Religion And Environmental Crisis:

Religion and Environmental Crisis Eugene C. Hargrove, 1986 Caring for Creation Max Oelschlaeger, 1996-01-01 Argues that religion blamed for contributing to the ecological crisis provides an ethical context that will help solve the problem The approach suggests that the environmentally positive aspects in various Western creation stories demonstrate religion Environmental Crisis and Hindu Religion O. P. Dwivedi, Bholānātha Tivārī, 1987 Religion and Ecological Crisis Todd LeVasseur, Anna Peterson, 2016-07-01 In 1967 Lynn White Jr s seminal article The Historical Roots of Our Ecologic Crisis was published essentially establishing the academic study of religion and nature White argues that religions particularly Western Christianity are a major cause of worldwide ecological crises He then asserts that if we are to halt let alone revert anthropogenic damages to the environment we need to radically transform religious cosmologies White s hugely influential thesis has been cited thousands of times in a variety of disciplines including but not limited to religious studies environmental ethics history ecological science philosophy psychology and anthropology In practical terms the ecological crisis to which White was responding has only worsened in the decades since the article was published This collection of original essays by leading scholars in a variety of interdisciplinary settings including religion and nature environmental ethics animal studies ecofeminism restoration ecology and ecotheology considers the impact of White s arguments offering constructive criticism as well as reflections on the ongoing ever changing scholarly debate about the way religion and culture contribute to both environmental crises and to their possible solutions Religion and Ecological Crisis addresses a wide range of topics related to White s thesis including its significance for environmental ethics and philosophy the response from conservative Christians and evangelicals its importance for Asian religious traditions ecofeminist interpretations of the article and which perspectives might have ultimately been left out of his analysis This book is a timely reflection on the legacy and continuing challenge of White s influential article Religion and Ecological Crisis Md. Abu Sayem, 2022-09-02 Religion and Ecological Crisis delves into the complex relationship between religions and ecology presenting Christian and Islamic perspectives on ecological issues through the work of John Boswell Cobb and Seyyed Hossein Nasr It examines how faith traditions of the world see and respond to our current unprecedented climate change issues This is the first comparative study of Cobb and Nasr s eco religious understanding and explores how their prescriptions can contribute alternatively to techno scientific initiatives in environmental sustainability Taking Cobb s economism and Nasr s scientism as the key concepts for surveying the roots of the ecological crisis the book offers interdisciplinary and interreligious insights into the debates about ecological equilibrium motivational awareness in human mind and about entanglements between religion and the environment This will be an insightful resource for policy makers faith leaders and for academics working in Environmental Studies and Religious Studies Morality and the Environmental Crisis Roger S. Gottlieb, 2019-02-21 The environmental crisis creates an unprecedented moral predicament how to be a good person when our collective and individual actions contribute to immeasurable devastation and suffering Drawing on an extraordinary range of sources from philosophy political theory global religion ecology and contemporary spirituality Roger S. Gottlieb explores the ethical ambiguities challenges and opportunities we face Engagingly written intellectually rigorous and forcefully argued this volume investigates the moral value of nature the possibility of an ecological democracy how we treat animals the demands and limits of individual responsibility and collective political change contemporary ambiguities of rationality and how to face environmental despair In Morality and the Environmental Crisis Gottlieb combines compassion for the difficulties of contemporary moral life with an unflinching ethical commitment to awareness and action

A Greener Faith Roger S. Gottlieb, 2009-10 world making political agenda that far exceeds interest group politics applied to forests and toxic incinerators Rather religious environmentalism offers an all inclusive vision of what human beings are and how we should treat each other and the rest of life Gottlieb analyzes the growing synthesis of the movement's religious social and political aspects as well as the challenges it faces in consumerism fundamentalism and globalization

Inherited Land Whitney A. Bauman, Richard R. Bohannon, Kevin J. O'Brien, 2011-08-04 Religion and ecology has arrived What was once a niche interest for a few academics concerned with environmental issues and a few environmentalists interested in religion has become an established academic field with classic texts graduate programs regular meetings at academic conferences and growing interest from other academics and the mass media Theologians ethicists sociologists and other scholars are engaged in a broad dialogue about the ways religious studies can help understand and address environmental problems including the sorts of methodological terminological and substantive debates that characterize any academic discourse This book recognizes the field that has taken shape reflects on the ways it is changing and anticipates its development in the future The essays offer analyses and reflections from emerging scholars of religion and ecology each addressing her or his own specialty in light of two questions 1 What have we inherited from the work that has come before us and 2 What inquiries concerns and conversation partners should be central to the next generation of scholarship The aim of this volume is not to lay out a single and clear path forward for the field Rather the authors critically reflect on the field from within outline some of the major issues we face in the academy and offer perspectives that will nurture continued dialogue

Religion and Ecological Crisis Todd LeVasseur, Anna Peterson, 2016-07-01 In 1967 Lynn White Jr.'s seminal article The Historical Roots of Our Ecologic Crisis was published essentially establishing the academic study of religion and nature White argues that religions particularly Western Christianity are a major cause of worldwide ecological crises He then asserts that if we are to halt let alone revert anthropogenic damages to the environment we need to radically transform religious cosmologies White s hugely influential thesis has been cited thousands of times in a variety of disciplines including but not limited to religious studies environmental ethics history ecological science philosophy psychology and anthropology In practical terms the ecological crisis to which White was responding has only worsened in the decades since the article was published This collection of original essays by leading scholars in a variety of interdisciplinary settings including religion and nature environmental ethics animal studies ecofeminism restoration ecology and ecotheology considers the impact of White s arguments offering constructive criticism as well as reflections on the ongoing ever changing scholarly debate about the way religion and culture contribute to both environmental crises and to their possible solutions Religion and Ecological Crisis addresses a wide range of topics related to White s thesis including its significance for environmental ethics and philosophy the response from conservative Christians and evangelicals its importance for Asian religious traditions ecofeminist interpretations of the article and which perspectives might have ultimately been left out of his analysis This book is a timely reflection on the legacy and continuing challenge of White s influential article Ecology and Religion in History David Spring,Eileen Spring,1974 Worldly Wonder Mary Evelyn Tucker,2011-04-15 History illustrates the power of religion to bring about change Mary Evelyn Tucker describes how world religions have begun to move from a focus on God human and human human relations to encompass human earth relations She argues that in light of the environmental crisis religion should move from isolated orthodoxy to interrelated dialogue and use its authority for liberation rather than oppression The Environment and Christian Ethics Michael S. Northcott,1996-09-28 A new approach to environmental ethics from within the Christian tradition Environmental Solidarity Pablo Martínez de Anguita,2012-05-23 The past few decades have seen the beginnings of a convergence between religions and ecological movements The environmental crisis has called the religions of the world to respond by finding their voice within the larger Earth community At the same time a certain religiosity has started to emerge in some areas of secular ecological thinking Beyond mere religious utilitarianism rooted in an understanding of the deepest connections between human beings their worldviews and nature itself this book tries to show how religious believers can look at the world through the eyes of faith and find a broader paradigm to sustain sustainability proposing a model for transposing this paradigm into practice so as to develop long term sustainable solutions that can be tested against reality Managing the Environmental Crisis in Ghana Kwasi Nyamekye,2014-11-19 Due to the strong inroads that Western scientism and Western Christianity have made in Africa as a result of colonialism post colonial African governments have tended to rely solely on Western scientific conservation epistemologies and models to the neglect of those of the Indigenous African peoples in addressing their environmental problems However there is enough evidence that neither modern scientific nor indigenous epistemologies and modes of addressing current ecological problems ar Religion and Ecology Mary Evelyn Tucker,2001 Church, Cosmovision, and the Environment Evan Berry, 2018 Though currently only partially understood evolving interactions among Latin American communities of faith governments and civil societies are a key feature of the popular mobilizations and policy debates about environmental issues in the region This edited collection describes and analyses multiple types of religious engagement with environmental concerns and conflicts seen in modern Latin American democracies This volume contributes to scholarship on the intersections of religion with environmental conflict in a number of ways Firstly it provides comparative analysis of the manner in which diverse religious actors are currently participating in transnational national and local advocacy in places such as Peru Argentina Brazil Bolivia Ecuador Guatemala and Mexico It also considers the diversity of an often plural religious engagement with advocacy including Catholic Evangelical and Pentecostal perspectives alongside the effects of indigenous cosmological ideas Finally this book explores the specific religious sources of seemingly unlikely new alliances and novel articulations of rights social justice and ethics for the environmental concerns of Latin America The relationship between religion and environmental issues is an increasingly important topic in the conversations around ecology and climate change This book is therefore a pertinent and topical work for any academic working in Religious Studies Environmental Studies and Latin American Studies

Habitat of Grace Carolyn M. King, 2002 In 1990 the Worldwatch Institute in Washington estimated that humankind had forty years to make the transition to an environmentally stable society If we have not succeeded by then it concluded environmental deterioration and economic decline are likely to be feeding on each other pulling us into a downward spiral of social disintegration Worldwatch is no millenarian cult but a sober and careful organisation whose annual summaries of world affairs have become the planet's unofficial environmental health reports Its pronouncements are cautiously worded influential and worth attending to even if the timing is hard to predict This book uses the issues raised in these reports to look at biology the environmental crisis and theological response to it all by developing a new theology of creation Based on her scientific background in the biological sciences King brings together biology and theology It covers science religion and environment human nature and develops a theology of creation The author teaches at the University of Waikato in New Zealand

Healing the Earth Richard A. Young, 1994 Christianity has been charged with being a key factor in the environmental crises experienced across the world Young considers these charges in the light of a biblical understanding of creation and humankind's place therein and argues that when Scripture is properly interpreted the God centered perspective that results actually provides the best foundation for confronting and solving environmental problems
