Predicament Of The University:

Predicament of the University Henry David Aiken,1971 Twenty-First-Century Feminist Classrooms S.

Sánchez-Casal,A. MacDonald,2002-09-13 This book is centrally concerned with crucial theoretical and practical aspects of teaching in the national and global borderlands of gender race and sexuality studies The cross cultural feminist focus of this anthology allows the contributors to consider the various ways in which global and national frameworks intersect in the classroom and in students thinking and also the ways in which power and authority are developed directed and deployed in the feminist classroom This volume provides a critical elaboration of provocative self reflexive questions for feminist cultural and intellectual practice for the 21st century In doing so the volume provides a site for engaged feminist self criticism for the specific purpose of reinvigorating a critical pedagogical practice grounded in multicultural feminist identities The Return of the Galon King Maitrii Aung-Thwin,2011 In late 1930 on a secluded mountain overlooking the rural paddy fields of British Burma a peasant leader named Saya San crowned himself King and inaugurated a series of uprisings that would later erupt into one of the largest anti colonial rebellions in Southeast Asian history Considered an imposter by the British a hero by nationalists and a prophet king by area studies specialists Saya San came to embody traditional Southeast Asia s encounter with European colonialism in his attempt to resurrect the lost throne of Burma The Return of the Galon King analyzes the legal origins of the Saya San story and reconsiders the facts upon which the basic narrative and interpretations of the rebellion are based Aung Thwin reveals how counter insurgency law produced and criminalized Burmese culture contributing to the way peasant resistance was recorded in the archives and understood by Southeast Asian scholars This interdisciplinary study reveals how colonial anthropologists lawyers and scholar administrators produced interpretations of Burmese culture that influenced contemporary notions of Southeast Asian resistance and protest It provides a fascinating case study of how history is treated by the law how history emerges in legal decisions and how the authority of the past is used to validate legal findings Orientalism and Religion Richard King,2013-04-03 Orientalism and Religion offers us a timely discussion of the implications of contemporary post colonial theory for the study of religion Richard King examines the way in which notions such as mysticism religion Hinduism and Buddhism are taken for granted He shows us how religion needs to be reinterpreted along the lines of cultural studies Drawing on a variety of post structuralist and post colonial thinkers such as Foucault Gadamer Said and Spivak King provides us with a challenging series of reflections on the nature of Religious Studies and Indology Error Reduction and Prevention in Surgical Pathology Raouf E. Nakhleh,2015-03-03 Tissue diagnosis in surgical pathology is the most important determinant of patient outcomes in oncology and other medical conditions An appropriate diagnosis of a tumor correctly determines the necessary therapy for that patient Error Reduction and Prevention in Surgical Pathology focuses on how errors happen the best systems to detect errors and the best systems to prevent errors As with any form of testing the test cycle in surgical pathology can be divided into pre analytic collection and handling of specimens analytic the actual determination of disease or other diagnostic information and post analytic generation of reports and distribution Error can occur anywhere in the process and all of these steps must be performed optimally so that the correct diagnosis is made and delivered Error Reduction and Prevention in Surgical Pathology serves as an essential guide to a successfully managed laboratory and contains all relevant information needed to manage patients and deliver the best diagnosis

Perspectives of Mutual Encounters in South Asian History 1760-1860 Jamal

Malik,2000-07-18 Relationships between colonialists and the colonised peoples are often ambivalent but always fascinating This edited volume explores the issues of cultural reciprocity between Europeans and South Asians during the crucial period from 1760 to 1860 In doing so prevailing assumptions about these complex relationships are examined Part I examines a variety of themes in reciprocal encounter such as class structures urban landscape Anglo Muslim cooperation and debates on indigenous values Part II deals with the persons important to the process of reciprocity and discursive interdependence such as orientalist missionaries Indian travellers The texts in the last section focus on the changing and shifting identities thereby revealing the complexity and hybridity of the imperial process The book is based on rich biographical and chronological accounts narrative material and archival data both in occidental and oriental languages

Predicaments of Knowledge

Suren Pillay,2024-09-01 Predicaments of Knowledge explores the difficult questions South African universities face after apartheid Is there a difference between Africanising a university and decolonising a university What about differences between deracialising and decolonising the curricula taught at universities across disciplines Through a range of reflections on race language colonial postcolonial and decolonial knowledge projects from Africa and Latin America this book explores the pitfalls and possibilities that face a post apartheid generation inventing the future of knowledge The distinctions between Africanisation decolonisation and deracialisation are often conflated in the political demands put to universities Suren Pillay emphasises all three as important but distinct imperatives If an intervention is undertaken with the aim of decolonising the university while actually addressing deracialisation it can undermine the effort to decolonise Similarly if an initiative to Africanise the university does not address decolonisation both processes can be undermined Drawing on more than two and a half decades of the author's participation in these debates these essays aim to intervene in and elucidate questions and predicaments rather than offering blue prints they are dialogical in spirit even when polemical in tone In conversation with existing continental African and Latin American experiences they offer incisive reflections on current South African debates

(in)fusion Approach Ranjan Ghosh,2006 In fusion theory challenges efforts to see theory as inhibiting by presenting an approach that is innovative eclectic and subtle in order to draw out competing and constellating ideas and opinions This collected volume of essays examines In fusion theory and demonstrates how the theory can be applied to the reading of various works of Indian English novelists

Storm from Paradise Jonathan Boyarin,1992 Storm from Paradise was first published in 1992 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions Usefully complicating common sense understandings of history catastrophe loss otherness and possibility through reflections on contemporary Jewishness Boyarin draws on Benjamins s famous image of the Angel of History blown into the future by a storm from paradise to constantly interrogate and recuperate the past without pretending for long that we can recoup its plentitude The book s seven thoughtful essays are at times deliberately intangible but always worth reading An important book for the rethinking of the relevance of Jewishness to anthropology and cultural studies Religious Studies Review An essay in the richest sense of that term inspired by and modeled on Walter Benjamin s essays Based on varied diverse and abundantly cross disciplinary readings it moves and builds questions and interrogates and ultimately convinces us that the Jewish experience with being the other and conversely and recently with othering is indeed relevant to theorists of contemporary culture Marianne Hirsch Jonathan Boyarin is the author of Palestine and Jewish History and co editor with Daniel Boyarin of Jews and Other Differences and Powers of Diaspora How Organisational Change Influences Academic Work Sureetha De Silva, Donna Pendergast, Christopher Kloppe, 2022-12-21 Higher education institutions around the globe are facing complex issues that disrupt the usual roles and purposes of centres of learning and research Forces such as globalisation burgeoning knowledge based economies rapid adoption of new technology and global competition are changing the work and lived experiences of academics across the globe This book addresses the unprecedented effects of these global pressures including the COVID 19 pandemic on university work and the resulting opportunity for innovative disruption It presents the voices of 16 Australian university academics framed by standpoint theory which provide a unique perspective and insights into the rapid shifts impacting universities and how these affect academics work lives The stories uncover cases of disappointment and frustration bullying and morale loss alongside positive change and the awareness of the need to change expectations This work informs the development of the Academic Predicament Model APM which points to the erosion of academic professionalism and identifies how such change in university work consequently de professionalises academia in Australia The long term effect is to challenge the place and function of higher education institutions The need for transformation and potential for its outcomes has never been greater nor has the risk that the elements of the Academic Predicament Model will be amplified causing the de professionalising of academia to be further accelerated This book will be of interest to researchers in higher education exploring neoliberalism and its impact on education and academics work Culture Writing Tim Watson, 2018 Culture Writing argues that the period of decolonization witnessed dynamic exchanges between writers and anthropologists on both sides of the Atlantic Watson analyzes writers who engaged professionally with anthropology Barbara Pym Ursula Le Guin Saul Bellow douard Glissant and anthropologists who adopted literary forms Laura Bohannon Michel Leiris and Claude L vi Strauss Cultural Turns Doris Bachmann-Medick, 2016-01-15 The contemporary fields of the study of culture the humanities and the social sciences are unfolding in a dynamic constellation of cultural turns This book provides a comprehensive overview of these theoretically and methodologically groundbreaking reorientations. It discusses the value of the new focuses and their analytical categories for the work of a wide range of disciplines. In addition to chapters on the interpretive performative reflexive postcolonial translational spatial and iconic turns, it discusses emerging directions of research. Drawing on a wealth of international research, this book maps central topics and approaches in the study of culture and thus provides systematic impetus for changed disciplinary and transdisciplinary research in the humanities and beyond, e.g. in the fields of sociology, economics, and the study of religion. This work is the English translation by Adam Blauhut of an influential German book that has now been completely revised. It is a stimulating example of a cross-cultural translation between different theoretical cultures and also the first critical synthesis of cultural turns in the English-speaking world.

The Thinking University Søren S.E. Bengtson, Ronald Barnett, 2018-04-27. This book reinvigorates the philosophical treatment of the nature, purpose, and meaning of thought in today's universities. The wider discussion about higher education has moved from a philosophical discourse to a discourse on social welfare and service, economics, and political agendas. This book reconnects philosophy with the central academic concepts of thought, reason, and critique, and their associated academic practices of thinking and reasoning. Thought in this context should not be considered as a merely mental or cognitive construction, still less a cloistered college, but a fully developed individual and social engagement of critical reflection and discussion with the current pressing disciplinary, political, and philosophical issues. The editors hold that the element of thought and the ability to think in a deep and groundbreaking way is still the essence of the university. But what does it mean to think in the university today? And in what ways is thought related, not only to the epistemological and ontological issues of philosophical debate but also to the social and political dimensions of our globalised age? In many countries, the state is imposing limitations on universities, dismissing or threatening academics who speak out critically. With this volume, the editors ask questions such as: What is the value of thought? What is the university's proper relationship to thought? To give the notion of thought a thorough philosophical treatment, the book is divided into three parts. The focus moves from an epistemological perspective in Part I to a focus on existence and values in higher education in Part II, and then to a societal-oriented focus on the university in Part III. All three parts, in their own ways, debate the notion of thought in higher education and the university as a thinking form of being.

The New Flagship University John Aubrey Douglass, 2016-01-26. The New Flagship University is an expansive vision for leading national universities and an alternative narrative to global rankings and World Class Universities. The Flagship model explores pathways for universities to re-shape their missions and operational features to expand their relevancy in the societies that gave them life and purpose.

Northrop Frye's Canadian Literary Criticism and Its Influence Branko Gorjup, 2009-01-01. Northrop Frye's Canadian Literary Criticism examines the impact of Frye's criticism on Canadian literary scholarship, as well as the response of Frye's peers to his articulation of a Canadian criticism.

Routledge Handbook on Human Rights and the Middle East and North Africa Anthony Tirado Chase, 2016-11-10 Recent events such as Iran's Green Revolution and the Arab Uprisings have exploded notions that human rights are irrelevant to Middle Eastern and North African politics. Increasingly seen as a global concern, human rights are at the fulcrum of the region's on-the-ground politics, transnational intellectual debates, and global political intersections. The Routledge Handbook on Human Rights and the Middle East and North Africa emphasises the need to consider human rights in all their dimensions rather than solely focusing on the political dimension in order to understand the structural reasons behind the persistence of human rights violations. It explores the various frameworks in which to consider human rights: conceptual, political, and transnational. It discusses issue areas subject to particularly intense debate: gender, religion, sexuality, transitions, and accountability. It contains contributions from perspectives that span from global theory to grassroots reflections, emphasising the need for academic work on human rights to seriously engage with the thoughts and practices of those working on the ground. A multidisciplinary approach from scholars with a wide range of expertise allows the book to capture the complex dynamics by which human rights have had or could have an impact on Middle Eastern and North African politics. This book will therefore be a key resource for students and scholars of Middle Eastern and North African politics and society as well as anyone with a concern for Human Rights across the globe.

Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies Theodoros Iosifides, 2011 Recent years have witnessed growing interest in a series of issues related to migration, including identity formation and change, the role of social capital and social networks, ethnic discrimination, racism, and xenophobia, socio-political participation and mobilisation, and the complex nature of the causal mechanisms linked to migration. Issues that are better highlighted and investigated using qualitative methods. Moving away from the quantitative and empiricist/positivist approaches that have often characterised migration research, Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies explores in a concise but comprehensive way the key issues involved in researching migratory phenomena in a qualitative manner. It addresses themes including the basic characteristics of contemporary migration, qualitative research into social processes related to migration, and the relationship between theory, research design, and practice. Drawing upon empirical case studies and a series of real and hypothetical examples, this book develops a critical realist alternative both to empiricism and interpretivist social constructionist and post-structuralist relativism in qualitative migration research. With special emphasis on the meta-theoretical dimensions of qualitative research practice, this volume connects qualitative findings to policy formation and politics, making exploring the multiple dimensions involved in researching migratory phenomena such as ontology, epistemology, methodology, ethics, and research practice. As such, it will be of interest to students and researchers in migration across the social sciences.
