Horrible Mothers Loïc Bourdeau,2019-12 For too long the main narratives of motherhood have been oppressive and exclusionary frequently ignoring issues of female identity especially regarding those not conforming to traditional female stereotypes Horrible Mothers offers a variety of perspectives for analyzing representations of the mother in francophone literature and film at the turn of the twenty first century in North America including Qu bec Ontario New England and California Contributors reexamine the horrible mother paradigm within a broad range of sociocultural contexts from different locations to broaden the understanding of mothering beyond traditional ideology The selections draw from long established scholarship in women s studies as well as from new developments in queer studies to make sense of and articulate strategies of representation to show how contemporary family models are constantly evolving reshaping and moving away from heteronormative expectations and to reposition mothers as subjects occupying the center of their own narrative rather than as objects The contributors engage narratives of mothering from myriad perspectives referencing the works of writers or filmmakers such as Marguerite Andersen Nelly Arcan Gr goire Chabot Xavier Dolan Nancy Huston and Lucie Joubert

Excess and Embodiment in Contemporary Women's Writing Zeynep Zeren Atayurt,2011-08-01 The obese female body has often been portrayed as the other to the slender body However this process of othering or viewing as different has created a repressive discourse where excess has increasingly come to be studied as a physical abnormality or a signifier of a personality defect in contemporary Western society This book engages with the multifarious re imaginings of the excessive embodiment in contemporary women s writing drawing specifically on the construction of this form of embodiment in the works of Fay Weldon Jeanette Winterson Margaret Atwood Claude Tardat and Judith Moore whose texts offer a distinct literary response to the rigidly homogeneous and limiting representations of fatness while prompting heterogeneous approaches to reading the excessive female embodiment Stoppard,Linda M. McMullen,2003-05-01 It is well known that depression occurs more often in women than in men It is the most commonly encountered mental health problem among women and ranks overall as one of the most important women s health problems Researchers have studied depression a great deal yet women s depression has rarely been the primary focus The contexts of women s lives which might contribute to their depression are not often addressed by the mental health establishment which tends to focus on biological factors Situating Sadness sheds light on the influence of sociocultural factors such as economic distress child bearing or child care difficulties or feelings of powerlessness which may play a significant role and points to the importance of context for understanding women s depression Situating Sadness draws on research in the United States and other parts of the world to look at depression through the eyes of women exploring what being depressed is like in diverse social and cultural circumstances It demonstrates that understanding depression requires close attention to the social context in which women become depressed Mothers and Daughters Alice H.
