We are a People Paul R. Spickard, W. Jeffrey Burroughs, 2000 As the twentieth century closes ethnicity stands out as a powerful force for binding people together in a sense of shared origins and worldview But this emphasis on a people s uniqueness can also develop into a distorted rationale for insularity inter ethnic animosity or as we have seen in this century armed conflict Ethnic identity clearly holds very real consequences for individuals and peoples yet there is not much agreement on what exactly it is or how it is formed The growing recognition that ethnicity is not fixed and inherent but elastic and constructed fuels the essays in this collection Regarding identity as a dynamic on going formative and transformative process We Are a People considers narrative the creation and maintenance of a common story as the keystone in building a sense of peoplehood Myths of origin triumph over adversity migration and so forth chart a group s history while continual additions to the larger narrative stress moving into the future as a people Still there is more to our stories as individuals and groups Most of us are aware that we take on different roles and project different aspects of ourselves depending on the situation Some individuals who have inherited multiple group affiliations from their families view themselves not as this or that but all at once So too with ethnic groups The so called hyphenated Americans are not the only people in the world to recognize or embrace their plurality This relatively recent acknowledgment of multiplicity has potentially wide implications destabilizing the limited and limiting categories inscribed in for example public policy and discourse on race relations

We Are a People is a path breaking volume boldly illustrating how ethnic identity works in the real world Author note Paul Spickard is Professor and Chair of Asian American Studies at UC Santa Barbara and is author of Mixed Blood W Jeffrey Burroughs is Professor of Psychology at Brigham Young University Hawaii

The Red and the White: A Family Saga of the American West Andrew R. Graybill, 2013-10-07 Winner of the Labriola Center American Indian National Book Award One of the American West's bloodiest and least known massacres is searingly re created in this generation spanning history of native white intermarriage At dawn on January 23 1870 four hundred men of the Second U S Cavalry attacked and butchered a Piegan camp near the Marias River in Montana in one of the worst slaughters of Indians by American military forces in U S history Coming to avenge the murder of their father a former fur trader named Malcolm Clarke who had been killed four months earlier by their Piegan mother's cousin Clarke's own two sons joined the cavalry in a slaughter of many of their own relatives In this groundbreaking work of American history Andrew R Graybill places the Marias Massacre within a larger three generation saga of the Clarke family particularly illuminating the complex history of native white intermarriage in the American Northwest

People of the Earth W. Michael Gear, Kathleen O'Neal Gear, 2009-11-03 New York Times and USA Today bestselling authors and award winning archaeologists W Michael Gear and Kathleen O Neal Gear bring the stories of these first North Americans to life in this and other volumes in the magnificent North America's Forgotten Past series Set five thousand years ago and ranging through what is now Montana Wyoming northern Colorado and Utah People of the Earth follows the migration of the Uto Aztecan people south out of Canada It is the unforgettable tale of a woman torn between two peoples and two dreams of the two men who love her and the third who must have her and of the vision given to the peoples long ago by the spirit of the wolf At the Publisher's request this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software DRM applied

Healing Haunted Histories Elaine Enns, Ched Myers, 2021-02-01 Healing Haunted Histories tackles the oldest and deepest injustices on the North American continent Violations which inhabit every intersection of settler and Indigenous worlds past and present Wounds inextricably woven into the fabric of our personal and political lives And it argues we can heal those wounds through the inward and outward journey of decolonization The authors write as and for settlers on this journey exploring the places peoples and spirits that have formed and deformed us They look at issues of Indigenous justice and settler response ability through the lens of Elaine's Mennonite family narrative tracing Landlines Bloodlines and Songlines like a braided river From Ukrainian steppes to

Canadian prairies to California chaparral they examine her forebearers immigrant travails and trauma settler unknowing and complicity and traditions of resilience and conscience And they invite readers to do the same Part memoir part social historical and theological analysis and part practical workbook this process invites settler Christians and other people of faith into a discipleship of decolonization How are our histories landscapes and communities haunted by continuing Indigenous dispossession How do we transform our colonizing self perceptions lifeways and structures And how might we practice restorative solidarity with Indigenous communities today
