Politics Of Landscapes In Singapore:

The Politics of Landscapes in Singapore Lily Kong, Brenda S. A. Yeoh, 2003-02-01 This thought provoking book explores strategies employed by Singapore a multiracial society to create a Singapore nation with an emphasis on the role of landscape As such the authors cast keen eye on religious buildings public housing heritage landscapes and street name changes as tangible methods of nation building in a postcolonial society The authors illustrate how nation and national identity are concepts that are negotiated and disputed by varied social economic and political groups some of which may actively resist powerful state centrist attitudes Throughout this work the role of the landscape prevails both as a way to naturalize state ideologies and as a means of providing possibilities for reinterpretation in everyday life Urban

Landscapes in High-Density Cities Bianca Maria Rinaldi, Puay Yok Tan, 2019-06-04 The positive effects of urban green spaces are well known ranging from the promotion of health support of biodiversity to climate regulation However the practical implementation of urban landscapes is less discussed How can we make these spaces functional economically feasible and inclusive especially as cities become more diverse The publication explores strategies to reconcile the various demands such as food production resilience and nature conservation Indeed urban landscapes have to be restorative ecological and aesthetically pleasing at the same time This is a particular challenge in high density cities like Singapore Seoul or New York where space is a scarce commodity The continuing growth of the worldwide urban population imbues the topic with a special urgency Understanding Singapore Politics (Second Edition) Bilveer Singh, 2021-08-23 Understanding Singapore Politics Second Edition aims to present a structural functional understanding of politics in Singapore This textbook provides a foundational knowledge of Singapore s politics by discussing key topics including the country s history political and party systems role of parastatal organisations nation building political leadership electoral politics hot button national issues and the role of Lee Kuan Yew in Singapore politics Recommended for anyone who has an interest or a stake in the island republic this introductory text provides insights on what drives shapes and influences Singapore s politics and explains the political behaviour of Singaporeans Singapore's Park System Master Planning Raffaella Sini, 2019-04-23 This book traces the evolution of Singapore s parks system from colonial to present times Further it contextualizes the design and planning of parks in the general discourse on western and eastern traditions early twentieth century western conceptions imported during colonialism modernism postmodernism and the contemporary ecological debate Park system planning products respond to national policies and result in structural urban elements and a range of park types Global western ideology and local issues have influenced park system planning and the physical design of individual parks over time However in Singapore the eastern literature has not addressed the development of parks and urban green spaces in terms of historical perspective The publication reveals the interrelations between visual representations and changing political ideologies Singapore s system of public parks is shown to represent an iconography created by the state Its set of constructed narratives elucidates on the potential social cultural and environmental roles of public parks However Singapore s park system presents a novel paradigm for expanding Asian cities characterized by evolving urban imaging strategies In framing Singapore s case study within the broader perspective of eastern applications of western planning and design practices and constructions of nation in post colonial countries the manuscript establishes the contribution of the Singaporean model of design and planning of parks to the international debate

Multiculturalism, Migration, and the Politics of Identity in Singapore Kwen Fee Lian, 2015-10-28 This edited volume focuses on how multiculturalism as statecraft has had both intended and unintended consequences on Singapore s various ethnic communities The contributing authors address and update contemporary issues and developments in the practice of multiculturalism in Singapore by interfacing the practice of multiculturalism over two critical periods the colonial and the global The coverage of the first period examines the colonial origins and conception of multiculturalism and the post colonial application of multiculturalism as a project of the nation and its consequences for the Tamil Muslim Ceylon Tamil and Malay communities The content on the second period addresses immigration in the context of globalization with the arrival of new immigrants from South and East Asia who pose a challenge to the concept and practice of multiculturalism in Singapore For both periods the contributors examine how the old migrants have attempted to come to terms with living in a multicultural society that has been constructed in the image of the state and how the new migrants will reshape that society in the course of their ongoing politics of identity

Unmasking Singapore's 2020 General

Elections: Covid-19 And The Evolving Political Landscape Bilveer Singh, Walid Jumblatt Abdullah, Felix Thiam Kim Tan, 2020-12-29 On 10 July 2020 Singapore held its 18th general elections in history and the 13th since independence in 1965. The ruling People's Action Party (PAP) once again retained its supermajority by capturing 83 out of the 93 seats, controlling 89.2 percent of parliamentary seats. In spite of a changing social, political, and economic landscape, Singapore is still very much identified as an illiberal democracy that has somehow thrived over the years. As the general elections were held during the COVID-19 pandemic, there were expectations that Singaporeans would overwhelmingly vote for the PAP government as the country was facing a serious crisis of a generation. The flight to safety mode that some had expected in an election during a crisis, however, did not materialise. In the end, Singaporean voters decided to send a strong warning to the PAP that not all was well with the opposition achieving its strongest gains since 1965, capturing 10 seats and an additional two Non-constituency Member of Parliament seats. The PAP's total votes dropped from 69.9 percent in 2015 to 61.2 percent in 2020. The rise of a credible opposition has also further strengthened Singaporeans' resolve to ensure that a fair playing field exists in the political realm. With the highest voter turnout since independence, many have made it known that their voices mattered. The PAP also saw some cracks in its ranks, with some former cadre members and supporters being critical of the new fourth generation team. Against this backdrop, this book hopes to address the following questions: What were the key issues in the general elections? Who were the main contenders in the polls? What accounted for the PAP's continued hold on power in Singapore? Why did the opposition perform much better than in the previous general elections? What are the main implications of the 2020 general elections results for the PAP, opposition, and the broader society at large? How far have electoral issues shifted from bread and butter concerns to much broader topics of social injustices and diversity of voices in parliament? What were some of the crucial talking points during this election? Last but not least, how far did social media and internet campaigning determine the outcome of this election?

Contested Memoryscapes Hamzah Muzaini, Brenda S.A.

Yeoh, 2016-05-20 This book sets itself apart from much of the burgeoning literature on war commemoration within human geography and the social sciences more generally by analysing how the Second World War 1941-45 is remembered within Singapore, unique for its potential to shed light on the manifold politics associated with the commemoration of wars, not only within an Asian but also a multiracial and multi-religious postcolonial context. By adopting a historical materialist approach, it traces the genealogy of war commemoration in Singapore from the initial disavowal of the war by the postcolonial government since independence in 1965 to it being embraced as part of national historiography in the early 1990s, apparent in the emergence since then of various memoryscapes dedicated to the event. Also through a critical analysis of a wide selection of these memoryscapes, the book interrogates how memories of the war have been spatially and discursively appropriated today by state and non-state agencies as a means of achieving multiple objectives, including but not limited to commemoration tourism mourning and nation building And finally the book examines the perspectives of those who engage with or use these memoryscapes in order to reveal their contested nature as fractured by social divisions of race gender ideology and nationality The substantive book chapters will be based on archival and empirical data drawn from case studies in Singapore themed along different conceptual lenses including ethnicity gender postcoloniality tourism and postmodernity personal mourning transnational remembrances and politics and the preservation of original sites stories and artefacts of war Collectively they speak to and work towards shedding insights to the one overarching question How is the Second World War commemorated in postcolonial Singapore and what are some of the issues politics and contestations which have accompanied these efforts to presence the war today particularly as they are spatially and materially played out via different types of memoryscapes The book also distinguishes itself from previous works written on war commemoration in Singapore mainly by social and military historians particularly through its adoption of a geographical agenda that gives attention to issues of politics of space as it relates to remembrance and representations of memory

The Politics of Religion in South and Southeast Asia Ishtiaq Ahmed, 2011-05-04 The notion of a politics of religion refers to the increasing role that religion plays in the politics of the contemporary world This book presents comparative country case studies on the politics of religion in South and South Asia including India Pakistan and Indonesia The politics of religion calls into question the relevance of modernist notions of secularism and democracy with the emphasis instead on going back to indigenous roots in search of authentic ideologies and models of state and nation building Within the context of the individual countries chapters focus on the consequences that politics of religion has on inclusive nation building democracy and the rights of individuals minorities and women The book makes a contribution to both the theoretical and conceptual literature on the politics of religion as well as shed light on the implications and ramifications of the politics of religion on contemporary South Asian and South East Asian countries It is of interest to students and scholars of South and South East Asian Studies as well as Comparative Politics

The Geography of Border Landscapes Dennis Rumley, Julian V. Minghi, 2014-10-03 This volume is about border landscapes with emphasis on the varying impact that political decision making and ideological differences can have on the environment at border locations for example This volume by political geography experts from across the globe provides important insights specifically into border landscapes and so serves to further our understanding of aspects of cultural landscapes Singapore ,2007 Understanding Metropolitan Landscapes Andrew MacKenzie,2019-10-02 Understanding Metropolitan Landscapes considers and reflects on the fundamental relationships between metropolitan regions and their landscapes It investigates how planning and policy help to protect manage and enhance the landscapes that sustain our urban settlements As global populations become more metropolitan landscapes evolve to become increasingly dynamic and entropic and the distinction between urban and non urban is further fragmented and yet these spaces play an increasingly important role in sustainable development This book opens a key critical discussion into the relational aspects of city and landscape and how each element shapes the boundaries of the other covering topics such as material natures governance systems processes and policy It presents a compendium of concepts and ideas that have emerged from landscape architecture planning and environmental policy and landscape management Using a range of illustrated case studies it provokes discussions on the major themes driving the growth of cities by exploring the underlying tensions around notions of sustainable settlement climate change adaption urban migration new modes of governance and the role of landscape in policy and decision making at national provincial and municipal levels

Identity Politics and Elections in Malaysia and Indonesia Karolina Prasad,2015-12-14 In recent social research ethnicity has mostly been used as an explanatory variable It was only after it was agreed that ethnicity in itself is subject to change were the questions of how and why it changes possible to answer This multiplicity of ethnic identities requires that we think of each society as one with multiple ethnic dimensions of which any can become activated in the process of political competition and sometimes several of them within a short period of time Focusing on Malaysia and Indonesia this book traces the variations of ethnic identity by looking at electoral strategies in two sub national units It shows that ethnic identities are subject to change induced by calculated moves by political entrepreneurs who use identities as tools to maximize their chances of winning elections or expanding support base and highlights how political institutions play an enormous role in shaping the modes and dynamics of these ethno political manipulations The book suggests that in societies where ethnic identities are activated in politics instead of analysing politics with ethnic distribution as an independent variable ethnic distribution can be taken as the dependent variable with political institutions being the explanatory one It examines the problems of voters behaviour and parties and candidates strategy in a polity that is to a significant extent driven by ethnic relations Pushing the boundaries of qualitative research on Southeast Asian politics by placing formal institutions at the centre of its analysis this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian Politics Race and Ethnic Studies and International Relations Colonial Frames, Nationalist Histories Mrinalini Rajagopalan,Madhuri Shrikant Desai,2012 A common thread throughout the essays in this volume is a focus on new loci of power that emerge either in collision with colonial power structures or in collaboration with or those that emerge in the wake of decolonization While the authors recognize the presence of a larger structure of colonial hegemony they also investigate those centers of power that emerge in the interstices of crevices of colonial power Interdisciplinary and theoretically innovative this book offers a global perspective on colonial and national landscapes rewrites the master creator narrative examines national landscapes as sites of contestation and views the globalization of processes such as archaeology beyond the boundaries of the national

Asianism and the Politics of Regional Consciousness in Singapore Leong Yew, 2013-11-20 Over the last two decades Singapore has undergone a substantial degree of Asianization Apart from participating in the Asian values debate of the 1990s re visioning itself as New Asia and a global Asian hub and establishing Asian identities for the commodities it consumes and produces Singapore has also repurposed its modernity cultures and ethos along similar regionalist precepts However even in recent times Singapore continues to vacillate ambivalently between identifying with and differentiating itself from Asia Responding to the challenges Singapore faces in coming to terms with its Asian identity this book examines the complex cultural social and political underpinnings that have shaped Singapore's mainstream discourse on Asia Indeed it argues that its legacy as a colonial port city the exigencies of managing the post independence nation state and the larger forces of imperialism and capitalism all contribute to its politics of Asianism Taking a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach that spans history cultural studies postcolonialism and cultural geography Leong Yew reveals how Asia has been used to narrate Singapore's beginnings revalidate Singaporean ethnic culture and to consolidate its practices of consumption and commodification This book will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a range of fields including Asian culture and society Asian politics cultural theory and postcolonial studies

Handbook on the Politics of Public Administration Ladner, Andreas, Sager, Fritz, 2022-10-13 This innovative Handbook puts the politics of public administration at the forefront providing comprehensive insights and comparative perspectives of the different aspects of the field

Home + Bound Lilian Chee, Melany Sun-Min Park, 2013 HOME BOUND brings together six Master of Architecture dissertations 2009-2011 from the National University of Singapore The essays engage with the notion of domesticity set within the geographical bounds of Southeast Asia more specifically Singapore and Malaysia Theoretical framework including those of Michel Foucault Sigmund Freud Jacques Derrida and Anthony Vidler are surveyed against local sites interwoven with varying scales tropes mis conceptions and antinomies of domesticity a Chinese cemetery Singapore's public Housing Development Board flats the older Singapore Improvement Trust flats its National Day Parade sites a haunted house a rural kampong village some national monuments and a Straits Chinese patriarch's mansion in Penang What does it mean to be at home in a context where land and space are both limited and contentious The ideals of stability attached to conceptions of being at home were retrogressive and antithetical to being modern a fixation in Singapore and Southeast Asia's post war milieu which continues to thrive under presuppositions of change and subsequent adaptations The authors thus collectively front home as a destabilised ideology and a constantly evolving physical construct This volume does not privilege the distinction between loss and recuperation of domestic sites and ideologies or the ensuing difficulties of their reconciliation

Rather it highlights the inseparable conditions between the recovery of domestic ideals and the agents who formulate such ideals Politics in Contemporary Southeast Asia Damien Kingsbury, 2016-09-13 The countries of Southeast Asia continue to change evolve and chart courses that sometimes leave outside observers puzzled Politics in Contemporary Southeast Asia thoroughly assesses the political challenges and changes faced by the countries of Southeast Asia in the 21st century Focusing on political processes throughout Kingsbury introduces readers to the challenges of representation and accountability of the regional governments degrees of good governance and transparency and the role of elites and militaries in shaping or determining political outcomes This book provides A comprehensive but accessible introduction to political change and processes in Southeast Asia Analytic criteria for assessment of case studies Detailed country specific surveys Information based on extensive research on and work in the region Providing cutting edge coverage of Southeast Asian politics in all regions this highly accessible and comprehensive book is suitable for undergraduate and postgraduate courses on Southeast Asian Studies Asian Politics and Democratization
