The Cambridge Companion to Brahms Michael Musgrave,1999-05-27 This Companion gives a comprehensive view of the German composer Johannes Brahms 1833-97 Twelve specially commissioned chapters by leading scholars and musicians provide systematic coverage of the composer's life and works Their essays represent recent research and reflect changing attitudes towards a composer whose public image has long been out of date The first part of the book contains three chapters on Brahms's early life in Hamburg and on the middle and later years in Vienna The central section considers the musical works in all genres while the last part of the book offers personal accounts and responses from a conductor Roger Norrington a composer Hugh Wood and an editor of Brahms's original manuscripts Robert Pascall The volume as a whole is an important addition to Brahms scholarship and provides indispensable information for all students and enthusiasts of Brahms's music

The Musical Standard, 1879 The Penguin Companion to Classical Music Paul Griffiths,2004-10-07 This superbly authoritative new work provides a comprehensive A-Z guide to some 1000 years of Western music It explores in detail the lives and achievements of a vast range of composers as well as looking at such key topics as music history from medieval plainchant to contemporary minimalism performers theory and jargon Through Griffiths skilfully blends lightly worn scholarship with personal insight whether examining the emotional colouring that different musical keys achieve or charting the rise and development of the symphony The Bach Choir: The First Hundred Years Basil Keen,2017-07-05 This study of the Bach Choir provides a much needed overview of one of the major choral societies in London Dr Basil Keen examines the background that led to the formation of an ad hoc body to give the first performance in England of J S Bach's B minor Mass. The musical and organizational effects of a permanent choral society drawn from one social group are traced during the first twenty years after such time the pressures of social change led to a complete review followed by a restructuring of the methods of recruitment and internal organization. The rebuilding of the choir at the opening of the twentieth century, the expansion of the repertoire, the upheaval resulting from the First World War and the impact of these events on preparation and performance are all considered. The book is essentially structured around the tenure of successive Musical Directors: Otto Goldschmidt, Charles Villiers, Stanford Walford Davies, Hugh Allen, Ralph Vaughan Williams, Adrian Boult, Reginald Jacques and David Willcocks, since their varied tastes and interests inevitably had a decisive influence on policy. Keen draws upon previously unpublished material including minutes and correspondence of the Bach Choir, interviews with relatives and descendants and examination of family records and correspondence. To date there has been no survey of a major London choir that encompasses the full history of the organization in context. In this study Dr Basil Keen provides a thorough examination of the Bach Choir, including the response of the choir to social changes, the influence of conductors and officials, changes in musical taste, relationships with composers and composition, major national and international events and the effect of these matters on organization and repertoire.
