Marriage and Modernization Don S. Browning, 2003-03-20 The processes of modernization and globalization promise more wealth and health for many people But they are also a threat to the stability and quality of marriage and family life This new book at once sobering and constructive looks at the impact of these processes on marriage and asks what Christianity in cooperation with other religions can do to strengthen married life today Among the deleterious effects of modernization and globalization on marriage are a worldwide drift of men away from the responsibility of parenthood and the tendency of mothers too readily to take on the task of childrearing alone After looking at recent research on these and other problems Don Browning suggests that the cure for modern marital disruption entails reforming and reconstructing the institution of marriage while also nurturing relevant forms of social support Yet the effort to initiate a world marriage revival requires a complex cultural work and Browning explores the key contributions that the religions of the world must make for such an effort to be successful

Hellerman, 2017-11-09 Many of us long to experience the fullness of God and his purpose for our lives Not a whole lot of us ever do The reason is that we have departed in some significant ways from the biblical view of Christian life and growth The New Testament highlights the communal missional and eschatological aspects of our walk with God We grow in our faith as individual Christians to the degree that we are a deeply rooted relationally in a local church community that is b passionately playing its part in God s grand story of Creation Fall Redemption and Restoration and c intently anticipating the summing of all things in Christ when Jesus returns In recent decades American evangelicals have traded away community outreach and the Bible s teaching about eternity future for the pursuit of individual religious experience in the here and now Why We Need the Church to Become More Like Jesus traces this departure from biblical Christianity through recent decades of popular evangelical trends and reminds us that faith centered on community mission and the story line of Scripture remains the key to the spiritual formation of the individual Christian
