Recent Excavations Of Textiles In China:

Chinese Silk S. J. Vainker, 2004 The Art and Archaeology of Human Engagements with Birds of Prey Robert J. Wallis, 2023-10-05 Of all avian groups birds of prey in particular have long been a prominent subject of fascination in many human societies This book demonstrates that the art and materiality of human engagements with raptors has been significant through deep time and across the world from earliest prehistory to Indigenous thinking in the present day Drawing on a wide range of global case studies and a plurality of complementary perspectives it explores the varied and fluid dynamics between humans and birds of prey as evidenced in this diverse art historical and archaeological record From their depictions as powerful beings in visual art and their important roles in Indigenous mythologies to the significance of their body parts as active agents in religious rituals the intentional deposition of their faunal remains and the display of their preserved bodies in museums there is no doubt that birds of prey have been figures of great import for the shaping of human society and culture However several of the chapters in this volume are particularly concerned with looking beyond the culture nature dichotomy and human centred accounts to explore perspectival and other post humanist thinking on human raptor ontologies and epistemologies The contributors recognize that human raptor relationships are not driven exclusively by human intentionality and that when these species meet they relate to and become with one another This raptor with human focused approach allows for a productive re framing of questions about human raptor interstices enables fresh thinking about established evidence and offers signposts for present and future intra actions with birds of prey Crusading and Trading between West and East Sophia Menache, Benjamin Z. Kedar, Michel Balard, 2018-10-26 For almost sixty years Professor David Jacoby devoted his research to the economic social and cultural history of the Eastern Mediterranean and this new collection reflects his impact on the study of the interactions between the Italian city states Byzantium the Latin East and the realm of Islam Contributors to this volume are prominent scholars from across Medieval Studies and leading historians of the younger generation Newsletter, East Asian Art & Archaeology, 2003 Silk Berit Hildebrandt, 2017-02-28 Already in Greek and Roman antiquity a vibrant series of exchange relationships existed between the Mediterranean regions and China including the Indian subcontinents along well defined routes we call the Silk Roads Among the many goods that found their way from East to West and vice versa were glass wine spices metals like iron precious stones as well as textile raw materials and fabrics and silk a luxury item that was in great demand in the Roman Empire These collected papers connect research from different areas and disciplines dealing with exchange along the Silk Roads These historical philological and archaeological contributions highlight silk as a commodity gift and tribute and as a status symbol in varying cultural and chronological contexts between East and West including technological aspects of silk production The main period concerns Rome and China in antiquity ending in the late fifth century CE with the Roman Empire being transformed into the Byzantine Empire while the Chinese chronology covers the Han dynasty the Three Kingdoms the Western and Eastern Jin and Sixteen

Kingdoms ending in 420 CE In addition both earlier and later epochs are also considered in order to gather an understanding of developments and changes in long distance and longer term relations that involved silk Science and Civilisation in China, Part 9, Textile Technology: Spinning and Reeling Joseph Needham, Dieter Kuhn, 1988-06-09 This study the first of two parts gives a comprehensive account of Chinese textiles and textile technology and deals with the evolution of bast fibre spinning and silk reeling in the history of China These operations are the basic techniques in the production of yarn and thread pre requisite to weaving and any study of Chinese textile technology must start with the raw material obtained from fibre plants such as hemp ramie jute cotton etc and silk reeled off from cocoons of the domestic silkworm The time span covered runs from the neolithic to the nineteenth century Archaeological and pictorial evidence the bulk of it hitherto unpublished in the West is brought together with Chinese textual sources which are extensively translated and interpreted to illustrate Chinese achievements in this field Professor Kuhn s study reveals the way in which Chinese textile technological inventiveness has influenced textile production in other regions of the world and in medieval Europe It explains how textile technology reached its high point between the tenth and thirteenth centuries and attempts to indicate the reasons for its subsequent relative decline The development of the textile industry in Europe was a key factor in the rise of capitalism In the case of China after Sung times textile technology and the organisation of textile labour may help indicate why such a development did not take place in China

Transcending Patterns Mariachiara Gasparini, 2019-11-30 In Transcending Patterns Silk Road Cultural and Artistic Interactions through Central Asian Textiles Mariachiara Gasparini investigates the origin and effects of a textile mediated visual culture that developed at the heart of the Silk Road between the seventh and fourteenth centuries Through the analysis of the Turfan Textile Collection in the Museum of Asian Art in Berlin and more than a thousand textiles held in collections worldwide Gasparini discloses and reconstructs the rich cultural entanglements along the Silk Road between the coming of Islam and the rise of the Mongol Empire from the Tarim to Mediterranean Basin Exploring in detail the iconographic transfer between different agents and different media from Central Asian caves to South Italian churches the author depicts and describes the movement and exchange of portable objects such as sculpture wall painting and silk fragments across the Asian continent and across the ages Gasparini s history offers critical perspectives that extend far beyond an outmoded notion of Silk Road studies Her cross media work shows readers how certain material cultures are connected not only by the physical routes they take but also because of the meanings and interpretations these objects engage in various places Transcending Patterns is at once art history material and visual cultural history Asian studies conservatory studies and linguistics

Empire of Style BuYun Chen, 2019-07-12 Tang dynasty 618 907 China hummed with cosmopolitan trends Its capital at Chang an was the most populous city in the world and was connected via the Silk Road with the critical markets and thriving cultures of Central Asia and the Middle East In Empire of Style BuYun Chen reveals a vibrant fashion system that emerged through the efforts of Tang artisans wearers and critics of clothing Across the empire elite men and women subverted regulations on dress to acquire majestic silks and au courant designs as shifts in economic and social structures gave rise to what we now recognize as precursors of a modern fashion system a new consciousness of time a game of imitation and emulation and a shift in modes of production This first book on fashion in premodern China is informed by archaeological sources paintings figurines and silk artifacts and textual records such as dynastic annals poetry tax documents economic treatises and sumptuary laws Tang fashion is shown to have flourished in response to a confluence of social economic and political changes that brought innovative weavers and chic court elites to the forefront of history Art History Publication Initiative For more information visit http://arthistorypi.org/books/empire_of_style

China James C. Y. Watt, 2004 In the great tradition of publications on Chinese art from the Metropolitan Museum China Dawn of a Golden Age will become an essential text for years to come This book is the catalogue for a major exhibition at The Metropolitan Museum of Art October 5 2004 to January 23 2005 Chinese Wood Sculptures of the 11th to 13th centuries Petra Rösch, 2007-11-16 Chinese Buddhist wooden sculptures of Water moon Guanyin a Bodhisattva sitting in a leisurely reclining pose on a rocky throne are housed in Western collections and are thus removed from their original contexts Not only are most of them of unknown origin but also lack a precise date Tracing their sources is difficult because of the scant information provided by art dealers in previous periods Thus only preliminary investigations into their stylistic development and technical features have been made so far Moreover until recently none of the Chinese temples that provided their original context i e their precise position within those temple compounds and their respective place in the Buddhist pantheon have been examined at all In her study Petra H R sch investigates these very aspects including questions about the religious position and function of the sculptures of this special Bodhisattva She also looks at the technical construction the collecting of Chinese Buddhist sculptures in general and those made of wood in particular She uses a combination of stylistic iconographical buddhological as well as technical methodologies in her investigation of the Water moon Guanyin images and sheds light on the Buddhist temples in Shanxi Province the works of art they once housed and the religious practices of the eleventh to thirteenth centuries connected with them
