Nationalism And Ethnicity In The Horn Of Africa:

Nationalism and Ethnicity in the Horn of Africa Dominique Jacquin-Berdal, 2002 Dr Jacquin Berdal has given us a cogent and lucid defence of a modernist international relations perspective on nationalism In contrast to current preoccupations with ethnicity she demonstrates through a rich and detailed empirical analysis of Eritrea and Somaliland separatism that the colonial territorial state provided the causal basis and motor for the rise of these and other African nationalisms This book is an important and timely contribution to the theoretical literature on nationalism and to our understanding of contemporary politics in the Horn of Africa It is important for two reasons First since the end of the cold war the proposition that nations and hence successful nation states invariably spring from an ethnic core has too often gone unchallenged Those who hold this position tend to regard it almost as a self evident truth As Dominique Jacquin Berdal s analysis impressively demonstrates it is not Secondly most students of nationalism whether they insist on the ethnic ancestry of the modern nation or view it as an essentially modern construct implicitly agree that the roots of the nation and nationalism lie within society rather than outside it S Subnationalism in Africa Joshua Forrest, 2004 This examination of the politics of ethnicity and nation building in Africa stresses the trend towards subnationalist autonomy and away from a singular state centric system based on the Western model Forrest ranges across the continent to explore a variety of subnational movements

Ethnicity and Nationalism in Africa P. Yeros, 2016-07-27 Ethnicity and Nationalism in Africa features a series of constructivist contributions by leading scholars in the field of ethnicity and nationalism and explores the differences among those who have come to be known as constructivists The contributors reflect upon ongoing methodological debates in ethnography historiography and political theory They demonstrate the diversity of concepts and methods within constructivism and assess the political implications of the concepts themselves The debate between them is inter disciplinary critical and innovative and should be of value to anyone interested in the study of ethnicity and nationalism Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict Berch Berberoglu, 2005-12-13 This book examines the origins and development of nationalism and national movements in the twentieth century and provides an analysis of the nature and dynamics of nationalism and ethnic conflict in a variety of national settings Examining the intricate relationship between class state and nation the book attempts to develop a critical approach to the study of nationalism and ethnonational conflict within the broader context of class relations and class struggles in the age of globalization The book consists of three parts made up of seven chapters Part I examines classical and contemporary conventional and Marxist theories of nationalism Part II provides a series of empirical comparisons of nationalism and ethnic conflict on a world scale focusing on the Third World the advanced capitalist countries and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union A highlight of this section of the book is a detailed comparative case study of the Palestinian and Kurdish nationalism and national movements Part III provides a political analysis of the relationship between class state and nation and lays out the class nature of nationalism and the role of the state in ethnonational conflicts that are the political manifestations of deeper class struggles that have been the driving force of nationalism and ethnic conflict in the era of globalization Berberoglu contends that future studies of nationalism and ethnonational conflict must pay closer attention to the dynamics of class forces that are behind the ideology of nationalism by examining national movements in class terms For only through a careful class analysis of these forces and their ideological edicts will we be able to clearly understand the nature of nationalism and ethnonational conflicts around the world Ethnic Conflict in the Horn of Geopolitics is one of the first books to analyse the global geopolitical landscape from an African perspective with a view to the opportunities and challenges facing the African continent Authors in this edited volume argue for the need to re imagine Africa s role in the world As a cradle of humanity a historical fountain of profound scientific knowledge an object of colonial conquest and today a collective of countries seeking to pool their sovereignties in order to improve the human condition Africa has a unique opportunity to advance its own interests Authors re ect on all these issues they outline how developments in the global political economy impact on the continent and inversely how Africa can develop a strategic perspective that takes into account the dynamics playing out in a fraught global terrain Central to this evaluation is the notion of island Africa a vast island with resources that extend into the oceans around it that is a strategic centre by virtue of its geographic location its endowments and its long term potential Authors assert that the positioning of island Africa presents unique political security and geo economic bene ts Yet they also acknowledge that as has happened historically these very advantages can serve as a basis for new forms of domination and exploitation In addition this volume takes into account the socio psychological factors that in uence how nations of the world receive and interpret the present and assess prospects for the future The authors go beyond analysis of what is to venture concrete proposals on what can be with Africa exercising its agency This requires the strengthening of continental integration and cohesion in pursuit of ideals that the African Union has enshrined in Agenda 2063 In this way Africa would be able to engage in a systemic and disciplined manner with external powers to assert the continent s own interests which in their framing are also the interests of humanity A continent united in both purpose and action can be an active agent in shaping the evolving global order This volume makes a strong case for precisely such a perspective and contributes to what should be an ongoing effort to analyse geopolitics with Africa as a critical frame of reference

The Saho of Eritrea Abdul Kader Saleh Mohammed, 2013 This book presents an analysis of the identity of the agro pastoral Saho community in Eritrea which was cemented during centuries of confrontation with Abyssinian rulers and by their rebellion against external domination It examines the emergence of the Saho's national consciousness and the process of political identity formation during the British Military Administration in competition with the pro Ethiopian Unionist Party The book describes the active participation of the Saho in the national liberation struggle of Eritrea and it evaluates the impact of post independence policies of the Eritrean People's Liberation Front People's Front for Democracy and Justice on the Saho community Series African Politics Politiques Africaines Vol 5 A History of Water, Series III, Volume 2: Sovereignty and International Water Law Terje Tvedt, Tadesse Kasse Woldetsadik, Owen McIntyre, 2015-05-30 As global climate change threatens to change radically both the political and physical climate with regard to water issues so a reassessment of some of the fundamental principles of international water law is emerging One of the most important principles being reassessed is the sovereign equality of states This volume brings together more than thirty leading international water and legal specialists to explore the development and changing relationship between water state sovereignty and international law Offering fresh insights into one of the most pressing issues in global water policy Sovereignty and International Water Law will form an essential reference for water professionals legal specialists and policy makers alike

The 1998-2000 Eritrea-Ethiopia War and Its Aftermath in International Legal Perspective Andrea de Guttry, Harry H. G. Post, Gabriella Venturini, 2021-04-01 This book centres on the war that raged between Eritrea and Ethiopia from 1998 to 2000 a war that caused great loss of life and tremendous devastation It analyses the war in great detail from an international legal perspective the nature and the state of the boundary conflict preceding the actual armed conflict the military actions themselves the role of the UN peace keeping mission the responsibility for the multitude of explosive remnants of the war left behind Ample attention is paid to the decisions of the Eritrea Ethiopia Claims Commission and the Eritrea Ethiopia Boundary Commission This study is not limited to the war and the period immediately following it it also examines its more extended aftermath prolonging the analysis as far as the more recent improvement in the relations between Eritrea and Ethiopia away from a situation of no war no peace that prevailed after the armed conflict ended The analysis of the war and its aftermath is not only in terms of international legal issues it has been placed in a wider than strictly legal perspective The book is a valuable work for academics and practitioners in international law human rights and humanitarian law in particular for political scientists diplomats civil servants historians and all those others seriously interested in the Horn of Africa Andrea de Guttry is Full Professor of Public International Law at the Scuola Superiore Sant Anna in Pisa Italy Harry H G Post is Adjunct Professor in the Facult Libre de Droit of the Universit Catholique de Lille in Lille France Gabriella Venturini is Professor Emerita in the Dipartimento di Studi internazionali giuridici e storico politici of the State Crises, Globalisation and National Movements in North-East Africa Asafa Jalata, 2004-08-02 By identifying the critical central contradictions that are built into the politics of the Horn of Africa this book demonstrates that the crises of the Horn states stem from their political behaviour and structural forces such as internal social forces and global forces that have become involved on the sides of these states without requiring accountability the rule of law or the implementation of at least limited democracy The contributors provide a deep understanding of structural and conjunctural forces that have interacted in the processes of state power the role of intervention of global powers and the consequent failure to build state as a public domain The book also enriches our social scientific knowledge that is essential to develop pragmatic policy measures to address these problems

Ethnicity and Sociopolitical Change in Africa and Other Developing Countries Santosh C. Saha, 2008-03-07 This edited collection of essays answers a basic question posed by contemporary discourse on state building How might people's identification with a particular ethnic group matter Essays in this book use an integrated multi disciplinary approach to understanding regional and local community culture and socio political development in developing countries especially in Sub Saharan Africa to argue that the state as well as civil society confers on cultural differences a legitimacy that can be achieved in no other way but by positive cooperation Contributors from different countries look at local patterns in state building and modernization as they have unfolded over the course of the last fifty years They claim that the people and ethnic groups in most developing countries adhere to a concept of popular sovereignty that testifies that aspects of positive and moral ethnicity can contribute to social change as in China economic development as in India or in a democratization process as in Rwanda and Burundi The eventual methodological assumption made by these essays presumes that ethnic conflicts in such countries as Cyprus Turkey India and Rwanda have no moral sanction ethnicity has not assumed a political ideology One conclusion reached by the contributors is that some form of accommodation between opposing ethnically diversified groups as well as between state and ethnic elements is feasible
