The Golden South: Memories of Australian Home Life from 1843 to 1888 Kathleen Lambert, 2019-12-09 In The Golden South: Memories of Australian Home Life from 1843 to 1888 Kathleen Lambert intricately weaves personal narratives and historical accounts to render a vivid tapestry of domestic life in 19th century Australia Through a collection of evocative memoirs Lambert explores themes such as resilience community and the negotiation of identity within the context of colonialism Her literary style is characterized by rich descriptive prose and a deep engagement with the socio cultural dynamics of the time placing her work firmly within the tradition of Australian historical literature that seeks to understand the lived experiences behind significant historical events Kathleen Lambert a scholar with a profound interest in Australian history and culture draws upon her extensive research and firsthand accounts to craft this poignant narrative Her background in sociology and history has equipped her with the analytical tools to delve into the complexities of family life and social practices during a transformative period in Australia's development Lambert's passion for preserving these historical memories is evident as she connects contemporary readers to the personal stories that shaped a burgeoning nation This enlightening book is highly recommended for readers interested in Australian history social anthropology and personal narratives of resilience The Golden South not only provides a rich historical context but also invites readers to reflect on the enduring themes of home belonging and the human experience Whether for academic study or personal enrichment Lambert's work serves as an essential addition to the understanding of Australia's past

Official Year Book of Western Australia, 1900 Useless Beauty Ann Elias, 2015-10-05 The story of Australian art does not begin and end with landscape This book puts flowers front and centre because they have often been ignored in preference for more masculine themes Departing from where studies of single flower artists leave off Useless Beauty embraces the general topic of flowers in Australian art and shines new light on a slice of Australian art history that extends from 1880 to 1950 It is the first book of broad chronology to discuss Australian art through blossoms which it does by addressing stories of major figures including Hans Heysen Margaret Preston and Sidney Nolan as well as specific objects such as surreal flowers Aboriginal flowers and war flowers Whether modern or conservative the artists in this study shared an intellectual and emotional passion for flora This was true for men as well as women despite blossoms being a more traditionally feminine subject Through spectacular reproductions of historical and contemporary artworks drawn from collections in Australia the United States Britain and New Zealand Useless Beauty explores how flowers influenced the psyche governed rituals defined identity and brought a psychological dimension to the everyday The peak years for flower centrality in Australian art were between 1920 and 1940 when flowers were known as the apotheosis of useless beauty

Insect Conservation and Australia's Grasslands Tim R. New, 2019-11-13 Australia's varied grasslands have suffered massive losses and changes since European settlement and those changes continue under increasingly intensive human pressures for development and agricultural production The values of native grasslands for conservation of endemic native biodiversity both flora and fauna have led to strong interests in the protection of remaining fragments especially near urban centres and documentation of the insects and other inhabitants of grasslands spanning tropical to cool temperate parts of the country Attention to conservation of grassland insects in Australia is relatively recent but it is increasingly apparent that grasslands harbour many localised and ecologically specialised endemic species Their conservation necessarily advances from very incomplete documentation and draws heavily on lessons from the far better documented grasslands elsewhere most notably in the northern hemisphere and undertaken over far longer periods From those cases and the extensive background to grassland management to harmonise conservation with production and amenity values through honing use of processes such as grazing mowing and fire the needs and priorities for Australia can become clearer together with needs for grassland restoration at a variety of scales This book is a broad overview of conservation needs of grassland insects in Australia drawing on the background provided elsewhere in the world on the responses to disturbances and the ecological importance of some key insect groups notably Orthoptera Hemiptera and Lepidoptera to suggest how insect conservation in native pastoral and urban grasslands may be advanced The substantial references given for each chapter facilitate entry for non entomologist grassland managers and stewards to appreciate the diversity and importance of Australia s grassland insects their vulnerabilities to changes and the possibilities for conserving them and the wider ecological roles in which they participate
