- Religion prevents change
- Religion as a conservative force
- Functionalists see religion as an integrative force in society, helping to preserve the status quo.
- Marxists agree that religion acts in opposition to social change but this is in a negative way i.e. it helps to perpetuate the class system under capitalism

Terrorism and the Politics of Social Change James Dingley, 2016-03-16 Terrorism and political violence have invariably accompanied the progressive modernization of states, a socio-cultural reaction to the problems of social change and development. To understand this phenomenon, it is necessary to consider the nature of traditional society and how it differs from modernity. Starting with a basic history of modern terrorism, James Dingley uses a Durkheimian sociological framework to dissect the role of social relations, culture, and religion in impelling men and women to defend their socio-cultural context with violence against the challenge of external forces. Placing emphasis on a historical and social understanding of violence and key issues such as nationalism, religion, science, the Enlightenment, and Romanticism for understanding terrorism in all its forms, this book allows for a more critical examination of terrorism as a response to changes in the organization and cultural goals in a society. It is a decisive contribution to our understanding of the political and social relevance of terrorism as we know and experience it today.

The Politics of Religion and the Rise of Social Catholicism in Peru (1884-1935) Ricardo Daniel Cubas Ramacciotti, 2017-10-23 In The Politics of Religion and the Rise of Social Catholicism in Peru 1884-1935, Ricardo Cubas Ramacciotti provides a lucid synthesis of the Catholic Church's responses to the secularisation of the State and society, whilst offering a fresh appraisal of the emergence of Social Catholicism and its contribution to social thought and development of civil society in post-independence Peru. Making use of diverse historical sources, Cubas provides a comprehensive view of a reformist yet anti-revolutionary trend within the Peruvian Church that decades before the emergence of Liberation Theology, and under divergent intellectual paradigms, developed an active agenda that addressed the new social problems of the country, including those of urban workers and of indigenous populations.

Politics and Social Change Ishwaran, 2022-09-12 Making Sense of the Secular Ranjan Ghosh, 2013-01-04 This book offers a wide range of critical perspectives on how secularism unfolds and has been made sense of across Europe and Asia. The book evaluates secularism as it exists today, its formations and discontents within contemporary discourses of power, terror, religion, and cosmopolitanism, and the focus on these two continents gives critical attention to recent political and cultural developments.

where secularism and multiculturalism have impinged in deeply problematical ways raising bristling ideological debates within the functioning of modern state bureaucracies Examining issues as controversial as the state of Islam in Europe and China's encounters with religion secularism and modernization provides incisive and broader perspectives on how we negotiate secularism within the contemporary threats of terrorism and other forms of fundamentalism and state politics However amidst the discussions of various versions of secularism in different countries and cultural contexts this book also raises several other issues relevant to the antitheocratic and theocratic alike such as Is secularism merely a nonreligious establishment Is secularism a kind of cultural war How is it related to terror The book at once makes sense of secularism across cultural religious and national borders and puts several relevant issues on the anvil for further investigations and understanding
