Nation In Retreat Britains Defence Commitment:

British Military Planning for the Defence of Germany 1945-50 Paul Cornish, 1996-03-14 Using recently released archive material British Military Planning for the Defence of Germany 1945 50 reassesses Britain s strategy for the defence of Germany up to the outbreak of the Korean War Convinced of the capabilities of strategic air power with atomic weapons and convinced that the defence of the Middle East should be the first call on British planning Britain s military chiefs made a series of token gestures designed to boost French morale and consistently refused to make a genuine continental commitment of operational troops

Understanding UK Military Capability Andrew R. Curtis, 2024-05-14 Who decides how to use the UK military budget and how can we be sure that the UK s armed forces can meet the threats of tomorrow This book provides the answers to these questions Concentrating on decisions taken below the political level it uncovers the factors that underpin the translation of strategic direction into military capability

Security in British Politics 1945-99 D. Keohane, 2000-08-21 Keohane examines the main British political parties attitude to Britain s policy on three key security issues namely the use of force nuclear weapons and security in Northern Ireland He analyses how each of the parties viewed conflicts at Suez the Falklands and the Gulf elucidates their perspective on nuclear weapons and concludes with a review of their attitude towards security in Northern Ireland The book finds the parties policies reflect their distinctive views on security while international conditions often severely affect the policy pursued

Michael Leifer,2013-10-31 This book first published in 1972 offers a detailed analysis of the post war formulation of foreign policy as Britain sought to detach itself from its imperialist past and moved towards a European future The contributors all experts in their fields together provide a comprehensive commentary on the complexities of the external pressures that moulded British foreign policy during these years The subjects covered highlight the dichotomy of and interaction between residual obligations and new goals and national aspirations These include the examination of past policies regarding the Commonwealth South East Asia NATO and the special relationship with the U S A as well as multi national companies and Britain s place in the changing global society This reissue will of particular interest to students and academics researching the history of British foreign policy international diplomacy and development and post colonialism A Nation in Retreat?
Christopher Coker,1986 Betragtninger over britisk forsvarspolitik gennem de sidste fem r p baggrund af foretagne nedskringer siden 2 Verdenskrig partiernes forhold til NATO og tillige Europ eres opfattelse af USA og dets udenrigspolitik

The Commonwealth of Nations W. David McIntyre,1977 The author a professor of history at the University of Canterbury Christchurch New Zealand presents a comprehensive survey of Commonwealth history from the time of soul searching about the future of the British Empire which marked the middle years of Queen Victoria s reign to the year when Britain decided to enter the European Community The account is divided in three periods 1869 to 1917 1917 to 1941 and 1942 to 1971 Within each period a four fold thematic divisions is followed Dominions Indian Empire crown colonies and protectorates Fear and Uncertainty in Europe Roberto Belloni,Vincent Della Sala,Paul Viotti,2018-08-02 Russia s intervention in the Ukraine Donald Trump s presidency and instability in the Middle East are just a few of the factors that have brought an end to the immediate post Cold War belief that a new international order was emerging one where fear and uncertainty gave way to a thick normative and institutional architecture that diminished the importance of material power This has raised questions about the instruments we use to understand order in Europe and in international relations The chapters in this book aim to assess whether foreign policy actors in Europe understand the international system and behave as realists They ask what drives their behaviour how they construct material capabilities and to what extent they see material power as the means to ensure survival They contribute to a critical assessment of realism as a way to understand both Europe s current predicament and the contemporary international system
