Henry Davenport Northrop, Joseph R. Gay, Irvine Garland Penn, 1896      Myself and Other Strangers Rick Anthony, 2016-04-11

Myself and Other Strangers by Rick Anthony

Myself and Other Strangers is as the author notes in his preface a midlife confessional and an autobiographical outpouring that invites the reader into a man's interior life one that proves to be both chaotic and entertaining Facing a classic midlife crisis at the height of the 1990s Rick Anthony embarked on a course that changed his life on many levels His struggles experiences and thoughts are shared frankly with a wry wit that softens some of the hard lessons learned Anthony dares to share what many hide doubts and weaknesses impulses and hesitations and most of all genuine emotions Written as a series of brief essays Myself and Other Strangers is about coming to grips with who you are no matter where you are in life      All is Burning Jean Arasanayagam, 1995

In these stories Jean Arasanayagam brings us voices that are not normally heard those of anonymous men and women searching for order and reason in the midst of a ruthless civil war While many succumb to the horror of their times there are others who discover in themselves unexpected reserves that will help them survive Thus a young Sinhala man turns his back on an aimless upper class existence and joins a group of Tamil refugees smuggling themselves into Germany a woman goes out alone to see the scene of a carnage to try and find her daughter's lover among the dead and dying a maid returns from the rich desert city of Doha to the green half jungle of her village in northern Sri Lanka and rediscovers happiness despite the uncertain future In addition to stories about the effects of war and violence this collection also explores aspects of ethnicity and individual choice in a multicultural society All is Burning is truth telling at its poignant best Jean Arasanayagam's writing contains some of the most powerful and truthful stories to come out of Sri Lanka She is a wonderful writer and should be read everywhere Jean Arasanayagam is one of the most significant voices writing in Sri Lanka today Her fiction is deeply political in the very best sense of the word concerned as it is with personal politics of post colonial identity Her luminous prose enables her to go straight to the core of her characters social and personal dilemmas Professor John Thieme Department of English The University of Hull      How to Make Friends as an Introvert Nate Nicholson, 2015-03-19 and social connection the internal factors that enable us to make the decisions that shape our lives and through our actions realize the ends embedded in our decisions how our memories shape our thought processes and therefore the choices we make and the lives we lead that result from them what makes it possible for us to live comfortably with and depend on people we do not know concern for the welfare of strangers and how our welfare can be secure in a world where we do not care about others and they do not care about us
