Climate Change 2001: The Scientific Basis J. T. Houghton, Y. Ding, D. J. Griggs, M. Noguer, P. J. van der Linden, X. Dai, K. Maskell, C. A. Johnson, 2001-07-12 Climate Change 2001 The Scientific Basis is the most comprehensive and up to date scientific assessment of past present and future climate change The report Analyses an enormous body of observations of all parts of the climate system Catalogues increasing concentrations of atmospheric greenhouse gases Assesses our understanding of the processes and feedbacks which govern the climate system Projects scenarios of future climate change using a wide range of models of future emissions of greenhouse gases and aerosols Makes a detailed study of whether a human influence on climate can be identified Suggests gaps in information and understanding that remain in our knowledge of climate change and how these might be addressed This latest IPCC assessment will again form the standard scientific reference for all concerned with climate change and its consequences including students and researchers in all aspects of environmental and atmospheric science and policymakers in governments and industry worldwide Annual Review United States. National Guard Bureau, 2000 State of the World 2001 Lester Russell Brown, Worldwatch Institute, 2001 An indispensable guide for anyone concerned with the future of life on our planet The Skeptical Environmentalist Bjørn Lomborg, 2001 The Skeptical Environmentalist challenges widely held beliefs that the environmental situation is getting worse and worse The author himself a former member of Greenpeace is critical of the way in which many environmental organisations make selective and misleading use of the scientific evidence Using the best available statistical information from internationally recognised research institutes Bjørn Lomborg systematically examines a range of major environmental problems that feature prominently in headline news across the world His arguments are presented in non technical accessible language and are carefully backed up by over 2500 footnotes allowing readers to check sources for themselves Concluding that there are more reasons for optimism than pessimism Bjørn Lomborg stresses the need for clear headed prioritisation of resources to tackle real not imagined problems The Skeptical Environmentalist offers readers a non partisan stocktaking exercise that serves as a useful corrective to the more alarmist accounts favoured by campaign groups and the media Vital Signs 2001-2002 Worldwatch Institute, 2014-04-08 This annual volume from the Worldwatch Institute gives prominence to key trends that too often escape the attention of the news media world leaders and economic experts By distilling 45 vital signs of our times from thousands of government industrial and scientific sources the volume allows readers to track key indicators that show social economic and environmental progress or the lack of it Each trend is presented in both text and graphics Policy Issues in Insurance Catastrophic Risks and Insurance OECD, 2005-07-06 These conference proceedings present academic analysis country reports and financial insurance company assessments on how to handle losses caused by large scale catastrophes including terrorism and atmospheric perils Climatic Change: Implications for the Hydrological Cycle and for Water Management Martin Beniston, 2006-04-11 year simulations in order to separate noise in the system from the climate change signal Several contributing papers focused on case studies using Regional Climate Models RCMs linked to hydrological models applied to the analysis of runoff under conditions of convective activity and extreme precipitation in regions of complex topography or stakeholder driven investigations such as water runoff simulations in Quebec undertaken for a major utility Thorough analyses of GCM results for the Century were reported at the Workshop in order to illustrate the improvements in model results which have taken place in recent years and the increasing confidence with which the models can be used for projecting climatic change in coming decades However there is still much room for improvement there is also a need to address more fully the manner in which climate and impacts models e g hydrological models can be linked in terms of consistency and the overlap between different scales the underlying physical assumptions and the parameterizations used Session 2 was devoted to the two extremes of water resources namely floods and droughts the focus here being to identify the climate change component in river floods These have significant economic implications as was shown by several scientists from Western and Central Europe Many long time series have been studied worldwide with the aim of detection of nonstationarities yet there is no conclusive evidence of climate related changes in flow records in general

MANAGING CRISES Uriel Rosenthal, Arjen Boin, Louise K. Comfort, 2001-01-01 In this book the editors with 25 notable contributors expand the knowledge of crisis management focusing on case studies of high profile events that have occurred in recent history Part One of the text aims at theoretical development through empirical case studies and also postulates a crisis typology and charts specific theoretical and administrative challenges The case bank which comprises the bulk of the book is presented in four additional sections The first deals with the development of crises and compares the infamous Watts riots with the 1992 L A riots It also analyzes the fragmented and complex international environment that allowed the safe area in Bosnia to be overrun by Bosnian Serbs in 1995 The final chapter chronicles the incredible human costs of mismanaged crisis in the Rwanda massacres in 1994 The second section explores the many decisional dilemmas that confront crisis managers Cases include the fire at the Piper Alpha oil rig the 1999 Turkish earthquakes the Eindhoven Holland plane crash and crisis management of the Mad Cow epidemic disease in the U K The third section explores the long term dimensions of crises and crisis management and particularly the development of national traumas such as the assassination of Sweden's Prime Minister Olaf Palme in 1986 the 1992 Amsterdam air crash and the TWA flight 800 disaster in 1996 The final section shifts focus to future scenarios such as speculative information technology disasters potentially devastating viral epidemics deteriorating environmental and societal conditions in Russia the southwest U S coming water shortage and the outlook for Japan one of the world's most disaster prone countries Summarizing the research findings of the past decade the authors describe patterns in the paths toward crises the dilemmas and coping mechanisms that emerge during the thick of crisis and very importantly the pathways that lead away from crisis

Post-Disaster Reconstruction of the Built

Environment Dilanthi Amaratunga, Richard Haigh, 2011-06-13 Disasters threaten all parts of the world and they appear to be increasing in frequency scale and intensity Despite huge improvements in the emergency response permanent reconstruction is often uncoordinated inefficiently managed and slow to begin International agencies are geared to an efficient response in terms of humanitarian relief but they are not well versed in the requirements of long term reconstruction which is often constrained by lack of planning and poorly coordinated management The construction industry is typically engaged in a range of critical activities after a disaster including provision of temporary shelter in the immediate aftermath and restoration of permanent shelter and public infrastructure once the immediate humanitarian needs have been attended to Post Disaster Reconstruction of the Built Environment identifies the challenges that face the industry and highlights best practice to enable the construction industry to address those problems which make an effective response to these unexpected events difficult Written by an international team of experts this book will help researchers and advanced students of construction understand the problems faced by communities and the construction industry when faced with a natural or man made disaster and identify the planning and management processes required by the industry to mount an effective response

Environmental Modelling with GIS and Remote Sensing Andrew Skidmore, 2017-08-11 Most government agencies and private companies are investing significant resources in the production and use of geographical data The capabilities of Geographical Information Systems GIS for data analysis are also improving to the extent that the potential performance of GIS software and the data available for analysis outstrip the abilities of Natural Disasters and Cultural Change John Grattan, Robin Torrence, 2003-08-27 Human cultures have been interacting with natural hazards since the dawn of time This book explores these interactions in detail and revisits some famous catastrophes including the eruptions of Thera and Vesuvius These studies demonstrate that diverse human cultures had well developed strategies which facilitated their response to extreme natural events

Security and Environment in the Mediterranean Hans Günter Brauch, 2003 In this volume security specialists peace researchers environmental scholars demographers as well as climate desertification water food and urbanisation specialists from the Middle East and North Africa Europe and North America review security and conflict prevention in the Mediterranean They also analyse NATO s Mediterranean security dialogue and offer conceptualisations on security and perceptions of security challenges as seen in North and South The latter half of the book analyses environmental security and conflicts in the Mediterranean and environmental consequences of World War II the Gulf War the Balkan wars and the Middle East conflict It also examines factors of global environmental change population growth climate change desertification water scarcity food and urbanisation issues as well as natural disasters Furthermore it draws conceptual conclusions for a fourth phase of research on human and environmental security and peace as well as policy conclusions for cooperation and partnership in the Mediterranean in the 21st century and the Caribbean Simon Hollis, 2020-10-26 This book critically examines the global diffusion and local reception of resilience through the implementation of Disaster Risk Reduction DRR programmes in Pacific and Caribbean island states. Global efforts to strengthen local disaster resilience capacities have become a staple of international development activity in recent decades yet the successful implementation of DRR projects designed to strengthen local resilience remains elusive. While there are pockets of success a gap remains between global expectations and local realities. Through a critical realist study of global and local worldviews of resilience in the Pacific and Caribbean islands this book argues that the global advocacy of DRR remains inadequate because of a failure to prioritise a person orientated ethics in its conceptualization of disaster resilience. This regional comparison provides a valuable lens to understand the underlying social structures that makes resilience possible and the extent to which local governments communities and persons interpret and modify their behaviour on risk when faced with the global message on resilience. This book will be of much interest to students of resilience risk management development studies and area studies.

Resilience in the Pacific

Plan B 3.0: Mobilizing to Save Civilization (Substantially Revised) Lester Russell Brown, 2008 Provides alternative solutions to such global problems as population control emerging water shortages eroding soil and global warming outlining a detailed survival strategy for the civilization of the future.

International Security, Peace, Development and Environment - Volume I Ursula Oswald Spring, 2009-08-30 International Security Peace Development and Environment is a component of Encyclopedia of Institutional and Infrastructural Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias. The Theme on International Security Peace Development and Environment deals in seven parts and two volumes with a myriad of issues of great relevance to our world such as human social gender and environmental security the transition in earth history from the holocene to the anthropocene potentially causing disasters and increasing resource scarcity limits to growth use of natural resources sustainable livelihood and productive system through technology rise of conflicts due to scarce and polluted resources and the concentration of humans in limited spaces of big cities the gender violence peace education and peace teaching as mechanisms to strengthen citizenship and to improve the understanding of cultural diversity mechanisms to strengthen the resistance against monopolist interests in the present global world and whistle blowing as a phenomenon to protect social peace and civil resistance. The presentation culminates with a discussion on the means of active nonviolence to reinforce democratic behavior and to reduce tensions and violent outcomes in a complex world. These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences: University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs.
