Contributors include F P Bunnell R McVey T Shiraishi and B R O G Anderson The Politics of Indonesia-Malaysia Relations Joseph Chinyong Liow,2005 This book provides a comprehensive overview of the relationship between Indonesia and Malaysia focusing especially on how the relationship has developed in the last fifty years It argues that the political relationship between the two countries has been largely defined by rivalry despite the fact that the processes of national self determination began by emphasising Indo Malay fraternity It shows how the two countries have different contested interpretations of Indo Malay history and how the continuing suspicion of Javanese hegemony which defined much of the history of the Indo Malay world is also a key factor in the relationship "Public Religion" and the Pancasila-based

State of Indonesia Benyamin Fleming Intan,2006 Public Religion and the Pancasila Based State of Indonesia An Ethical and Sociological Analysis analyzes the public role of religion in Indonesian society from the pre independence period to the end of Suharto s New Order government It offers constructive suggestions regarding how Indonesian religion can play a significant role within the framework of Pancasila Indonesia s national ideology Based on a Christian Muslim dialogue it is only within the realm of civil society that Indonesian religion will be able to promote the ideas of democracy tolerance and human rights in Indonesian public affairs In short far from being anti pluralist Indonesian religion evolves as a liberating force in the life of society nation and state Indonesia, Islam, and the International Political Economy Mark Williams,2017-04-21 The Republic of Indonesia is a rising great power in the Asia Pacific set to become the eighth largest economy in the world in the coming decades It is the most populous Muslim majority country in the world The largest Islamic organizations and parties have supported Indonesia s participation with global markets but this has not come from an ideological support for capitalism or economic liberalization Islamic political culture has denounced the injustices caused by global capitalism and its excesses In fact support for Indonesia s engagement with the international political economy is born from political pragmatism and from Indonesia s struggles to achieve economic development This book examines the role of Islamic identity in Indonesia s foreign economic relations and in its engagement with the world order There is no single expression of Islam in Indonesia the politics espoused by Islamic parties and organizations are far from monolithic Islamic sentiment has been invoked by the state to justify heinous acts of brutality as well as by violent subnational revolutionary groups However these expressions of Islam have deviated from the dominant narrative which is in favour of international cooperation and economic development Economic exploitation political alienation financial volatility and aggression toward Muslims around the world that has caused some Islamic groups to radicalize The political culture of Islam in Indonesia is a social force that is helping to foster a peaceful rise for Indonesia However a peaceful expression of Islam is not inevitable for the republic nor can it be assumed that Islamic identity in Indonesia will unwaveringly support the global economic order regardless of what might occur in global politics Contesting Indonesia Kirsten E. Schulze, 2024-10-15 Contesting Indonesia explains Islamist separatist and communal violence across Indonesian history since 1945 In a sweeping argument that connects endemic violence to a national narrative Kirsten E Schulze finds that the outbreak of violence is related to competing local notions of the national imaginary as well as contentious belonging Through detailed examination of six case studies the Darul Islam rebellions Jemaah Islamiyah s jihad and the conflicts in East Timor Aceh Poso and Ambon Schulze argues that violence was more likely to occur in places that are on the geographic ideological ethnic and religious periphery of the Indonesian state that violence by non state actors was most protracted in locations where there was a well established alternative national imaginary supported by an alternative historical narrative and that violence by the state was most likely in places where the state had a significant territorial interest Drawing on a vast collection of interviews and archival and published sources Contesting Indonesia provides a new understanding of the history of violence across the Indonesian archipelago Intellectuals and Nationalism in Indonesia J. D. Legge, 2010 It has always been a matter of national pride that independence came to Indonesia not as the result of a negotiated transfer of sovereignty though the process was completed in that way but through a struggle of heroic proportions in whose fires the nation itself was forged The revolution indeed is central to the Republic s perception of itself To call it a revolution is of course to beg a number of important questions What is a revolution Is the concept developed in modern thought on the models of the French and Russian revolutions applicable to a nationalist struggle for independence Or must a revolution involve also a transfer of power from one social class to another and a subsequent social transformation For Indonesians looking back to the birth of the nation however such questions do not arise For them there is no question but that the events of 1945-49 constituted a revolution a revolution that is seen as the supreme act of national will the symbol of national self reliance and for those caught up in it as a vast emotional experience in which the people the people as a whole participated directly The exploration of Sjahrir s recruitment of a group of followers during the Japanese Occupation and of the character and attitudes of the group is based in large measure on interviews with its surviving members A highly articulate body of people they clearly enjoyed recalling their youth remembering particular experiences and thinking back on the issues that had preoccupied them and the ideas that had excited them as students For many of them it had obviously been a golden age perceived all the more vividly now because the world they had hoped for had never come into being There is perhaps a good deal of nostalgia in their memories of what it was like to be a part of a crucial period in their country s history and no doubt some misjudgment about the parts they played Oral history is a risky business given the fallibility of human memory and the tendency for interviewer and subject alike to collaborate in re shaping the past in the light of their later perspectives The dangers of such a method are discussed below Nevertheless provided it is kept in mind that memories are documents of the present and not of the period with which they deal it is important to gather these recollections while members of the generation in question are still alive The Soviet View of the Indonesian Revolution

Ruth T. McVey, 2009 Although in recent years there have been an increasing number of studies of the Indonesian Communist Party and of the Indonesian revolution 1945-49 there has been relatively little attention paid specifically to the role of the party in the revolutionary period and its relationship during that period with the Soviet Union Furthermore virtually no studies have been made of the perceptions of the Soviet Union of the character of the Indonesian revolution and the level of sophistication and understanding which its Indonesian specialists brought to the study of Indonesian affairs of this period We believe that with this Interim Report Ruth McVey has made an important beginning in overcoming our ignorance of this most important subject Her study makes a significant contribution both to our understanding of Indonesian Communism and of Soviet relations with Asian Communist parties in the critical period after World War II From 1954 to 1956 Miss McVey undertook intensive research on Soviet materials available in the United States and Western Europe and on Dutch Communist and Indonesian Communist publications available in the Netherlands and at Cornell This study first published in 1957 is based on her analysis of these documents and covers the period 1945-1950 About the Author Ruth McVey received her M A in 1954 from the Harvard Soviet Area Program Subsequently under the auspices of the Cornell Modern Indonesia Project she carried on research for fifteen months in the Netherlands and England and it was following this that she wrote this Interim Report After further graduate work at Cornell McVey was awarded a Ford Foundation fellowship for additional research in the Netherlands and Indonesia She received her Ph D from Cornell University in 1961

Democracy and Authoritarianism in Indonesia and Malaysia S. Alatas, 1997-10-29 The fact that the Malaysian state has managed to maintain a relatively democratic regime while an authoritarian regime came to power in Indonesia has never been the focus of historical and comparative analyses despite certain cultural social and historical affinities between these two countries This book takes a look at contrasting class structures and alliances elite cohesion state strength as well as differences in political challenges to the state in order to understand two different paths to post colonial state formation Journalism and Politics in Indonesia David T. Hill, 2010-01-21 This book weaves a history of the Indonesian press and of Indonesia's post independence history through the life story of Mochtar Lubis one of Indonesia's best known newspaper editors authors and cultural figures with a national regional and international prominence he retained from the early 1950s until his death in 2004
