Asian American Poets Guiyou Huang, 2002-05-30 Even though Asian American literature is enjoying an impressive critical popularity attention has focused primarily on longer narrative forms such as the novel And despite the proliferation of a large number of poets of Asian descent in the 20th century Asian American poetry remains a neglected area of study Poetry as an elite genre has not reached the level of popularity of the novel or short story partly due to the difficulties of reading and interpreting poetic texts The lack of criticism on Asian American poetry speaks to the urgent need for scholarship in this area since perhaps more than any other genre poetry most forcefully captures the intense feelings and emotions that Asian Americans have experienced about themselves and their world This reference book overviews the tremendous cultural contributions of Asian American poets Included are alphabetically arranged entries on 48 American poets of Asian descent most of whom have been active during the latter half of the 20th century Each entry begins with a short biography which sometimes includes information drawn from personal interviews The entries then discuss the poet's major works and themes including such concerns as family racism sexism identity language and politics A survey of the poet's critical reception follows In many cases the existing criticism is scant and the entries offer new readings of neglected works The entries conclude with bibliographies of primary and secondary texts and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography

Baudelaire in China Gloria Bien, 2012-12-14 Baudelaire's work entered China in the twentieth century amidst political and social upheavals accompanied by a literary revolution that called for classical models and modes of expression to be replaced by vernacular language and contemporary content Chinese writers welcomed their meeting with the West and openly embraced Western literature as providing models in developing their new literature Baudelaire's reception in China provides a representative study of this meeting of East and west His work which has been declared to stand between tradition and modernity also lies at the intersection between classical and modern literature in China Many of the best known and most highly regarded writers in twentieth century China were drawn to Baudelaire's work and some addressed it directly in their own writings Bien draws upon H R Jauss's theory of the shifting and expanding horizons of expectation in the reading and interpretation of a literary work and upon James J Y Lin's notion of worlds received and created by both author and reader to show how poetic lines images and ideas as well as Chinese critics
