New Crusades Constructing The Muslim Enemy:

The New Crusades Emran Qureshi, Michael Anthony Sells, 2003 In these essays twelve of the most influential thinkers in Middle Eastern and religious studies examine the idea of an emergent Cold War between Islam and the West and fears of an ongoing clash of civilizations Cover 4 The New Crusades Emran Qureshi, Michael Anthony Sells, 2005 At War with Metaphor Erin Steuter, Deborah Wills, 2009-07-15 When photographs documenting the torture and humiliation of prisoners at Abu Ghraib came to the attention of a horrified public national and international voices were raised in shock asking how this happened At War with Metaphor offers an answer arguing that the abuses of Abu Ghraib were part of a systemic continuum of dehumanization This continuum has its roots in our public discussions of the war on terror and the metaphors through which they are repeatedly framed Arguing earnestly and incisively that these metaphors if left unexamined bind us into a cycle of violence that will only be intensified by a responsive violence of metaphor Steuter and Wills examine compelling examples of the images of animal insect and disease that inform shape and limit our understanding of the war on terror Tying these images to historical and contemporary uses of propaganda through a readable accessible analysis of media filters At War with Metaphor vividly explores how news media including political cartoons and talk radio are enmeshed in these damaging dehumanizing metaphors Analyzing media through the lenses of race and Orientalism it invites us to hold our media and ourselves accountable for the choices we make in talking war and making enemies Jerusalem Falls John D. Hosler, 2022-01-01 The first full account of the medieval struggle for Jerusalem from the seventh to the thirteenth century The history of Jerusalem is one of conflict faith and empire Few cities have been attacked as often and as savagely This was no less true in the Middle Ages From the Persian sack in 614 through the bloody First Crusade and beyond Jerusalem changed hands countless times But despite these horrific acts of violence its story during this period is also one of interfaith tolerance and accord In this gripping history John D Hosler explores the great clashes and delicate settlements of medieval Jerusalem He examines the city's many sieges and considers the experiences of its inhabitants of all faiths The city's conquerors consistently acknowledged and reinforced the rights of those religious minorities over which they ruled Deeply researched this account reveals the way in which Jerusalem's past has been constructed on partial histories and urges us to reckon with the city's broader historical contours Islam in North America: Oxford Bibliographies Online Research Guide Oxford University Press, 2010-05-01 This ebook is a selective guide designed to help scholars and students of Islamic studies find reliable sources of information by directing them to the best available scholarly materials in whatever form or format they appear from books chapters and journal articles to online archives electronic data sets and blogs Written by a leading international authority on the subject the ebook provides bibliographic information supported by direct recommendations about which sources to consult and editorial commentary to make it clear how the cited sources are interrelated related A reader will discover for instance the most reliable introductions and overviews to the topic and the most important

Making Peace In and With the World Heon Kim,John Raines,2011-12-08 Making Peace In and With the World The Green Movement and Eco Justice is a representative study and working analysis of contemporary Islamic thought on eco justice It cuts through problems facing humanity today ranging from inequality and violence in the smaller globalized world to the end death of nature as signaled by various environmental and ecological crises Addressing these problems this volume sheds light on two dimensions of peace in the earth community making peace between differing human communities and making peace between humanity and nature The phrase Eco Justice in this volume signifies this dual reality thereby offering a unique and insightful view that justice in the world must go hand in hand with ecological justice if peace is to be made. With its dual foci of peace, this volume contributes to multi-disciplinary academic areas. It adds to a burgeoning field of religious ecology by exploring the dynamics at play in the interaction between religion, human communities, and nature, and by providing natural scientific works with considerable theoretical, philosophical, and ethical implications. This volume also corresponds to studies in the interdisciplinary field of war and peace. Since it deals centrally with the question of religion and eco justice, this volume challenges assumptions of exclusivist religion, religion-oriented violence, and the religion-based Clash of Civilizations. The contributors of this volume, from diverse academic backgrounds, take G len and the G len movement as the case study. Muhammed Fethullah G len is one of the most significant Islamic theologians in the contemporary world, and his inspired G len movement is the fastest growing Islamic civic movement worldwide. This volume provides a key reference to studies in G len and his movement for new discussions and criticisms. And by taking this figure and his movement as a case, it reveals a new dimension of peace among differing human communities and between humanity and nature.

Domestic Extremism and the Case of the Toronto 18 Jeremy Kowalski, 2016-09-30 This book examines domestic extremism and what is popularly referred to as radicalization. The fear of domestic extremism has been used to dismantle democracy and erect national security states throughout North America, Western Europe, and beyond. Yet despite the enormous costs citizens have paid in the name of security, society has become less secure and less safe. In many respects, this situation has resulted from the misapprehension of the conditions that make the emergence of this threat probable. Kowalski focuses on the macro social relations and structures that make radicalization probable. As demonstrated through an analysis of the so-called Toronto 18, an extremist group arrested in June of 2006 for activities that contravened the Canadian Anti-Terrorism Act (ATA), macro social relations and structures served a significant role in creating the conditions through which the process of radicalization became probable. If a comprehensive understanding of the processes of radicalization are to be reached and effective counter-terrorism policies developed, then the consideration this book provides of greater macro social relations and structures that make the emergence of extremist subjectivities probable is needed.

Challenging Identities
Peter Madsen, 2016-08-12 Identity is a keyword in a number of academic fields as well as in public debate and in politics. During the last decades, references to identity have proliferated, yet there is no simple definition available that corresponds to the use of the notion in all contexts. The significance of the notion depends on the conceptual or ideological constellation in which it takes part. This volume, on one hand, demonstrates the role of notions of identity in a variety of European contexts, and on the other hand, highlights how there may be reasons to challenge the use of the term and corresponding social, cultural, and political practices. Notions of national identity and national politics are challenged by European integration as well as by the increasing demographic heterogeneity due to migration and migrants experience conflicts of identification stemming from clashes between cultural heritage and the cultures of the new habitat European horizons frames of mind historical memories and expectations at the level of groups or communities at the national level and at the general European level are at odds Analyzing a series of issues in European countries from Turkey to Spain and from Scandinavia to the

The Invention of Race in the European Middle Ages Geraldine Heng, 2018-03-08 In The Invention of Race in the European Middle Ages Geraldine Heng questions the common assumption that the concepts of race and racism only began in the modern era Examining Europe's encounters with Jews Muslims Africans Native Americans Mongols and the Romani Gypsies from the 12th through 15th centuries she shows how racial thinking racial law racial practices and racial phenomena existed in medieval Europe before a recognizable vocabulary of race emerged in the West Analysing sources in a variety of media including stories maps statuary illustrations architectural features history saints lives religious commentary laws political and social institutions and literature she argues that religion so much in play again today enabled the positing of fundamental differences among humans that created strategic essentialisms to mark off human groups and populations for racialized treatment Her ground breaking study also shows how race figured in the emergence of homo europaeus and the identity of Western Europe in this time
