New Face Of War:

The New Face of War Bruce D. Berkowitz, 2010-05-11 As American and coalition troops fight the first battles of this new century from Afghanistan to Yemen to the Philippines to Iraq they do so in ways never before seen Until recently information war was but one piece of a puzzle more than a sideshow in war but far less than the sum total of the game Today however we find information war revolutionizing combat from top to bottom Gone are the advantages of fortified positions nothing is impregnable any longer Gone is the reason to create an overwhelming mass of troops now troop concentrations merely present easier targets Instead stealth swarming and zapping precision strikes on individuals or equipment are the order of the day based on superior information and lightning fast decision making In many ways modern warfare is information warfare Bruce Berkowitz's explanation of how information war revolutionized combat and what it means for our soldiers could not be better timed As Western forces wage war against terrorists and their supporters in actions large and small on several continents The New Face of War explains how they fight and how they will win or lose There are four key dynamics to the new warfare asymmetric threats in which even the strongest armies may suffer from at least one Achilles heel information technology competition in which advantages in computers and communications are crucial the race of decision cycles in which the first opponent to process and react to information effectively is almost certain to win and network organization in which fluid arrays of combat forces can spontaneously organize in multiple ways to fight any given opponent at any time America's use of networked elite ground forces in combination with precision guided bombing from manned and unmanned flyers turned Afghanistan from a Soviet graveyard into a lopsided field of American victory Yet we are not invulnerable and the same technology that we used in Kuwait in 1991 is now available to anyone with a credit card and access to the Internet Al Qaeda is adept in the new model of war and has searched long and hard for weaknesses in our defenses Will we be able to stay ahead of its thinking In Iraq Saddam's army is in no position to defeat its enemies but could it defend Baghdad As the world anxiously considers these and other questions of modern war Bruce Berkowitz offers many answers and a framework for understanding combat that will never again resemble the days of massive marches on fortress like positions The New Face of War is a crucial guidebook for reading the headlines from across our troubled planet

Special Warfare, 2007 Armor, 2003 Imaginaries of Connectivity Luis Lobo-Guerrero, Suvi Alt, Maarten Meijer, 2019-11-20 This edited collection addresses the problem of how the creation of novel spaces of governance relates to imaginaries of connectivity in time While connectivity seems almost ubiquitous today it has been imagined and practiced in various ways and to varying political effects in different historical and geographical contexts Often the conception of new connectivities also gives birth to new spaces of governance The political denomination of spaces whether maritime continental social or virtual reflects the situatedness of power Yet such crafting of new spaces also expresses particular imaginaries and technologies of connectivity that make governance possible Whereas the study of international relations has traditionally focused on the role of agency and structure in power relations the affects beliefs attitudes and practices that intervene in how groups of people connect in given times have not attracted much scholarly attention Overall the detailed and original case studies examined in the book range from the 16th century to the 19th century to the present and from Spain to the Maritime Alps to Germany to the Mediterranean to China to East Asia The historical and geographical variety of the cases serves to highlight the diversity of the meaning and function of connectivity in the constitution of novel spaces of governance disciplines Following an introduction by Lt Gen James Dubik Commander I Corps U S Army and an opening essay titled State of the Question by Dr Colin Gray the anthology first considers the general question of An American Way of War Sections on operational art with writers addressing the issues in both conventional and small wars stability and reconstruction and intelligence complete the volume Among the well known contributors are Fred Kagan Ralph Peters Harlan Ullman and Milan Vego This collection of essays is the outcome of a seminar series sponsored by the Office of Force Transformation and the U S Navy to examine the future of warfare and the underlying principles of war and to educate future military strategists and leaders on these principles Footnotes index and a bibliographic essay make the work a useful tool for students of war and general readers alike Military Review ,1994 Rethinking the Nature of War Jan Angstrom,Isabelle Duyvesteyn,2005-07-08 Have globalization virulent ethnic differences and globally operating insurgents fundamentally changed the nature of war in the last decade Interpretations of war as driven by politics and state rationale formulated most importantly by the 19th century practitioner Carl von Clausewitz have received strong criticism Political explanations have been said to fall short in explaining conflicts in the Balkans Africa Asia and the attacks of 11 September 2001 in the United States This book re evaluates these criticisms not only by scrutinising Clausewitz s arguments and their applicability but also by a careful reading of the criticism itself In doing so it presents empirical evidence on the basis of several case studies addressing various aspects of modern war such as the actors conduct and purposes of war Quarterly Review of Military Literature ,1938 Light It Up John Pettegrew,2015-11-15 The Postmasculinist Marines and New Optics of Combat The Gladiator Robot and the Critique of Remote Warfare 6 Synthetic Visions of War Conclusion and Epilogue Biopolitics and the Costs of War Digital Culture and the Computational Marine Subjectivity Lives and Dies Notes Essay on Primary Sources Index A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P Q R S T U V W Y Z Cyberspace in Peace and War Martin Libicki,2016-10-15 This book is written to be a comprehensive guide to cybersecurity and cyberwar policy and strategy developed for a one or two semester class for students of public policy including political science law business etc Although written from a U S perspective most of its contents are globally relevant It is written essentially in four sections The first chapters 1 5 describes how compromises of computers and networks permit unauthorized parties to extract information from such systems cyber espionage and or to force these systems to misbehave in ways that disrupt their operations or corrupt their workings The section examines notable hacks of systems fundamental challenges to cybersecurity e g the lack of forced entry the measure countermeasure relationship including the role of malware and various broad approaches to cybersecurity The second chapters 6 9 describes what government policies can and as importantly cannot be expected to do to improve a nation s cybersecurity thereby leaving leave countries less susceptible to cyberattack by others Among its focus areas are approaches to countering nation scale attacks the cost to victims of broad scale cyberespionage and how to balance intelligence and cybersecurity needs The third chapters 10 15 looks at cyberwar in the context of military operations

Describing cyberspace as the 5th domain of warfare feeds the notion that lessons learned from other domains e.g. land sea apply to cyberspace. In reality, cyberwar, a campaign of disrupting corrupting computers networks, is quite different; it rarely breaks things and can only be useful against a sophisticated adversary. It competes against cyber espionage and has many first strike characteristics. The fourth chapter, 16-35, examines strategic cyberwar within the context of state on state relations. It examines what strategic cyberwar and threats thereof can do against whom and how countries can respond. It then considers the possibility and limitations of a deterrence strategy to modulate such threats, covering credibility, attribution thresholds and punishment, as well as whether denial can deter. It continues by examining sub rosa attacks where neither the effects nor the attacker are obvious to the public, the role of proxy cyberwar, the scope for brandishing cyberattack capabilities including in a nuclear context, the role of narrative and signals in a conflict in cyberspace, questions of strategic stability and norms for conduct in cyberspace, particularly in the context of Sino U.S. relations and the role played by international law. The last chapter considers the future of cyberwar.

Strategic Warfare in Cyberspace Gregory J. Rattray, 2001. A comprehensive analysis of strategic information warfare waged via digital means as a distinct concern for the United States and its allies. In the information age, information systems may serve as both weapons and targets. Although the media has paid a good deal of attention to information warfare, most treatments so far are overly broad and without analytical foundations. In this book, Gregory Rattray offers a comprehensive analysis of strategic information warfare waged via digital means as a distinct concern for the United States and its allies. Rattray begins by analyzing salient features of information infrastructures and distinguishing strategic information warfare from other types of information based competition such as financial crime and economic espionage. He then establishes a conceptual framework for the successful conduct of strategic warfare in general and of strategic information warfare in particular. Taking a historical perspective, he examines U.S. efforts to develop air bombardment capabilities in the period between World Wars I and II and compares them to U.S. efforts in the 1990s to develop the capability to conduct strategic information warfare. He concludes with recommendations for strengthening U.S. strategic information warfare defenses.

The American Culture of War Adrian R. Lewis, 2006-12-21. The American Culture of War presents a sweeping critical examination of every major American war since 1941. Timely, incisive and comprehensive, it is a unique and invaluable survey of over sixty years of American military history.

Lebanon after the Syrian Withdrawal Ohannes Geukjian, 2016-11-10. Lebanon experienced serious instability and ethno-national conflict following the Syrian withdrawal in 2005, compounded by the Arab Spring which led to regional instability and civil war in Iraq and Syria. Why did consociational democracy fail? Was failure inevitable? What impact could external powers play in creating an environment where consociationalism might be successfully implemented? This book addresses these key questions and provides a comprehensive analysis of how internal and external elite relations influence the chances of a successful regulation of ethno-national conflict through power sharing. Exploring the roles played by Syria, Qatar, Iran, Saudi Arabia, the United States and France it argues that external actors in the Lebanese conflict largely determined whether power sharing was successfully established and shows that the consociational democratic model cannot provide long term conflict regulation in their absence The author argues that relationships between internal and external actors determine the prospects for successful conflict regulation and pinpoints the crucial role of the external forces in the creation of power sharing agreements in Lebanon concluding that future success is dependent on the maintenance of positive exogenous pressures This book will be of key interest to students and scholars studying politics international relations and Middle East studies
