Cinema of Small Nations Mette Hjort, 2007-11-21 Within cinema studies there has emerged a significant body of scholarship on the idea of National Cinema but there has been a tendency to focus on the major national cinemas Less developed within this field is the analysis of what we might term minor or small national cinemas despite the increasing significance of these small entities with the international domain of moving image production distribution and consumption The Cinema of Small Nations is the first major analysis of small national cinemas comprising twelve case studies of small national and sub national cinemas from around the world including Ireland Denmark Iceland Scotland Bulgaria Tunisia Burkina Faso Cuba Singapore Taiwan Hong Kong and New Zealand Written by an array of distinguished and emerging scholars each of the case studies provides a detailed analysis of the particular cinema in question with an emphasis on the last decade considering both institutional and textual issues relevant to the national dimension of each cinema While each chapter contains an in depth analysis of the particular cinema in question the book as a whole provides the basis for a broader and more properly comparative understanding of small or minor national cinemas particularly with regard to structural constraints and possibilities the impact of globalization and internationalisation and the role played by economic and cultural factors in small nation contexts

Scottish Cinema Now Fidelma Farley, Jonathan Murray, Rod Stoneman, 2009-01-14 Cinema from Scotland has attained an unprecedented international profile in the decade or so since Shallow Grave 1995 and Trainspotting 1996 impinged on the consciousness of audiences and critics around the world Scottish Cinema Now is the first collection of essays to examine in depth the new films and filmmakers that have emerged from Scotland over the last ten years With contributions from both established names and new voices in British Cinema Studies the volume combines detailed textual analysis with discussion of industrial issues scholarship on new movies with historical investigation of unjustly forgotten figures and film from Scotland's cinematic past and a focus on international as well as indigenous images of Scottishness Responding to the ways in which recent Scottish filmmaking has transformed the country's cinematic landscape Scottish Cinema Now reexamines established critical agendas and sets new ones for the study of Scotland's relationship with the moving image in the twenty first century

Ireland's Magdalen Laundries and the Nation's Architecture of Containment James M. Smith, 2007-09-01 The Magdalen laundries were workhouses in which many Irish women and girls were effectively imprisoned because they were perceived to be a threat to the moral fiber of society Mandated by the Irish state beginning in the eighteenth century they were operated by various orders of the Catholic Church until the last laundry closed in 1996 A few years earlier in 1993 an order of nuns in Dublin sold part of their Magdalen convent to a real estate developer The remains of 155 inmates buried in unmarked graves on the property were exhumed cremated and buried elsewhere in a mass grave This triggered a public scandal in Ireland and since then the Magdalen laundries have become an important issue in Irish culture especially with the 2002 release of the film The Magdalene Sisters Focusing on the ten Catholic Magdalen laundries operating between 1922 and 1996 Ireland's Magdalen Laundries and the Nation's Architecture of Containment offers the first history of women entering these institutions in the twentieth century Because the religious orders have not opened their archival records Smith argues that Ireland's Magdalen institutions continue to exist in the public mind primarily at the level of story cultural representation and survivor testimony rather than history archival history and documentation Addressed to academic and general readers alike James M Smith s book accomplishes three primary objectives First it connects what history we have of the Magdalen laundries to Ireland s architecture of containment that made undesirable segments of the female population such as illegitimate children single mothers and sexually promiscuous women literally invisible Second it critically evaluates cultural representations in drama and visual art of the laundries that have over the past fifteen years brought them significant attention in Irish culture Finally Smith challenges the nation church state and society to acknowledge its complicity in Ireland s Magdalen scandal and to offer redress for victims and survivors alike

Fantastic Spaces Matthew J. Fee,2025-08-15 While the connection between Ireland and the otherworldly has long been a staple of literature and the arts it finds its most consistent and compelling expression in the medium of cinema In the first comprehensive scholarly study of the fantastic in Irish film Fantastic Spaces explores how the spatial dimensions of supernatural phenomena in Irish cinema interpret and engage with the dynamic changes that have swept across Ireland over the past four decades Drawing on a wide range of both canonical and lesser known Irish films Matthew J Fee closely examines how the fantastic including a multiplicity of supernatural occurrences and creatures drawn from Irish folklore as well as global popular culture functions to make meaning across a period of profound social political and cultural transformation in Ireland From providing platforms for female agency and interrogating rural heritage and nostalgia to articulating anxieties over modernization and globalization and questioning national identities the fantastic spaces of Irish cinema reveal a sophisticated capacity to grapple with the complexities and contradictions of historical change

Edinburgh Companion to Contemporary Scottish Literature Berthold Schoene,2007-04-11 The Edinburgh Companion to Contemporary Scottish Literature examines the ways in which the cultural and political role of Scottish writing has changed since the country s successful referendum on national self rule in 1997 In doing so it makes a convincing case for a distinctive post devolution Scottish criticism Introducing over forty original essays under four main headings Contexts Genres Authors and Topics the volume covers the entire spectrum of current interests and topical concerns in the field of Scottish studies and heralds a new era in Scottish writing literary criticism and cultural theory It records and critically outlines prominent literary trends and developments the specific political circumstances and aesthetic agendas that propel them as well as literature's capacity for envisioning new and alternative futures Issues under discussion include class sexuality and gender nationhood and globalisation the New Europe and cosmopolitan citizenship postcoloniality

European Cinema in the Twenty-First Century Ingrid Lewis, Laura Canning, 2020-05-23 This book rethinks the study of European Cinema in a way that centres on students and their needs in a comprehensive volume introducing undergraduates to the main discourses directions and genres of twenty first century European film Importantly this collection is the first of its kind to apply a transversal approach to European Cinema bringing together the East and the West while providing a broad picture of key trends aesthetics genres national identities and transnational concerns Lewis and Canning's collection effectively addresses some of the most pressing questions in contemporary European film such as ecology migration industry identity disability memory auteurship genre small cinemas and the national and international frameworks which underpin them Combining accessible original research with a thorough grounding in recent histories and contexts each chapter includes key definitions reflective group questions and a summative case study Overall this book makes a strong contribution to our understanding of recent European Cinema making it an invaluable resource for lecturers and students across a variety of film centred modules
