at any one time
- The human brain prioritises stories
 - Geography is full of stories
 - Use anecdotes to illustrate points
