Sonoran Desert [videorecording] : a Violent Eden, 1997

Adventures of Perception Scott MacDonald, 2009-08-25

Over the past twenty five years Scott MacDonald's kaleidoscopic explorations of independent cinema have become the most important chronicle of avant garde and experimental film in the United States. In this collection of thematically related personal essays and conversations with filmmakers he takes us on a fascinating journey into many under explored territories of cinema. MacDonald illuminates topics including race and avant garde film, the political implications of the nature film, the inventive single shot films of the late 1960s and early 1970s, why men use pornography and what they are looking at when they do poetry and the poetic in avant garde film, the widespread failure of film studies academicians to honor those who keep film exhibition alive and other topics. Several of the interviews: those with Korean filmmaker Gina Kim, French nature filmmakers Claude Nuridsany and Marie Perrenoud, Microcosmos Canadian media artist Clive Holden, formalist conceptualist David Gatten and New York's Film Forum director Karen Cooper are the first substantial conversations with these filmmakers available in English. Publisher's description: The Oxford Handbook of American Documentary Joshua Glick, Visiting Associate Professor of Film & Electronic Arts. Joshua Glick, Patricia Aufderheide, University Professor in the School of Communication. Patricia Aufderheide, 2025. Joshua Glick and Patricia Aufderheide. Over the past twenty years documentaries have taken on an increasingly central place in American public life. One measure of their importance is their commercial value. Major media companies have moved aggressively to monetize documentary, exploiting the form's relatively low budgets compared to fiction. A Desert Food Chain Donald Wajohn, Rebecca Hogue Wajohn, 2009-08-01. Welcome to the desert. Some people think of the desert as a hot, dry, lifeless place. But it is full of life with diamondback rattlesnakes stalking scorpions and coyotes prowling for rabbits after nightfall. Day and night in the desert the hunt is on to find food and to avoid becoming someone else's next meal. All living things are connected to one another in a food chain from animal to animal, animal to plant, plant to insect and insect to animal. What path will you take to follow the food chain through the desert? Will you race after a roadrunner chasing her dinner? Fly with a pallid bat during her nightly insect feast? Shadow a pronghorn dining on prickly pear? Follow all three chains and many more on this who eats what adventure.

The Documentary Film Reader Jonathan Kahana, 2016. Bringing together an expansive range of writing by scholars, critics, historians, and filmmakers, The Documentary Film Reader presents an international perspective on the most significant developments and debates from several decades of critical writing about documentary. Each of the book's seven sections covers a distinct period in the history of documentary, collecting both contemporary and retrospective views of filmmaking in the era. And each section is prefaced by an introductory essay that explains its design and provides critical context. Painstakingly selected from the archives of more than a hundred years of cinema practice and theory, the essays, reviews, interviews, manifestos, and ephemera gathered in this volume suit the needs and interests of the beginning student, the advanced scholar, the casual reader, and the working
