   New Dimensions in African Linguistics and Languages Paul A. Kotey,1999 Presents the papers delivered during the Plenary Sessions at the 27th Annual Conference on African Linguistics Contents cover issues relating to phonology syntax historical linguistics and language and society as well as pedagogical issues that relate to the learning and teaching of African languages   Syntax - Theory and Analysis. Volume 3 Tibor Kiss,Artemis Alexiadou,2015-11-13 This Handbook represents the development of research and the current level of knowledge in the fields of syntactic theory and syntax analysis Syntax can look back to a long tradition Especially in the last 50 years however the interaction between syntactic theory and syntactic analysis has led to a rapid increase in analyses and theoretical suggestions This second edition of the Handbook on Syntax adopts a unifying perspective and therefore does not place the division of syntactic theory into several schools to the fore but the increase in knowledge resulting from the fruitful argumentations between syntactic analysis and syntactic theory It uses selected phenomena of individual languages and their cross linguistic realizations to explain what syntactic analyses can do and at the same time to show in what respects syntactic theories differ from each other It investigates how syntax is related to neighbouring disciplines and investigate the role of the interfaces especially the relationship between syntax and phonology morphology compositional semantics pragmatics and the lexicon The phenomena chosen bring together renowned experts in syntax and represent the consensus reached as to what has to be considered as an important as well as illustrative syntactic phenomenon The phenomena discuss do not only serve to show syntactic analyses but also to compare theoretical approaches with each other   The Languages and Linguistics of Africa Tom Güldemann,2018-09-10 This innovative handbook takes a fresh look at the currently underestimated linguistic diversity of Africa the continent with the largest number of languages in the world It covers the major domains of linguistics offering both a representative picture of Africa s linguistic landscape as well as new and at times unconventional perspectives The focus is not so much on exhaustiveness as on the fruitful relationship between African and general linguistics and the contributions the two domains can make to each other This volume is thus intended for readers with a specific interest in African languages and also for students and scholars within the greater discipline of linguistics   Advances in African Linguistics Vicki Carstens,Frederick Parkinson,2000 This volume contains a selection of the papers presented at the 28th Annual Conference on African Linguistics which took place at Cornell University from July 18 22 1997 The editors have sought to include works which make both theoretical and descriptive contributions to this rich area of study The volume is in five sections Section I consists of Kay Williamson s plenary paper Reconstructing Proto Igboid Obstruents Section II contains papers on aspects of African language syntax Section III is devoted to phonology and morphology of African languages Papers on phonetics make up Section IV and Section V contains sociolinguistic studies Among the contributors to this volume are E O Aboh who presents evidence from Gungbe for articulated IP and CP structure L Bickmore who proposes an account

Patel,2010-06-01 In the first comprehensive study of the relationship between music and language from the standpoint of cognitive neuroscience Aniruddh D Patel challenges the widespread belief that music and language are processed independently Since Plato s time the relationship between music and language has attracted interest and debate from a wide range of thinkers Recently scientific research on this topic has been growing rapidly as scholars from diverse disciplines including linguistics cognitive science music cognition and neuroscience are drawn to the music language interface as one way to explore the extent to which different mental abilities are processed by separate brain mechanisms Accordingly the relevant data and theories have been spread across a range of disciplines This volume provides the first synthesis arguing that music and language share deep and critical connections and that comparative research provides a powerful way to study the cognitive and neural mechanisms underlying these uniquely human abilities Winner of the 2008 ASCAP Deems Taylor Award A Companion to Linguistic Anthropology Alessandro Duranti,2008-04-15 A Companion to Linguistic Anthropology provides a series of in depth explorations of key concepts and approaches by some of the scholars whose work constitutes the theoretical and methodological foundations of the contemporary study of language as culture Provides a definitive overview of the field of linguistic anthropology comprised of original contributions by leading scholars in the field Summarizes past and contemporary research across the field and is intended to spur students and scholars to pursue new paths in the coming decades Includes a comprehensive bibliography of over 2000 entries designed as a resource for anyone seeking a guide to the literature of linguistic anthropology Journal of African Languages and Linguistics ,2003 The Clause Structure of the Shimaore Dialect of Comorian (Bantu) , The Handbook of Lexical Functional Grammar Mary Dalrymple,2023-12-14 Lexical Functional Grammar LFG is a nontransformational theory of linguistic structure first developed in the 1970s by Joan Bresnan and Ronald M Kaplan which assumes that language is best described and modeled by parallel structures representing different facets of linguistic organization and information related by means of functional correspondences This volume has five parts Part I Overview and Introduction provides an introduction to core syntactic concepts and representations Part II Grammatical Phenomena reviews LFG work on a range of grammatical phenomena or constructions Part III Grammatical modules and interfaces provides an overview of LFG work on semantics argument structure prosody information structure and morphology Part IV Linguistic disciplines reviews LFG work in the disciplines of historical linguistics learnability psycholinguistics and second language learning Part V Formal and computational issues and applications provides an overview of computational and formal properties of the theory implementations and computational work on parsing translation grammar induction and treebanks Part VI Language families and regions reviews LFG work on languages spoken in particular geographical areas or in particular language families The final section Comparing LFG with other linguistic theories discusses LFG work in relation to other theoretical approaches   The Clause Structure Of The Shimaore Dialect Of Comorian (Bantu) Aimee Johansen Alnet,2009 This dissertation examines the clause structure of the Shimaore dialect of Comorian an under described Bantu language spoken on the island of Mayotte One important contribution of the dissertation is a description of Shimaore that includes data of interest to linguists that have never been described for Shimaore   Selected Proceedings of the 37th Annual Conference on African Linguistics Doris L. Payne,Jaime Peña,2007 This volume contains 16 papers selected from the 37th Annual Conference on African Linguistics ACAL 37 which was held at the University of Oregon on April 6 9 2006 The papers included are significant for increasing the database of detailed studies of individual African languages   The Syntax of Information-Structural Agreement Johannes Mursell,2021-09-15 In this research monograph Johannes Mursell discusses the syntactic impact of information structural features on agreement So far the syntactic contribution of this type of feature has mostly been reduced to movement of topics or foci clause initial position Here the author looks at a different phenomenon syntactic agreement and how this process can be dependent on information structural properties Based partly on original fieldwork from a typologically diverse set of languages including Tagalog Swahili and Lavukaleve it is argued that for most areas for which information structural features have been discussed it is possible to find cases where these features influence phi feature agreement The analysis is then extended to cases of Association with Focus which does not involve phi features but can still be accounted for with agreement of information structural features The book achieves two main goals first it provides a uniform analysis for different constructions in unrelated languages Second it also gives a new argument that information structural features should be treated as genuine syntactic features
