Politika I Poetika Sbornik Statei:

Poets of Hope and Despair Ben Hellman, 2018-06-12 an account of the response of the Russian Symbolist poets to the Great War and the Russian revolutions of 1917      Russian Politics and Law, 2008      Jakobsonian Poetics and Slavic Narrative Krystyna Pomorska, 1992 Krystyna Pomorska 1928 1986 a noted specialist of Slavic literature and literary theory is best known for her pioneering work in applying Roman Jakobson's theories of poetics to prose narratives This collection draws together and makes accessible her writings over two decades among them articles appearing in English for the first time She treats a wide range of Slavic literary works including those by Pushkin Tolstoi Pasternak Chekhov and Solzhenitsyn as well as examples from Polish and Ukrainian literature and folklore Forming an intellectual and methodological whole these essays reveal Pomorska's commitment to the principles of Jakobsonian poetics her consistent application of these basic theoretical concepts to the analysis of literary works and her interest in the foundations and history of literary criticism Pomorska explores problems in both poetics of prose as well as poetry and literary theory especially the relationship between biography and myth In addition several studies are devoted to the roots of the variegated intellectual legacy of Roman Jakobson and by extension of Russian Czech structuralism in its various stages of development In Krystyna Pomorska structuralism found a most able practitioner and Jakobson's oeuvre an authoritative exponent and interpreter Her volume a guide book to a major strain in modern criticism will be of great interest to a broad audience of literary theorists and students of Slavic literatures and literature in general      The Unlikely Futurist James Rann, 2020-07-07 In the early twentieth century a group of writers banded together in Moscow to create purely original modes of expression These avant garde artists known as the Futurists distinguished themselves by mastering the art of the scandal and making shocking denunciations of beloved icons With publications such as A Slap in the Face of Public Taste they suggested that Aleksandr Pushkin the founder of Russian literature be tossed off the side of their steamship of modernity Through systematic and detailed readings of Futurist texts James Rann offers the first book length study of the tensions between the outspoken literary group and the great national poet He observes how those in the movement engaged with and invented a new Pushkin who by turns became a founding father to rebel against a source of inspiration to draw from a prophet foreseeing the future and a monument to revive Rann's analysis contributes to the understanding of both the Futurists and Pushkin's complex legacy The Unlikely Futurist will appeal broadly to scholars of Slavic studies especially those interested in literature and modernism      Russian Literature in the Age of Pushkin and Gogol Christine Rydel, 1999 Essays on Russian poets and dramatists who acted as a bridge from Russia's Golden Age to the Silver Age which spanned some thirty years and included Symbolism Decadence and Acmeism and futurism During the spread of the Russian empire many of Russia's poets and dramatists saw active service with the Russian army either voluntarily or involuntarily Discusses the importation of romanticism into Russian writings and the debate on how to create their own Romanticism      Reorientalism Nariman

Skakov, 2025-10-28 It is commonly believed that Stalinism ended a vibrant period in Soviet avant garde art and literature. The triumph of socialist realism in this view curtailed experimentation with aesthetic form and replaced it with a call for clarity, accessibility and ideological conformity. But Stalin's formula: national in form, socialist in content, gave artists an opening for officially sanctioned formal innovation as long as it drew on the national cultures of the Soviet Union. Nariman Skakov offers a new way to understand Soviet modernism, showing how writers and artists looked to the East to renew avant garde experimentalism under Stalin. He traces how figures such as Victor Shklovsky, Aleksandr Rodchenko, Varvara Stepanova, Dziga Vertov and Sergei Eisenstein responded to the Soviet state's ideological demands by engaging with the traditions of the new socialist republics in Central Asia. The concept of national form gave these artists a sanctuary for aesthetic innovation, yet this experimentation relied on exoticization of the strangeness of the Soviet East and a fascination with ethnic others. Recasting Soviet aesthetics from the vantage point of Central Asia, Skakov rethinks orientalism and its relationship to socialism. Challenging conventional narratives of the fate of the Soviet avant garde, Reorientalism provides a deeply original decentering of modernism. AATSEEL's Newsletter, 2001 Monthly Index of Russian Accessions, Library of Congress, Processing Department, 1964 Monthly Index of Russian Accessions, 1964 Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 1988 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities. It fully covers 1,144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6,800 major science and social science journals. Поэтика; сборник статей : [авторы] : Л.
