Prejudice In Religion Can We Move Beyond It:

Prejudice in Religion Peter Cornwell, 1997 This is a debate on the historical roots of religious prejudice between Anglicans and Roman Catholics based on the Piccadilly Lectures This book examines the meaning of prejudice is it just the label we give to the convictions of people we don't agree with The book asks if unity is only possible when the sharp edges of conviction are blunted A team of contributors reflect on some of the issues raised by the original lectures The issues go beyond the world of Anglo Roman Catholic relations touching the very foundations of society Advances in the Psychology of Religion Michael Argyle, 2013-10-22 This collection of previously unpublished papers written by well known researchers in the psychology of religion is unique in its broad coverage and in its comparison between quite different and strictly theoretical perspectives The subjects range from theoretical analyses of social science perspectives on religion and its methods to reports of experimental correlational or descriptive studies of religious experience and attitudes The emphasis throughout is on the directions in which this work might move in the future Roman Catholic Saints and Early Victorian Literature Devon Fisher, 2016-04-08 Offering readings of nineteenth century travel narratives works by Tractarians the early writings of Charles Kingsley and the poetry of Alfred Tennyson Devon Fisher examines representations of Roman Catholic saints in Victorian literature to assess both the relationship between conservative thought and liberalism and the emergence of secular culture during the period The run up to Victoria's coronation witnessed a series of controversial liberal reforms While many early Victorians considered the repeal of the Test and Corporation Acts 1828 the granting of civil rights to Roman Catholics 1829 and the extension of the franchise 1832 significant advances for others these three acts signaled a shift in English culture by which authority in matters spiritual and political was increasingly ceded to individuals Victorians from a variety of religious perspectives appropriated the lives of Roman Catholic saints to create narratives of English identity that resisted the recent cultural shift towards private judgment Paradoxically conservative Victorians handling of the saints and the saints lives in their sheer variety represented an assertion of individual authority that ultimately led to a synthesis of liberalism and conservatism and was a key feature of an emergent secular state characterized not by disbelief but by a range of possible beliefs Moving beyond Theoria toward Theosis Justin A. Davis, 2024-06-10 Moving Beyond Theoria Towards Theosis focuses on the telos of man as understood in Plato's theoria envisioned in the allegory of the cave and early Christian reinterpretation of theoria as theosis In his famed allegory of the cave Plato maintains that real life exists beyond our base perceptions of reality and is found in the realm of ideas Theoria is eternal rest in this realm and is understood as the telos of mankind Plato's theoria underwent change as it was reinterpreted under middle Platonic and neo Platonic thought These systems incorporated a more mature idea of the divine than Plato but still minimized the material world This book explores how early Christianity inherited Plato's cosmology and terminology Theoria was also reinterpreted within the Christian context Eventually the term was abandoned for theosis Theosis is beyond theoria as it includes contemplation of the forms as well as union with the source of the forms and the affirmation of the material realm In this volume Justin A Davis shows how the Orthodox use of icons can be key to understanding theosis The icon is a material object that connects to a higher reality and ultimately toward union with the divine Plato's cosmology is collapsed and transfigured in union with the uncreated energy of God Icons are the depiction of spiritual ascesis and the new telos of man theosis

Religion or Belief, Discrimination and Equality Paul Weller, Kingsley Purdam, Nazila Ghanea, Sariya

Cheruvallil-Contractor, 2013-11-07 In recent years controversial issues related to religion or belief discrimination equality and human rights have come to the fore especially in the context of public debates around multiculturalism following the social policy shock created by the impact of violent religious extremism For example should there be restrictions on what people can wear in the work place based on their religious identity Should religious organizations be exempt from aspects of equalities legislation which are not in line with their beliefs and values How should non religious identities be recognized In the context of increasing cultural and religion or belief diversity it is vitally important for the future to understand the nature and extent of discrimination and unfair treatment on the grounds of religion or belief and to assess the adequacy of policies practices and laws designed to tackle this This includes the overlap of religion or belief identities with other aspects of people's identity including characteristics such as age disability race sex and sexual orientation which can also be legally protected This volume is a benchmark publication on religion discrimination and equality It includes data and insights derived from the fieldwork focus groups and questionnaire survey of a recent national research project in Britain Its analysis presents a unique insight into continuity and change in people's reported experience over a decade of equalities legislation and political and social change of unfair treatment on the basis of religion or belief Grounded in empirical and contextualized data its findings are placed in the context of European and international human rights law Its findings will be of special interest to both scholars and practitioners working in the specific fields of education employment the media criminal justice and immigration housing health care social services and funding as well as in the broader fields of religion or belief the law and public policy

Religion, Equality and Employment in Europe Katayoun Alidadi, 2017-06-15 The management of religious and ideological diversity remains a key challenge of our time deeply entangled with debates about the nature of liberal democracy equality social cohesion minorities and nationalism security and foreign policy This book explores this challenge at the level of the workplace in Europe People do not surrender their religion or belief at the gates of their workplace nor should they be required to do so But what are the limits of accommodating religious belief in the workplace particularly when it clashes with other fundamental rights and freedoms Using a comparative and socio legal approach that emphasises the practical role of human rights anti discrimination law and employment protection this book argues for an enforceable right to reasonable accommodation on the grounds of religion and belief in the workplace in Europe In so doing it draws on the case law of Europe's two supranational courts three country studies Belgium the Netherlands and the UK as well as developments in the US and Canada By offering the first book length treatment of the issue it will be of significance to academics students policy makers business leaders and anyone interested in a deeper understanding of the potentials and limits of European and Western inclusion freedom and equality in a multicultural context Awarded an honourable mention from the International Academy of Comparative Law for the 2018 Canada Prize WIRED FOR RACISM? James Woodall, Mark Ellingsen, 2022-08-01 Why is there so much racism in America when most of us claim we are not racists Drawing on evolutionary insights the latest research on the human brain and wisdom from religious traditions Mark Ellingsen and James Woodall explore this question with a unique perspective They detail the ways in which we are in some ways wired for racism but they also show how the elasticity of the brain enables genuine progress particularly when aided by religious practices and best practices of the civil rights movement If you are looking for a way to challenge the racial idolatry and race based thinking that characterizes many of the social legal and economic structures in our world today this is the book for you Figuring Racism in Medieval Christianity M. Lindsay Kaplan, 2019 M Lindsay Kaplan expands the study of the history of racism through an analysis of the medieval Christian concept of Jewish servitude Developed through exegetical readings of Biblical figures in canon law this discourse produces a racial status of hereditary inferiority that justifies the subordination not only of Jews but of Muslims and Africans as well New Faiths, Old Fears Bruce B. Lawrence, 2004-10-20 As a result of immigration from Asia in the wake of the passage of the 1965 Hart Celler Immigration Act the fastest growing religions in America faster than all Christian groups combined are Islam Hinduism Buddhism and Sikhism In this remarkable book a leading scholar of religion asks how these new faiths have changed or have been changed by the pluralist face of American civil society How have these new religious minorities been affected by the deep rooted American ambivalence toward foreign traditions Bruce Lawrence casts a comparativist eye on the American religious scene and explores the ways in which various groups of Asian immigrants have and sometimes have not been integrated into the American polity In the process he offers several important correctives Too often Lawrence argues profiles of Asian American experience focus exclusively on immigrants from East Asia to the exclusion of South Asian and West Asian voices New Faiths Old Fears seeks to make all Asians equally important and to break free of traditional geographic markers most reflecting nineteenth century imperial values that artificially divide the people of the Middle East from the rest of Asia with whom they share certain religious and cultural ties Iranian Americans in particular emerge as a vital bridge group whose experience tells us much about how Asians of many different backgrounds have found their way in their new nation Beyond simply expanding and refining our conception of who Asian Americans are Lawrence draws instructive comparisons between Asian Americans experience and those of Native African and Hispanic Americans exposing undercurrents of racial and class antagonisms He concludes that we cannot fully comprehend the contours and valences of culture and religion in America without understanding how this racialized class prejudice shapes the views of the dominant class toward immigrants and other

Dressler, Arvind Mandair, 2011-10-03 This book conceives of religion making broadly as the multiple ways in which social and cultural phenomena are configured and reconfigured within the matrix of a world religion discourse that is historically and semantically rooted in particular Western and predominantly Christian experiences, knowledges and institutions. It investigates how religion is universalized and certain ideas, social formations and practices rendered religious are thus integrated in and subordinated to very particular, mostly liberal secular assumptions about the relationship between history, politics and religion. The individual contributions written by a new generation of scholars with decisively interdisciplinary approaches examine the processes of translation and globalization of historically specific concepts and practices of religion and its dialectical counterpart, the secular, into new contexts. This volume contributes to the relatively new field of thought that aspires to unravel the thoroughly intertwined relationships between religion and secularism as modern concepts.
