Native Born Objects And Representations Of Ramingining Arnhem Land:

The Making of Indigenous Australian Contemporary Art Marie Geissler, 2021-01-06 This publication brings together existing research as well as new data to show how Arnhem Land bark painting was critical in the making of Indigenous Australian contemporary art and the self determination agendas of Indigenous Australians It identifies how when and what the shifts in the reception of the art were especially as they occurred within institutional exhibition displays Despite key studies already being published on the reception of Aboriginal art in this area the overall process is not well known or always considered while the focus has tended to be placed on Western Desert acrylic paintings This text however represents a refocus and addresses this more fully by integrating Arnhem Land bark painting into the contemporary history of Aboriginal art The trajectory moves from its understanding as a form of ethnographic art to seeing it as conceptual art and appreciating it for its cultural agency and contemporaneity

Djalkiri Rebecca J. Conway, 2021-01-01 The patterns and designs were laid down on the country and in the minds of Yol u by the ancestral beings at the time of creation They have been passed on through the generations from our great grandparents to our grandparents to our parents to us They are the reality of this country They tell us all who we are Djambawa Marawili AM Djalkiri are footprints ancestral imprints on the landscape that provide the Yol u people of eastern Arnhem Land with their philosophical foundations This book describes how Yol u artists and communities keep these foundations strong and how they have worked with museums to develop a collaborative community led approach to the collection and display of their artwork It includes contributions from Yol u elders and artists as well as Indigenous and non Indigenous historians and curators Together they explore how the relationship between communities and museums has changed over time From the early 20th century anthropologists and other collectors acquired artworks and objects and took photographs in Arnhem Land that became part of collections at the University of Sydney Later generations of Yol u have sought out these materials and with museum curators proposed a new type of relationship based on a deeper respect for Yol u intellectual frameworks and a commitment to their central role in curation This book tells some of their stories Featuring over 300 colour images Djalkiri is published in conjunction with a largescale exhibition of Yol u art and culture at the University of Sydney s new Chau Chak Wing Museum opening in November 2020 Spanning almost 100 years of our shared history these collections can expand our understanding of the past and help us to shape the future

A History of Aboriginal Art in the Art Gallery of New South Wales Vanessa Russ, 2021-06-24 In this highly original study Vanessa Russ examines the gradual invention of Aboriginal art within the Art Gallery of New South Wales This process occurred as the social histories of Australia expanded and recognised Aboriginal people through wars and political shifts and as international organisations began placing pressure on nation states to expand diversify and respect multicultural perspectives This book explores a state art institution as a case study to consider these complex narratives through a single history of Aboriginal art from early colonisation until today The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history museum studies and Indigenous studies

Historical Dictionary of Australian Aborigines Mitchell Rolls, Murray Johnson, 2019-11-05 The Aboriginal Australians first arrived on the continent at least 60 000 years ago occupying and adapting to a range of environmental conditions from tropical estuarine habitats densely forested regions open plains and arid desert country to cold mountainous and often wet and snowy high country Cultures adapted according to the different conditions and adapted again to environmental changes brought about by rising sea levels at the end of the last ice age European colonization of the island continent in 1788 not only introduced diseases to which Aborigines had no immunity but also began an enduring and at times violent conflict over land and resources Reconciliation between Aborigines and the settler population remains unresolved This second edition of the Historical Dictionary of Australian Aborigines contains a chronology an introduction an extensive bibliography and more than 300 cross referenced entries on the politics economy foreign relations religion and culture of the Aborigines This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the indigenous people of Australia

Aboriginal Art (Fourth) (World of Art) Wally Caruana, 2025-05-06 An updated and expanded edition of this classic survey which has established itself as a superlative introduction to the full diversity of Aboriginal art This concise survey showcases the incredible diverse work of Aboriginal and Torres Strait artists Building on traditions that stretch back at least 50 000 years these artists have long worked in a variety of contexts from the sacred and secret realm of ceremony to more public spheres From isolated beginnings to postcolonialism and the present Wally Caruana explains how Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander art has continually developed and responded to change and considers the impact of urban living the growth of local art centers that support the artists in these communities and the recognition of women artists This new edition has been expanded and updated to include and reflect on important artists who have emerged in the last decade with a focus on the burgeoning of activity in the Southern Desert region Queensland and the Torres Strait Islands all testament to Aboriginal art s continued dynamism and vitality

The Australian Art Field Tony Bennett, Deborah Stevenson, Fred Myers, Tamara Winikoff, 2020-05-25 This book brings together leading scholars and practitioners to take stock of the frictions generated by a tumultuous time in the Australian art field and to probe what the crises might mean for the future of the arts in Australia Specific topics include national and international art markets art practices in their broader social and political contexts social relations and institutions and their role in contemporary Australian art the policy regimes and funding programmes of Australian governments and national and international art markets In addition the collection will pay detailed attention to the field of indigenous art and the work of Indigenous artists This book will be of interest to scholars in contemporary art art history cultural studies and Indigenous peoples

Toner,2015-09-18 For nearly four decades Ian Keen has been an important challenging and engaging presence in Australian anthropology Beginning with his PhD research in the mid 1970s and through to the present he has been a leading scholar of Yolngu society and culture and has made lasting contributions to a range of debates His scholarly productivity however has never been limited to the Yolngu and he has conducted research and published widely on many other facets of Australian Aboriginal society on Aboriginal culture in settled Australia comparative historical work on Aboriginal societies at the threshold of colonisation a continuing interest in kinship ongoing writing on language and society and a set of significant land claims across the continent In this volume of essays in his honour a group of Keen s former students and current colleagues celebrate the diversity of his scholarly interests and his inspiring influence as a mentor and a friend with contributions ranging across language structure meaning and use the post colonial engagement of Aboriginal Australians with the ideas and structures of mainstream society ambiguity and indeterminacy in Aboriginal symbolic systems and ritual practices and many other interconnected themes each of which represents a string that he has woven into the rich tapestry of his scholarly work

The Land is a Map Luise Hercus,Flavia Hodges,Jane Simpson,2009-03-01 The entire Australian continent was once covered with networks of Indigenous placenames These names often evoke important information about features of the environment and their place in Indigenous systems of knowledge On the other hand placenames assigned by European settlers and officials are largely arbitrary except for occasional descriptive labels such as river lake mountain They typically commemorate people or unrelated places in the Northern hemisphere In areas where Indigenous societies remain relatively intact thousands of Indigenous placenames are used but have no official recognition Little is known about principles of forming and bestowing Indigenous placenames Still less is known about any variation in principles of placename bestowal found in different Indigenous groups While many Indigenous placenames have been taken into the official placename system they are often given to different features from those to which they originally applied In the process they have been cut off from any understanding of their original meanings Attempts are now being made to ensure that additions of Indigenous placenames to the system of official placenames more accurately reflect the traditions they come from The eighteen chapters in this book range across all of these issues The contributors linguistics historians and anthropologists bring a wide range of different experiences both academic and practical to their contributions The book promises to be a standard reference work on Indigenous placenames in Australia for many years to come
