funding bodies with many now considering the active involvement of children and young people a requirement There is little exploration of how to address and overcome the many challenges arising from their participation however Divided into five parts this practical book begins by considering what research with young people is and why we should do it before leading the reader into how to undertake it The book then provides practical examples of action and finishes with reflections about the whole process Bringing together a variety of experienced researchers from a wide range of backgrounds in health and social care and including young people the chapters provide insight for practical action as well as critical and theoretical reflection Involving Children and Young People in Health and Social Care Research includes issues on Understanding the reasons and processes for involving children and young people in research Making sure that involvement is meaningful and not merely tokenistic Developing research methods that are commensurate with different ages and abilities Ensuring adequate training and preparation for children young people and adults to make involvement meaningful Power and relationships between young people researchers and adult researchers Sustaining young people s interest and motivation Addressing ethical issues that arise throughout the research journey Committed to partnership and participation throughout the entire process of the active involvement of children and young people in health and social care research this text provides invaluable insights and is a resource for all those conducting research in and with children and young people Working with Children, Young People and Families Graham Brotherton, Helen Davies, Gillian McGillivray, 2010-10-15 Written from a unique interprofessional perspective this book is an essential introduction to working with children young people and families It covers policy practice and theory exploring key themes and developments including poverty and disadvantage ethical practice child development education child protection children and young people s rights doing research The book introduces students to a range of theoretical perspectives links the key themes to the existing and emerging policy and practice context and supports students in engaging with and evaluating the central debates With case studies reflective questions and sources of further reading this is an ideal text for students taking courses in childhood studies working with children young people and families interprofessional children s services early years youth work and social work Costs and Outcomes in Children's Social Care Jennifer Beecham, Ian Sinclair, 2007 This text presents the findings of a set of original research studies and reports on the way that care services for children are delivered the cost of providing services and the extent to which they improve outcomes for children It also looks at services provided by the statutory and examines how resources are distributed Children, Young People and Online Harms Emily Setty, Faith Gordon, Emma Nottingham, 2024-02-23 This book presents research conducted with children and young people about online harms with a UK focus while aiming to stimulate comparative analyses of other countries too While the chapters vary in how data driven they are each will explore conceptualisations of online harm children and young people s experiences of online harms and their perspectives on interventions to educate about and address online harms While the UK government claimed in 2019 to be introducing tough new measures to make the UK the safest place to be online it has been noted that there may be a limited capacity for formal legislation to address the complexities of contemporary digital life for children and young people instead tackling online harms has to be part of a broader agenda and must account for the diverse and socially contingent nature of children's and young people's experiences online as evidenced by extensive research undertaken with children and young people With the finalisation of legislation surrounding online harms in the UK imminent the objective of this collection is to shape the implementation of policy in practice settings To support practice development the book offers vignette style pieces that will describe examples of policy and practice models and how these models can support children's and young people's active participation in understanding online harms As a result of this the findings of this book will minimise the disparity between the practice policy and research through speaking to the interface between these fields in the UK context
