Nat Love Negro Cowboy Harold W. Felton, 1981-10-01 A biography of a boy freed from slavery during the Civil War who at age fifteen went West to become a cowpuncher champion roper sharpshooter and bronco rider and finally a Pullman porter

Nat Love, Negro Cowboy Harold W. Felton, 1969 Nat Love Barbara Lee Bloom, 2010 Born in a log cabin in Tennessee in June 1854 Nat Love was the slave of Robert Love He was about six when the Civil War began and after the slaves were freed following the war Love was ready to start living a new life out West where he could find work as a cowhand It wasn't long before he started showing his talents as a cowboy roping and herding cattle and learning to shoot a Colt 45 He used his skill in roping contests at rodeos where he earned the nickname Deadwood Dick and was proclaimed Champion Roper of the Western Cattle Country Eventually Love walked away from the life of a cowboy and worked as a Pullman porter becoming one of the most popular Though some may be more fiction than fact the vivid accounts in his autobiography tell tales of adventures with such characters as Billy the Kid Buffalo Bill Kit Carson and the James Brothers In this new offering readers can discover the truth and tall tales Nat Love spun in his self-penned work

The Negro Cowboys Philip Durham, 1965-01-01 More than five thousand Negro cowboys joined the round ups and served on the ranch crews in the cattleman era of the West Lured by the open range the chance for regular wages and the opportunity to start new lives they made vital contributions to the transformation of the West They their predecessors and their successors rode on the long cattle drives joined the cavalry set up small businesses fought on both sides of the law Some of them became famous Jim Beckwourth the mountain man Bill Pickett king of the rodeo Cherokee Bill the most dangerous man in Indian Territory and Nat Love who styled himself Deadwood Dick They could hold their own with any creature man or beast that got in the way of a cattle drive They worked hard thought fast and met or set the highest standards for cowboys and range riders

Black Cowboys in the American West Bruce A. Glasrud, Michael N. Searles, 2016-09-28 Who were the black cowboys They were drovers foremen fiddlers cowpunchers cattle rustlers cooks and singers They worked as wranglers riders ropers bulldoggers and bronc busters They came from varied backgrounds some grew up in slavery while free blacks often got their start in Texas and Mexico Most who joined the long trail drives were men but black women also rode and worked on western ranches and farms The first overview of the subject in more than fifty years Black Cowboys in the American West surveys the life and work of these cattle drivers from the years before the Civil War through the turn of the twentieth century Including both classic previously published articles and exciting new research this collection also features select accounts of twentieth century rodeos music people and films Arranged in three sections Cowboys on the Range Performing Cowboys and Outriders of the Black Cowboys the thirteen chapters illuminate the great diversity of the black cowboy experience Like all ranch hands and riders African American cowboys lived hard dangerous lives But black drovers were expected to do the roughest most dangerous work and to do it without complaint They faced discrimination out west albeit less than in the South which many had left in search of autonomy and freedom As cowboys they could escape the brutal violence visited on African Americans in many southern communities and northern cities Black cowhands remain an integral part of life in the West the descendants of African Americans who ventured west and helped settle and establish black communities This long overdue examination of nineteenth and twentieth century black cowboys ensures that they and their many stories and experiences will continue to be known and told Nat Love Sarah Penn,2003-12-15 Surveys the life of Nat Love African American cowboy renowned for his riding roping and sharpshooting Nat Love Deborah Underwood,2008-01-01 True or False After Nat Love became a cowboy he never gave up riding the trails False After many years as a cowboy Nat saw that railroads were connecting towns across the country He wanted to keep up with the times In 1889 Nat quit the cowboy life He began working on trains instead

Nat Love Sarah Penn, Surveys the life of Nat Love African American cowboy renowned for his riding roping and sharpshooting Outside America Dan Moos,2005 A new study of those excluded from the national narrative of the West Dan Moos challenges both traditional and revisionist perspectives in his exploration of the role of the mythology of the American West in the creation of a national identity While Moos concurs with contemporary scholars who note that the myths of the American West depended in part upon the exclusion of certain groups African Americans Native Americans and Mormons he notes that many scholars in their eagerness to identify and validate such excluded positions have given short shrift to the cultural power of the myths they seek to debunk That cultural power was such Moos notes that these disenfranchised groups themselves sought to harness it to their own ends through the active appropriation of the terms of those myths in advocating for their own inclusion in the national narrative that because the construction of American culture was never designed to accommodate these outsiders their writings display a division between their imagined place in the narrative of the nation and their effacement within the real West marked by intolerance and inequality Black Firsts Jessie Carney Smith,2012-12-01 Achievement engenders pride and the most significant accomplishments involving people places and events in black history are gathered in Black Firsts 4 000 Ground Breaking and Pioneering Events A Search of African American Life, Achievement and Culture John C. Drake,2016-08-08 Simone C Drake spent the first several decades of her life learning how to love and protect herself a black woman from the systems designed to facilitate her harm and marginalization But when she gave birth to the first of her three sons she quickly learned that black boys would need protection from these very same systems systems dead set on the static homogenous representations of black masculinity perpetuated in the media and our cultural discourse In When We Imagine Grace Drake borrows from Toni Morrison s Beloved to bring imagination to the center of black masculinity studies allowing individual black men to exempt themselves and their fates from a hateful ignorant society and open themselves up as active agents at the center of their own stories Against a backdrop of crisis Drake brings forth the narratives of black men who have imagined
