Notes of a Native Daughter Keri Day, 2021-06-17 Bearing witness to more liberating futures in theological education In Notes of a Native Daughter Keri Day testifies to structural inequalities and broken promises of inclusion through the eyes of a black woman who experiences herself as both stranger and friend to prevailing models of theological education Inviting the reader into her religious world a world that is African American and more specifically Afro Pentecostal she not only uncovers the colonial impulses of theological education in the United States but also proposes that the lived religious practices and commitments of progressive Afro Pentecostal communities can help the theological academy decolonize and reenvision multiple futures Deliberately speaking in the testimonial form rather than the more conventional mode of philosophical argument Day bears witness to the truth revealed in her and others lived experience in a voice that is unapologetically visceral emotive demonstrative and ultimately communal With prophetic insight she addresses this moment when the fastest growing group of students and teachers are charismatic and neo Pentecostal people of color for whom theological education is currently a site of both hope and harm Calling for repentance she provides a redemptive narrative for moving forward into a diverse future that can be truly liberating only when it allows itself to be formed by its people and the Spirit moving in them

From a Native Daughter Haunani-Kay Trask, 1993 In this impassioned and provocative collection of 17 essays Trask a well known activist argues the case of indigenous Hawaiians persons of Polynesian descent who have been overwhelmed by the dominant culture She puts the native Hawaiian experience in its historical context as one of colonialism initiated by military invasion and sustained through military and economic occupation and oppression She also touches on the environmental devastation wrought by development on a beautiful and fragile ecosystem and on the cultural prostitution that occurs when native traditions become mere local color for swarms of tourists Trask examines the claims of Hawaiians to human rights and self determination before international tribunals This issue is given a larger frame of reference by a similar discussion of other Pacific island nations The author convincingly documents continued racism directed at Hawaii's native inhabitants including at the University of Hawaii where she teaches Hawaiian studies Uncompromising yet never shrill this volume is a welcome addition to the growing body of literature on indigenism the movement for the rights of native people around the world May Publisher's weekly viewed Sept 30 2022 Legendary Hawai'i and the Politics of Place Cristina Bacchilega, 2007 Hawaiian legends figure greatly in the image of tropical paradise that has come to represent Hawai'i in popular imagination But what are we buying into when we read these stories as texts in English language translations This is the question that Cristina Bacchilega poses in her examination of how stories labeled as Hawaiian legends have been adapted to produce a legendary Hawai'i primarily for non Hawaiian readers or other audiences With an understanding of tradition that foregrounds history and change Bacchilega examines how following the 1898 annexation of Hawai'i by the United States the publication of Hawaiian legends in English delegitimized indigenous narratives and traditions and at the same time constructed them as representative of Hawaiian culture Hawaiian mo'olelo were translated in popular and scholarly English language publications to market a new cultural product a space constructed primarily for Euro Americans as something simultaneously exotic and primitive and beautiful and welcoming To analyze this representation of Hawaiian traditions place and genre Bacchilega focuses on translation across languages cultures and media on photography as the technology that contributed to the visual formation of a westernized image of Hawai'i and on tourism as determining postannexation economic and ideological machinery In a book with interdisciplinary appeal Bacchilega demonstrates both how the myth of legendary Hawai'i emerged and how this vision can be unmade and reimagined Native Pride National Passion Stanford O. DISCLAIMER There has been concern about the table of contents or lack thereof in the 50 Classic Books Series. Golgotha Press has addressed this problem and readers who download the books as of November 2011 can access a functional table of contents by going to the front of the book and paging forward two pages. Because of the size of this book, the active feature in the conversion is removed. We are trying to resolve this problem but until then please follow the steps above. If you still experience the problem, please contact us so we can investigate exactly what is happening. Please note, however, that the table of contents does not become active until you purchase the book; preview mode does not currently support active TOCs. We apologize for any confusion or frustration this has caused.

The Native Son Inez Haynes Gillmore, 2022-07-20 You will love this personal story about the all-American sons and daughters of America. Excerpt: For the Native Son is a unique product as distinctively and characteristically Californian as the gigantic redwood, the flower festival, the ferocious flea, the moving picture film, the annual boxing and tennis champion, the golden poppy or the purple prune. There is only one other Californian product that can compare with him, and that's the Native Daughter.

Conversations with Natasha Trethewey Joan Wylie Hall, 2013-08-28

United States Poet Laureate Natasha Trethewey, b. 1966, describes her mode as elegiac. Although the loss of her murdered mother informs each book, Trethewey's range of forms and subjects is wide. In compact sonnets, elegant villanelles, ballad stanzas, and free verse, she creates monuments to mixed-race children of colonial Mexico, African American soldiers from the Civil War, a beautiful prostitute in 1910 New Orleans, and domestic workers from the twentieth-century North and South. Because her white father and her black mother could not marry legally in Mississippi, Trethewey says she was given her subject matter as the daughter of miscegenation. A sense of psychological exile is evident from her first collection, Domestic Work (2000) to the recent Thrall (2012). Biracial people of the Americas are a major focus of her poetry and her prose book Beyond Katrina, a meditation on family, community, and the natural environment of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The interviews featured within Conversations with Natasha Trethewey provide intriguing artistic and biographical insights into her work. The Pulitzer Prize-winning poet cites diverse influences from Anne Frank to Seamus Heaney. She emotionally acknowledges Rita Dove's large impact and she boldly positions herself in the southern literary tradition of Faulkner and Robert Penn

Warren Commenting on Pastoral South and other poems Trethewey guides readers to deeper perception and empathy

Race in Mind Paul Spickard, 2015-11-19 These essays analyze how race affects people's lives and relationships in all settings from the United States to Great Britain and from Hawai'i to Chinese Central Asia They contemplate the racial positions in various societies of people called Black and people called White of Asians and Pacific Islanders and especially of those people whose racial ancestries and identifications are multiple Here for the first time are Spickard's trenchant analyses of the creation of race in the South Pacific of DNA testing for racial ancestry and of the meaning of multiplicity in the age of Barack Obama

Summoning Our Saints John Wharton Lowe, 2019-09-17 Summoning Our Saints The Poetry and Prose of Brenda Marie Osbey celebrates and illuminates the poetry and prose of one of the South's and the nation's most notable writers A native of New Orleans and a former poet laureate of Louisiana who served magnificently in that function during the dark days after Hurricane Katrina Osbey has summoned up a magical beguiling sometimes chilling and appalling portrait of the myriad chapters of New Orleans Southern and hemispheric history Her dazzling narratives offer apertures into desire death and remembrance often through the voices of neglected and abused citizens The essays in this collection examine Osbey's essays and poetry collections situating them within greater traditions of African American women's writing blues music and West African religious traditions and Catholicism The chapters are punctuated throughout with Osbey's own reflections on her work and bring a long needed and appreciative critical focus to a great artist elucidating her contributions to our common cultural heritage The book examines Osbey's meditations on topics such as colonization the African diaspora the circumCaribbean and contemporary parallels between Europe and the United States to showcase the ways in which they add valuable new insights to transnational studies

Perversions of Justice Ward Churchill, 2003 Examines the faulty reasoning employed to legislate colonial control over North America's indigenous peoples and their lands
