Wastewater Management Study, 1982      Effects Conservation Tillage On Ground Water Quality Terry J Logan, 2018-01-18 Nowadays the environmental sustainability of the cropping systems is increasingly requested by the consumers Conventional tillage practices totally turning over the soil between the vineyard rows may cause erosion due to rain as well as structure destruction of the soil in the long term Conservation tillage is a soil management technique poorly widespread in Sardinia allowing cover cropping between vineyard rows Furthermore this technique makes the canopy development control of herbage possible by cutting it up during specific phenological phases Conservation tillage usually involves direct benefits to farmers such as increasing soil fertility as well as reduction of tillage costs soil erosion and carbon dioxide CO<sub>2</sub> emissions in the atmosphere This long term trial during at least five years aims to assess the conservation tillage impact on chemical physical soil characteristics in comparison with traditional tillage by evaluating the change of organic matter C E C and availability of major plant nutrients in the soil and to estimate their probable rise The field plots are located in a 35% slope condition vineyard showing massive erosion problem and organic matter low content A split plot design with four replications was set up with the comparison between conservation and traditional tillage apart as main plots Moreover the effects of two different irrigation levels were evaluated in the subplots of each main plot At the beginning of the trial 2011 a pedological survey was made Three soil profiles were described and sampled along the field slope and soil sampling in each plot were made both to characterize the soil and to find the zero point The soil chemical and physical characteristics were monitored through a second soil sampling made at the end of 2013 Conservation tillage caused increasing organic matter content and C E C values As for major plant nutrients in soil results were more uncertain Grapevine yield and quality parameters did not show any negative effect when passing from conventional to conservation tillage techniques The trial provided a preliminary positive evaluation of conservation tillage However more years are required to confirm this trend

Buffalo District,1980      Indexes United States. Environmental Protection Agency,1983      Sediments and Water Interactions Peter G. Sly,2012-12-06 The first symposium on sediment freshwater interactions was held in Amsterdam in 1976 and the second was held at Kingston Ontario Canada in 1981 The third symposium was held at the University of Geneva in 1984 and also included a num ber of contributions dealing with sediment saltwater interactions It is expected that future symposia of this series will retain this approach and that the revised sympo sium title will remain the same for later proceedings of these meetings Because of the large number of submissions in 1984 many were given as poster presentations Extended abstracts of all contributions to the Geneva symposium appear in Interactions Between Sediments and Ubter C E P Consultants Ltd 26 Albany St Edinburgh EH1 3QH U K 1984 Full length papers appear only in the proceedings The format of the third symposium was similar to its predecessors The location provided a particularly good opportunity for attendance by European scientists who represented about 81% of the participants About 16% came from North America and 3% were from Southeast Asia and Australia It is unfortunate that there were no contributors from either Africa or South America or other parts of Asia In all 16 countries were represented at this symposium In a continuing attempt to provide equal opportunities for attendance by scientists from other parts of the world it is planned to hold the next symposium in Australia in 1987 Further information about the symposia series can be obtained from Dr E D      Rural Lakes Alternative Waste Treatment Systems ,1983      Supporting the Generic Environmental Impact Statement for Wastewater Management in Rural Lake Areas Gerald O Peters,1983      Technical Reference Documents Supporting the Generic Environmental Impact Statement for Wastewater Management in Rural Lake Areas ,1983      Annual Report - Great Lakes Environmental Research Laboratory Great Lakes Environmental Research Laboratory,1976      Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1988      State of the Lakes Ecosystem Conference 1996 ,1996
