Chambers's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts, 1892 What is English? Tim William Machan, 2013-08-22
Tim Machan explores the nature of English present and past and its role in shaping the identity of those who speak it He pursues his object through episodes in its history around the globe from Caxton to Churchill and from rural America to colonial Australia This is a book for everyone interested in English and the role of language in society Not Called Richard Kronk, 2022-02-04 So how do I know what I am supposed to do with my life I hear from my pastor and the things I read that God calls people to be pastors and missionaries Some people even talk about being called to be a doctor or a teacher I think I remember my mom saying she felt called to be a mom But what am I supposed to do with my life Has God actually called me to be a high school science teacher Should I be looking for something else How will I know if and when he does call me or is that just for people going into ministry after all Not Called draws on church history the evolution of Western societal norms and biblical revelation to answer these and other related questions in an effort to determine if calling as it is understood today retains the meaning it was intended to carry from the beginning In addition to a biblical and historical assessment of the evolution of the concept Not Called raises both cultural and practical challenges to the contemporary meaning and use of the concept which all but excludes Christians from a non Western first world cultural context The Ladies' Repository, 1868 Mammals of Other Lands Charles John Cornish, 1917 Good Words, 1880 Rethinking Invasion Ecologies from the Environmental Humanities Jodi Frawley, Iain McCalman, 2014-02-24 Research from a humanist perspective has much to offer in interrogating the social and cultural ramifications of invasion ecologies The impossibility of securing national boundaries against accidental transfer and the unpredictable climatic changes of our time have introduced new dimensions and hazards to this old issue Written by a team of international scholars this book allows us to rethink the impact on national regional or local ecologies of the deliberate or accidental introduction of foreign species plant and animal Modern environmental approaches that treat nature with na ve realism or mobilize it as a moral absolute unaware or unwilling to accept that it is informed by specific cultural and temporal values are doomed to fail Instead this book shows that we need to understand the complex interactions of ecologies and societies in the past present and future over the Anthropocene in order to address problems of the global environmental crisis It demonstrates how humanistic methods and disciplines can be used to bring fresh clarity and perspective on this long vexed aspect of environmental thought and practice Students and researchers in environmental studies invasion ecology conservation biology environmental ethics environmental history and environmental policy will welcome this major contribution to environmental humanities Strange dwellings. Abridged from 'Homes without hands'. Popular ed John George Wood, 1882 Executing Race Sharon M. Harris, 2005 Executing Race examines the multiple ways in which race class and the law impacted women s lives in the 18th century and equally important the ways in which women sought to change legal and cultural attitudes in this volatile period Through an examination of infanticide cases Harris reveals how conceptualizations of women especially their bodies and their legal rights evolved over the course of the 18th century Early in the century infanticide cases incorporated the rhetoric of the witch trials However at mid century a few women especially African American women began to challenge definitions of bastardy a legal requirement for infanticide and by the end of the century women were rarely executed for this crime as the new nation reconsidered illegitimacy in relation to its own struggle to establish political legitimacy Against this background of legal domination of women s lives Harris exposes the ways in which women writers and activists negotiated legal territory to invoke their voices into the radically changing legal discourse
