Transatlantic Literature and Transitivity, 1780-1850 Annika Bautz, Kathryn Gray, 2017-04-28. This book makes an important contribution to transatlantic literary studies and an emerging body of work on identity formation and print culture in the Atlantic world. The collection identifies the ways in which historically situated but malleable subjectivities engage with popular and pressing debates about class, slavery, natural knowledge, democracy, and religion. In addition, the book also considers the ways in which material texts and genres, including for example the essay, the guidebook, the travel narrative, the periodical, the novel, and the poem, can be scrutinized in relation to historically situated transatlantic transitions, transformations, and border crossings. The volume is underpinned by a thorough examination of historical and conceptual frameworks and prioritizes notions of circulation and exchange as opposed to transfer and continuance in its analysis of authors' texts and ideas. The collection is concerned with the movement of people, texts, and ideas in the currents of transatlantic markets and politics, taking a fresh look at a range of canonical and popular writers of the period, including Austen, Poe, Crèvecoeur, Brockden, Brown, Sedgwick, Hemans, Bulwer, Lytton, Dickens, and Melville. In different ways, the essays gathered together here are concerned with the potentially empowering realities of the transitive, circulatory, and contingent experiences of transatlantic literary and cultural production as they are manifest in the long nineteenth century.

Indi'n Humor Kenneth Lincoln, 1993. Drawing on history, psychology, folklore, linguistics, anthropology, and the arts, this book challenges wooden Indian stereotypes to redefine negative attitudes and humorless approaches to Native American peoples. Moving from tribal culture to interethnic literature, Lincoln explores such topics as the traditional Trickster of origin myths, historical ironies, Euroamericans playing Indian, feminist Indian humor at home, contemporary painters and playwrights reinventing Coyote, popular mixed blood music, and Red English. Lincoln turns to the texts of Native American authors, including Louise Erdrich, James Welch, and N. Scott Momaday, to illustrate the rich tradition of Native American humor, a tradition that evolved as the result of and has survived in spite of a history of unconscionable suffering and sadness during the course of which ninety-seven percent of the native populations were destroyed. A study of the literary humor of poets like Paula Gunn Allen, Diane Burns, and Linda Hogan provides further evidence of the importance of the role of humor in Native American culture. Indi'n Humor documents and interprets the contexts of laughter among Native Americans as they see and are seen by the rest of the world. The study comes to focus comically on the poets, visual artists, playwrights, and novelists who make up the cultural renaissance of the past twenty years. Focusing on ethnic humor from jokes in bars and powwows to intercultural politics to literature, Indi'n Humor will enlighten and entertain readers interested in Native American culture as well as scholars of American and Ethnic Studies and humor theorists     Talking Visions Ella Shohat, 2001 This multivoiced collection of essays and images presents a relational feminism of diverse communities affiliations and practices     Six Weeks in the Sioux Tepees Sarah F. Wakefield, 2015-01-28 The Dakota War 1862 was a searing event in Minnesota history as well as a signal event in the lives of Dakota people Sarah F Wakefield was caught up in this revolt A young doctor's wife and the mother of two small children Wakefield published her unusual account of the war and her captivity shortly after the hanging of thirty eight Dakotas accused of participation in the Sioux uprising Among those hanged were Chaska We Chank Wash ta don pee a Mdewakanton Dakota who had protected her and her children during the upheaval In a distinctive and compelling voice Wakefield blames the government for the war and then relates her and her family's ordeal as well as Chaska's and his family's help and ultimate sacrifice This is the first fully annotated modern edition of Six Weeks in the Sioux Tepees June Namias's extensive introduction and notes describe the historical and ethnographic background of Dakota-white relations in Minnesota and place Wakefield's narrative in the context of other captivity narratives     Six Weeks in the Sioux Tepees ,     That Dream Shall Have a Name David L. Moore, 2020-04-01 The founding idea of America has been based largely on the expected sweeping away of Native Americans to make room for EuroAmericans and their cultures In this authoritative study David L Moore examines the works of five well known Native American writers and their efforts beginning in the colonial period to redefine an America and American identity that includes Native Americans That Dream Shall Have a Name focuses on the writing of Pequot Methodist minister William Apess in the 1830s on Northern Paiute activist Sarah Winnemucca in the 1880s on Salish M'tis novelist historian and activist D Arcy McNickle in the 1930s and on Laguna poet and novelist Leslie Marmon Silko and on Spokane poet novelist humorist and filmmaker Sherman Alexie both in the latter twentieth and early twenty first centuries Moore studies these five writers' stories about the conflicted topics of sovereignty community identity and authenticity always tinged with irony and often with humor He shows how Native Americans have tried from the beginning to shape an American narrative closer to its own ideals one that does not include the death and destruction of their peoples This compelling work offers keen insights into the relationships between Native and American identity and politics in a way that is both accessible to newcomers and compelling to those already familiar with these fields of study     Sifters Theda Perdue, 2001 In this edited volume Theda Perdue a nationally known expert on Indian history and southern women's history offers a rich collection of biographical essays on Native American women From Pocahontas a Powhatan woman of the seventeenth century to Ada Deer the Menominee woman who headed the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the 1990s the essays span four centuries Each one recounts the experiences of women from vastly different cultural traditions the hunting and gathering of Kume'yaay culture of Delfina Cuero the pueblo society of San Ildefonso potter Maria Martinez and the powerful matrilineal kinship system of Molly Brant's Mohawks Contributors focus on the ways in which different women have fashioned lives that remain firmly rooted in their identity as Native women Perdue's introductory essay ties together the themes running through the biographical sketches including the cultural factors that have shaped the lives of Native women particularly economic contributions kinship and belief and the ways in which historical events especially in United States Indian policy have engendered change
