Governance in China Jude Howell,2003-11-19 Over the past two decades the Chinese Communist Party CCP has paradoxically steered the development of a thriving capitalist economy Unlike many faltering post socialist states with fragile economies and weakly institutionalised democratic structures China has witnessed a tide of economic entrepreneurialism that has raised living standards and the country's global economic stature However the strains of rapid economic change and the tensions between an increasingly liberalized economy and the partially reformed institutions of an authoritarian polity have become increasingly severe Crucial to the success of further economic reform and development good governance is the greatest challenge faced by the CCP This groundbreaking book explores the key dimensions of governance in China These include the prospects for political reform as a new generation of leaders comes to power and China enters the World Trade

Organization the processes of building institutions such as developing a clean competent and meritocracy based civil service and improving the legislative framework enhancing regime legitimacy through the sharing of power at lower levels and promoting citizen participation and voice and finally the prevention and management of social discontent with particular reference to worker unrest and the Falun Gong Drawing on original fieldwork the international group of authors provides a systematic analysis of the political institutional and economic causes underlying China s governance problems and considers the prospects for future social and political change

EBOOK: Human Resources for Health in Europe Carl-Ardy Dubois, Ellen Nolte, Martin McKee, 2005-12-16 Health service human resources are key determinants of health service performance The human resource is the largest and most expensive input into health care yet it can be the most challenging to develop This book examines some of the major challenges facing health care professions in Europe and the potential responses to these challenges The book analyses how the current regulatory processes and practices related to key aspects of the management of the health professions may facilitate or inhibit the development of effective responses to challenges facing health care systems in Europe The authors document how health care systems in Europe are confronting existing challenges in relation to the health workforce and identify the strategies that are likely to be most effective in optimizing the management of health professionals in the future Human Resources for Health in Europe is key reading for health policy makers and postgraduates taking courses in health services management health policy and health economics It is also of interest to human resource professionals Contributors Carl Afford Rita Baeten James Buchan Anna Dixon Carl Ardy Dubois Sigr n Gunnarsd ttir Elisabeth Kachur Karl Krajcic Suszy Lessof Ann Mahon Alan Maynard Martin McKee Ellen Nolte Anne Marie Rafferty Charles Shaw Bonnie Sibbald Ruth Young

Non-Governmental Organisations in International Law Anna-Karin Lindblom, 2005 Even when governments have no democratic basis they are regarded as the sole representatives of their populations on the international plane and take important decisions on their behalf It is therefore important that other voices can be heard in international fora alongside governments NGOs have an increasingly important legal and political role and use several different avenues for their work such as lodging cases before international courts and other bodies and participating in international meetings and conferences This book explores these possibilities for the participation of NGOs in international law

Academic Staff in Europe Jürgen Enders, 2001-08-30 Higher education is going through a turbulent period of change Based on a research project coordinated by J Durgen Enders at the University of Kassel in Germany the book highlights the changes taking place in higher education and examines the working conditions of academic staff in fourteen European countries All countries in the study have seen changes regarding the actors and procedures relevant for the regulation of the employment relationships of academic staff Academic staff are higher education s most important asset and most costly resource Employment and working conditions of academic staff are therefore not only influenced by these developments but seen as an important tool for adaptation to the new circumstances higher education faces Thus it is not only of interest to demonstrate and compare variations across and within countries but also to analyze the outcomes of the changing academic environment on the academic labor market and the conditions of working life
