Causey, 2020-03-15 In May 1961 President Kennedy announced that the United States would attempt to land a man on the moon and return him safely to the earth before the end of that decade Yet NASA did not have a specific plan for how to accomplish that goal Over the next fourteen months NASA vigorously debated several options At first the consensus was to send one big rocket with several astronauts to the moon land and explore and then take off and return the astronauts to earth in the same vehicle Another idea involved launching several smaller Saturn V rockets into the earth orbit where a lander would be assembled and fueled before sending the crew to the moon But it was a small group of engineers led by John C Houbolt who came up with the plan that propelled human beings to the moon and back not only safely but faster cheaper and more reliably Houbolt and his colleagues called it lunar orbit rendezvous or LOR At first the LOR idea was ignored then it was criticized and then finally dismissed by many senior NASA officials Nevertheless the group under Houbolt's leadership continued to press the LOR idea arguing that it was the only way to get men to the moon and back by President Kennedy's deadline Houbolt persisted risking his career in the face of overwhelming opposition This is the story of how John Houbolt convinced NASA to adopt the plan that made history
