Natural Enemies People Wildlife Conflicts In Anthropological Perspective:

Natural Enemies John Knight, 2013-01-11 Wild animals raid crops attack livestock and sometimes threaten people Conflicts with wildlife are widespread assume a variety of forms and elicit a range of human responses Wildlife pests are frequently demonized and resisted by local communities while routinely controlled by state authorities However to the great concern of conservationists the history of many people wildlife conflicts lies in human encroachment into wildlife territory In Natural Enemies the authors place the analytical focus on the human dimension of these conflicts an area often neglected by specialists in applied ecology and wildlife management and on their social and political contexts Case studies of specific conflicts are drawn from Africa Asia Europe and America and feature an assortment of wild animals including chimpanzees elephants wild pigs foxes bears wolves pigeons and ducks These anthropologists challenge the narrow utilitarian view of wildlife pestilence by revealing the cultural character of many of our natural enemies Their reports from the front line expose one fact human conflict with wildlife is often an expression of conflict between people

The Other Half of Gender Ian Bannon, Maria Correia, 2006-01-01 This book is an attempt to bring the gender and development debate full circle from a much needed focus on empowering women to a more comprehensive gender framework that considers gender as a system that affects both women and men The chapters in this book explore definitions of masculinity and male identities in a variety of social contexts drawing from experiences in Latin America the Caribbean and sub Saharan Africa It draws on a slowly emerging realization that attaining the vision of gender equality will be difficult if not impossible without changing the ways in which masculinities are defined and acted upon Although changing male gender norms will be a difficult and slow process we must begin by understanding how versions of masculinities are defined and acted upon

Understanding Conflicts about Wildlife Catherine M. Hill, Amanda D. Webber, Nancy E. C. Priston, 2017-05-01 Conflicts about wildlife are usually portrayed and understood as resulting from the negative impacts of wildlife on human livelihoods or property However a greater depth of analysis reveals that many instances of human wildlife conflict are often better understood as people people conflict wherein there is a clash of values between different human groups Understanding Conflicts About Wildlife unites academics and practitioners from across the globe to develop a holistic view of these interactions It considers the political and social dimensions of human wildlife conflicts alongside effective methodological approaches and will be of value to academics conservationists and policy makers

Ecology and Conservation of the Maned Wolf Adriana G. Consorte-McCrea, Eliana Ferraz Santos, 2013-10-24 Wolves are controversial figures worldwide and much effort has focused on how to conserve them while addressing public concerns With its solitary habits and fruit eating diet the endangered maned wolf roams the South American grasslands and swamps playing a vital part in maintaining biodiversity hotspots Compared to the grey wolf little is known

Human-Wildlife Interactions Beatrice Frank, Jenny A. Glikman, Silvio Marchini, 2019-05-02 Presents solutions to turn conflict into tolerance and coexistence with an emphasis on the human dimensions of human wildlife interactions

Communities Charles Stépanoff, Jean-Denis Vigne, 2018-08-06 Domestication challenges our understanding of human environment relationships because it blurs the dichotomy between what is artificial and what is natural In domestication biological evolution environmental change techniques and practices anthropological trajectories and sociocultural choices are inextricably interconnected Domestication is essentially a hybrid phenomenon that needs to be explored with hybrid scientific approaches Hybrid Communities Biosocial Approaches to Domestication and Other Trans species Relationships attempts for the first time to explore domestication viewed from across disciplines both in its origins and as an ongoing process This edited collection proposes new biosocial approaches and concepts which integrate the methods of social sciences archaeology and biology to shed new light on domestication in diachrony and in synchrony This book will be of great interest to all scholars working on human environment relationships and should also attract readers from the fields of social anthropology archaeology genetics ecology botany zoology history and philosophy Managing the Return of the Wild Michaela Fenske, Bernhard Tschofen, 2020-07-08 This book explores attitudes and strategies towards the return of the wild in times of ecological crisis focusing on wolves in Europe The contributions from a variety of disciplines discuss human encounters with wolves engaging with traditional narratives and contemporary conflicts Covering a range of geographical areas the case studies featured demonstrate the tremendous impact of the return of the wolf in European societies Wolves are a keystone species that exemplify humanity's relation to what is called nature and their return generates powerful debates about what nature actually is and how much it is needed or should be permitted to exist The book considers the return of the wild as a catalyst for fundamental socio biological changes of the world within human societies and the various responses of humans to wolves demonstrate both our potential and limitations when it comes to multispecies communities and negotiating societal change Managing the Return of the Wild will be relevant to a broad audience interested in discussions of social and ecological conflict today including scholars from multispecies studies and diverse disciplines such as biology forestry management and folklore studies Demographic Change and the Family in Japan's Aging Society John W. Traphagan, John Knight, 2003-01-30 A demographic and ethnographic exploration of how the aging Japanese society is affecting the family Intercultural Communication and Science and Technology Studies Luis Reyes-Galindo, Tiago Ribeiro Duarte, 2017-08-18 This timely and engaging book addresses communicative issues that arise when science and technology travel across socio cultural boundaries The authors discuss interactions between different scientific communities scientists and policy makers science and the public scientists and artists and other situations where science clashes with other socio cultural domains The volume includes theoretical proposals of how to deal with intercultural communication related to science and technology as well as rich case studies that illustrate the challenges and strategies deployed in these situations Individual studies explore Europe Latin America and Africa thus including diverse Global North and South contexts Patterned Ground Stephan Harrison, Steve Pile, N. J. Thrift, 2004 Patterned Ground unravels the entangled relationships between nature and culture Around 100 entries by leading names in new geography and related disciplines focus on various objects in the landscape from beaches to battlefields bees to horses police stations to post offices trees to tractors Each entry written by an expert in the field explores the way in which we understand that object and its relationship to the world around it This book is neither encyclopaedia nor dictionary but a knowledgeable and impassioned engagement with the world In this sense it chimes with earlier experiments in understanding the earth and its landscapes whether these endeavours have been conducted within the sciences the social sciences or the arts Patterned Ground backtracks from familiar and obvious ways of seeing patterns in the world in order to discover the world anew It opens up new possibilities for thinking about the relationships between ourselves objects and the ground on which we walk BOOK JACKET

War and the Crisis of Youth in Sierra Leone Krijn Peters, 2011-03-28 The armed conflict in Sierra Leone and the extreme violence of the main rebel faction the Revolutionary United Front RUF have challenged scholars and members of the international community to come up with explanations Up to this point though conclusions about the nature of the war are mainly drawn from accounts of civilian victims and commentators who had access to only one side of the war The present study addresses this currently incomplete understanding of the conflict by focusing on the direct experiences and interpretations of protagonists paying special attention to the hitherto neglected and often underage cadres of the RUF The data presented challenges the widely canvassed notion of the Sierra Leone conflict as a war motivated by greed not grievance Rather it points to a rural crisis expressed in terms of unresolved tensions between landowners and marginalized rural youth further reinforced and triggered by a collapsing patrimonial state The Oxford Handbook of Religious Space Jeanne Halgren Kilde, 2022

Tokarski,2019-05-21 In consequence of significant social political economic and demographic changes several wildlife species are currently growing in numbers and recolonizing Europe While this is rightly hailed as a success of the environmental movement the return of wildlife brings its own issues As the animals arrive in the places we inhabit we are learning anew that life with wild nature is not easy especially when the accumulated cultural knowledge and experience pertaining to such coexistence have been all but lost This book provides a hermeneutic study of the ways we come to understand the troubling impacts of wildlife by exploring and critically discussing the meanings of ecological discomforts Thus it begins the work of rebuilding the culture of coexistence The cases presented in this book range from crocodile attacks to mice infestations and their analysis consequently builds up an ethics that sees wildlife as active participants in the shaping of human moral and existential reality This book is of interest not only to environmental philosophers who will find here an original contribution to the established ethical discussions but also to wildlife managers and even to those members of the public who themselves struggle to make sense of encounters with their new wild neighbors Teaching the Animal

, Teaching the Animal: The Social Sciences , Investigating Local Knowledge Paul Sillitoe,2019-05-23 Originally published in 2004 Local knowledge reflects many generations of experience and problem solving by people around the world increasingly affected by globalizing forces Such knowledge is far more sophisticated than development professionals previously assumed and as such represents an immensely valuable resource A growing number of governments and international development agencies are recognizing that local level knowledge and organizations offer the foundation for new participatory models of development that are both cost effective and sustainable and ecologically and socially sound This book provides a timely overview of new directions and new approaches to investigating the role of rural communities in generating knowledge founded on their sophisticated understandings of their environments devising mechanisms to conserve and sustain their natural resources and establishing community based organizations that serve as forums for identifying problems and dealing with them through local level experimentation innovation and exchange of information with other societies These studies show that development activities that work with and through local knowledge and organizations have several important advantages over projects that operate outside them Local knowledge informs grassroots decision making much of which takes place through indigenous organizations and associations at the community level as people seek to identify and determine solutions to their problems

Becoming Creole Melissa A. Johnson, 2018-11-01 Becoming Creole explores how people become who they are through their relationships with the natural world and it shows how those relationships are also always embedded in processes of racialization that create blackness brownness and whiteness Taking the reader into the lived experience of Afro Caribbean people who call the watery lowlands of Belize home Melissa A Johnson traces Belizean Creole peoples relationships with the plants animals water and soils around them and analyzes how these relationships intersect with transnational racial assemblages She provides a sustained analysis of how processes of racialization are always present in the entanglements between people and the non human worlds in which they live

Animals in Our Midst: The Challenges of Co-existing with Animals in the Anthropocene Bernice Bovenkerk, Jozef Keulartz, 2021-04-29 This Open Access book brings together authoritative voices in animal and environmental ethics who address the many different facets of changing human animal relationships in the Anthropocene As we are living in complex times the issue of how to establish meaningful relationships with other animals under Anthropocene conditions needs to be approached from a multitude of angles This book offers the reader insight into the different discussions that exist around the topics of how we should understand animal agency how we could take animal agency seriously in farms urban areas and the wild and what technologies are appropriate and morally desirable to use regarding animals This book is of interest to both animal studies scholars and environmental ethics scholars as well as to practitioners working with animals such as wildlife managers zookeepers and conservation biologists

Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 David W. Macdonald, Katherine J. Willis, 2013-02-06 Following the much acclaimed success of the first volume of Key Topics in Conservation Biology this entirely new second volume addresses an innovative array of key topics in contemporary conservation biology Written by an internationally renowned team of authors Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 adds to the still topical foundations laid in the first volume published in 2007 by exploring a further 25 cutting edge issues in modern biodiversity conservation including controversial subjects such as setting conservation priorities balancing the focus on species and ecosystems and financial mechanisms to value biodiversity and pay for its conservation Other chapters setting the framework for conservation address the sociology and philosophy of peoples relation with Nature and its impact on health and such challenging practical issues as wildlife trade and conflict between people and carnivores As a new development this second volume of Key Topics includes chapters on major ecosystems such as forests islands and both fresh and marine waters along with case studies of the conservation of major taxa plants butterflies birds and mammals A further selection of topics consider how to safeguard the future through monitoring reserve planning corridors and connectivity together with approaches to reintroduction and rewilding along with managing wildlife disease A final chapter by the editors synthesises thinking on the relationship between biodiversity conservation and human development Each topic is explored by a team of top international experts assembled to bring their own cross cutting knowledge to a penetrating synthesis of the issues from both theoretical and practical perspectives The interdisciplinary nature of biodiversity conservation is reflected throughout the book Each essay examines the fundamental principles of the topic the methodologies involved and crucially the human dimension In this way Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 like its sister volume Key Topics in Conservation Biology embraces issues from cutting edge ecological science to policy environmental economics governance ethics and the practical issues of implementation Key Topics in Conservation Biology 2 will like its sister volume be a valuable resource in universities and colleges government departments and conservation agencies It is aimed particularly at senior undergraduate and graduate students in conservation biology and wildlife management and wider ecological and environmental subjects and those taking Masters degrees in any field relevant to conservation and the environment Conservation practitioners policy makers and the wider general public eager to understand more about important environmental issues will also find this book invaluable

Facing the Wild Chilla Bulbeck, 2012 What do wild animals mean to humans Will they survive both rampant habitat loss and extinction caused by human encroachment and as ecotourists our enthusiasm for them With ecotourism now the fastest growing segment of tourism and encounters with wild animals be it swimming with dolphins going on safari or bird watching ever more popular these are critical questions Yet until now little has been known about why people crave encounters with wild animals and the meaning for the ecotourism industry conservation efforts and society at large Facing the Wild is the first serious empirical examination of why people seek out animals in their natural environment what the desire for this experience tells us about the meanings of animals nature authenticity and wilderness in contemporary industrialized societies and whether visitors change their environmental perspectives and behaviour as the custodians of wildlife parks would like them to The book explores the contradictions and ambivalence that so many people experience in the presence of wild nature in loving it we may diminish it and in the act of wanting to see it we may destroy it Ultimately the book makes a case for respectful stewardship of a hybrid nature and provides insight for both practitioners and ecotourists alike
